

Addendum to 2008 JINS supplemental issue 1 – Abstracts presented at the 36th Annual Meeting of INS in Waikoloa, Hawaii, February 6-9, 2008.

On page 15 of the Program & Abstract book, the Correspondence for the abstract: M. IAMPIETRO, J. GIDLEY LARSON, K. COULEHAN, K. ERICKSON, F.R. LITMAN, M.D. AHRONOVICH & I. BARON. Intact Performance in Extremely Low Birth Weight Children (< and > 750 grams) on Noun Fluency and Clustering Strategy at Age Six, should be changed to: Ida Sue Baron, Ph.D., Inova Fairfax Hospital for Children. Falls Church, VA 22042.

The following abstracts were withdrawn from presentation:

Poster Session 1:

2. CHAN, RC Developmental profile of multitasking performance in healthy school-aged children: A preliminary report.
9. ARMENGOL, C Predictors of Reading Speed and Comprehension in Mexican Elementary School Children.
11. SALVADOR, J Analysis of neuropsychological process the preschoolers need to consolidate and acquisition before reading/writing learning.
18. HAYES, CJ Olfactory Disgust in Preclinical Huntington's Disease.
49. CAPOVILLA, AG Efficacy of an Intervention Procedure in Developmental Dyslexia.
59. JOHNSON, LG CNS Vital Signs (CNSVS) as a Tool to Screen for ADHD/LD in Student Athletes.
60. LESUEUR, L Further Considerations of the LD Diagnoses: How Neuropsychological Data Can Help Us Understand How the Brain Learns.
66. ALOIA, JG Rapid Naming Deficits May Simply Be Processing Speed Deficits in Children Diagnosed with Developmental Dyslexia.

Poster Session 2:

8. BEKKEN, K The Use of Namenda in the Treatment of Mental Compromise in Fibromyalgia.
55. LIOSSI, C Attentional bias for pain-related information in individuals developing chronic pain after Spinal Cord Injury.
59. DO, T Neuropsychological Indices of Cognitive Functioning in Early Parkinson's Disease.
62. JOHNSTONE, GR * The Neuropsychology of Spiritual Experience.
65. POUTIAINEN, E The Profile of Cognitive Impairment in Patients Resuscitated from Cardiac Arrest May Vary According to the Overall Severity of Cognitive Deficits.

Poster Session 3:

3. SOKAL, BH The Reliability and Validity of Self-Reported Footedness.
11. GARCIA-BARRERA, MA Derivation and Construct Validity Analysis of a Screener for Executive Functions.
12. PINEDA, DA Cross Cultural Validity Analysis Using SEM, of the Behavior Assessment System for Children in a Colombian Sample.
32. PRIMI, R Neuropsychological Assessment of Oral Language in Brazilian Children.
33. PRIMI, R Validity Evidence for the Brazilian Reading Competence Test of Words and Non-Words.
36. RYAN, GP Does Processing Speed and Working Memory Relate to Academic Achievement?
37. RYAN, GP Response Consistency Across Multiple Processing Speed Tasks.
40. BARLOW, A Cross-Validation of the MMSE Norms as Published by PAR.
63. ARGOLLO-VIEIRA, NS Cross-cultural Adaptation of NEPSY Developmental Neuropsychological Assessment: Brazilian Pilot Study.
64. ARGOLLO-VIEIRA, NS Cross-cultural Adaptation of "NEPSY Developmental Neuropsychological Assessment": Criterion Validation with WISC-III.
85. DENISON, H AD Pathology in Visual Association Cortex linked to Clock Drawing Performance in the Framingham Heart Study.

Poster Session 4:

2. STUDAWAY, A Neuropsychological outcomes of children with sickle cell disease: A meta-analysis.
7. FARNHAM, S Slower Development of Visual Motor Integration and Expressive Language in Preschoolers with Prenatal Exposure to Methamphetamine.
10. KAZANDJIAN, S The Direction of the Written Language on the Representation of Phrases.
26. BERL, MM The Role of Middle Frontal Gyrus in Verbal Working Memory.
28. ELFGREN, C The Role of the Medial Temporal Lobe in the Acquisition of Semantic Memory.
32. GALÁN, I Neuropsychology and laterality of language evaluation in temporal epilepsy patients.
39. KOBAYASHI, H * Effects of subject-performed tasks in memory of action events: A fMRI study.
54. DODDS, BA Volumetric MRI Analysis and Developmental Dyslexia in a Paediatric Group: a critical analysis of current theoretical models of reading/spelling.
77. HILL, JM The Impact of Disability Status and Combined Active Lesions as Evidenced on MRI on Mood Level in Multiple Sclerosis Patients.
87. ACOSTA, MT Neurofibromatosis type 1 (NF1) as a Model to Understand and Treat Learning Problems.

Poster Session 5:

5. FERNÁNDEZ GUINEA, S Executive Function Impairment Differences Between Two Typologies of Drug-Consumers: Cannabis and Cocaine Subgroups.
23. HUH, T The Relationship Between Cognitive Performance and Behavior in Alzheimer's Disease (AD) and Fronto-Temporal Dementia (FTD).
30. BLAIR, K 10 Things I Hate About You: The Neural Response to Social Praise and Criticism in Generalized Social Phobia (GSP).
31. BLAIR, K Response to Emotional Expressions in Generalized Social Phobia (GSP) and Generalized Anxiety Disorder (GAD): Evidence for Separate Disorders.
35. CAPOVILLA, AG Neuropsychological Assessment of Attention, Language and Personal Adjustment in Panic Disorder.
62. LEAVITT, VM Developing Endophenotypic Markers for Schizophrenia: Testing a Brief Monocular Deprivation Paradigm.
68. COHEN, H Cognition and Neuroleptics in Chronic Schizophrenia.
73. MARSHALL, P * Sensitivity of Neuropsychological Tests To Sedating Effects of Psychotropic Medications.

Poster Session 6:

20. MRELASHVILI, D Role of Behavioral Adverse Effects in Discontinuation of Pregabalin in Patients with Intractable Partial Seizures. A Post-Marketing Analysis.
32. GREGG, N Validity of Commonly-Used Measures of Effort When Used With Adults Demonstrating Learning Disabilities or AD/HD.
50. ZAKZANIS, K Cognitive Variability in High-Functioning Individuals.
51. ZAKZANIS, K Detecting inadequate effort using forced-choice formats of the Benton facial recognition and judgment of line orientation tests: A pilot study.
52. CAMPBELL, Z Validation of the Dementia Rating Scale-II as a Measure of Cognitive Dissimulation: A Pilot Study.
71. JACOBUS, J Neurocognitive Performance Predicts Altered White Matter Fractional Anisotropy in HIV-infected Individuals.

Poster Session 7:

26. MCGEE, JS Processing Speed and Functional Decline in Older Cancer Survivors.
33. PREISS, M Memory Training in Healthy Adults – Subjective and Objective Changes.
43. YORK, PJ Depression and Degree of Cognitive Decline Among Older Adults.
54. HARDER, L Neuropsychological Profile of Pendred Syndrome: A Longitudinal Case Study.
70. WARKENTIN, S Information processing speed is associated with folate in ApoE4+ but not in ApoE4- healthy elderly.
72. COOKE, G The Impact Of Hypothyroidism On Neurocognitive Functioning: A Model Of Neuroplasticity In The Mature Adult Human Brain.
81. WHARTON, W Oral Contraceptives and Androgenicity: Influences on Visuospatial Task Performance.

Poster Session 8:

23. BARLOW, AS The Relationship Between Executive Functioning and Memory Performance as a Function Of Cognitive Reserve.
24. BARLOW, AS Mediatlional Effects of Cognitive Reserve on the Relationship Between Executive Function and Memory.
25. CAPOVILLA, AG Executive Functions Assessment in Schizophrenic Patients and their First-Degree Relatives.
34. JOVANOVSKI, D Ecologically Valid Assessment of Executive Functioning in the (Virtual) Real World: the Multitasking in the City Test.
36. KRAYBILL, M * Branching improves ecological validity of executive measures: prediction of functional independence.
43. MARTEL, M Developmental Changes in Executive Function.
46. POOLE, J Profiles of Impairment in Traumatic Brain Injury using the Delis-Kaplan Executive Function System.
48. POYSKY, J Executive dysfunction is predictive of social and school problems in Duchenne muscular dystrophy.
68. ZINN, S Mobility Proficiency as a Function of Cognitive Speed in Cerebrovascular Disease.

Poster Session 9:

1. ADDAMO, PK The Influence of Attentional and Motor Demands on Childhood Motor Overflow Production.
6. CHAN, RC Neurological soft signs in healthy school-aged children and children with ADHD.
14. MCLAUGHLIN-BELTZ, S The Neurological and Neuropsychological Sequela of Eastern Equine Encephalitis: A Case Study.
16. SCHWEIGER, A Hemispheric Lateralization following Recovery from Childhood Insult Depends on Age at Onset: Longitudinal fMRI Data.
25. HORNEMAN, G Cognitive outcome in children and young adults who sustained severe and moderate brain injury ten years earlier.
50. JOHNSON, SA Lack of Local Bias during Selective Attention Global-Local Processing in Autism Spectrum Disorders.
67. MACEDO, EC Performance of Dyslexics and ADHD Brazilian Children in Single Word Reading Tasks.

Poster Session 10:

17. BUI, M Facial Affect Recognition in Individuals with Traumatic Brain Injury.
19. ENNOK, M Deficits in Generalization Ability in Traumatic Brain Injury.
33. HEINLY, M Language Dysfunction in Traumatic Brain Injury While Controlling for Effort and Severity.
42. LIOSSI, C The effects of organic alexithymia after acquired brain injury on marital satisfaction.
50. RASKIN, S Cognitive Rehabilitation of Prospective Memory Using Structured Mental Rehearsal.
61. SULLIVAN, C DETERMINANTS OF POST-TRAUMATIC STRESS SYMPTOMS 5 OR MORE YEARS AFTER TRAUMATIC BRAIN INJURY.

Poster Session 11:

35. PERSSON, CM Cognitive Development During 3 Years in Patients with Alzheimer's Disease.
42. SAUNDERS, LV Validation of a Self-administered Computerized Screening Test for Cognitive Impairment and Dementia.
65. KERTESZ, A * What Is the Meaning of Semantic Dementia (SD)?

Poster Session 12:

7. COHEN, R Adaptive Rate Continuous Performance Test: Standardization and Validation.
8. COHEN, R Attention performance on the ARCPT: A comparison of clinical brain disorders.
16. VERNEY, SP Sustained Attention Correlates of Cognitive Ability.
36. JACKSON, CA Patterns of frontal brain asymmetry among children living in low-income households.
50. CHAN, RC Validation of the Chinese versions of two prospective and retrospective memory questionnaires in healthy elder people.
68. SEINO, K Comparison of the conceptual structures of schizophrenic patients and those of healthy adults, using association experiments.
