Irrational Man

WILLIAM BARRETT

A study in existentialist philosophy which traces the existentialist tradition from Plato to the twentieth century. Professor Barrett's chapters on the philosophy of Nietzsche, Kierkegaard, Heidegger and Sartre are a major and original philosophic statement in themselves, as well as a provocative and profound introduction to modern existentialist thought.

Progress in the Age of Reason

R. V. SAMPSON

'... a scholarly yet readable, sympathetic yet critical, history of the idea of ... progress from the 17th century to the present day. The author charts the development of the notion of progress from its birth in the age of enlightenment to its ossification in obscurantist Marxism.'—The Financial Times.

The Ethical Idealism of Matthew Arnold

WILLIAM ROBBINS

Professor Robbins traces the development of Arnold's religious and philosophical thought, characterising it as a humanistic, ethical idealism, in a study which will interest the philosopher no less than the student of literature.

The Making of Life

ARTHUR R. HOWELL

(1881-1956)

Fully illustrated in colour and monochrome. This important book on Aesthetic Philosophy was originally published in 1945. The author then made very considerable revisions and additions, and there are additional illustrations. This book has had the honour of being accepted by the London County Council for use in Schools and inclusion in the Teachers' Library, and has recently been acquired for the permanent Collection of The LENIN Library, Moscow.
