Folger Documents of Tudor and Stuart Civilization

A Discourse of the Commonwealth of This Realm of England

Attributed to SIR THOMAS SMITH. Edited by MARY DEWAR, University of Texas at Austin.
xxvi, 169 pp. $6.50

A Discourse was written in 1548 at the height of the economic storm in England. Its aim was to analyze the cause of the new and unpleasant economic pressures which were being felt throughout the nation. The Discourse is the most valuable record we have of Tudor England's move toward social and economic progress. Some of the complaints outlined in it are still present in twentieth-century Britain. The document's easy conversational style opens its interest to the casual reader; its wealth of information makes it a necessity for scholars of English history.

The Case of the Commonwealth of England, Stated

By MARCHAMONT NEDHAM. Edited by PHILIP A. KNACHEL, Associate Director of The Folger Shakespeare Library. xliii, 151 pp. $6.50

In 1650, shortly after the overthrow of Charles I in favor of Independent rule, Marchamont Nedham, one of the best-known journalists in England, published The Case of the Commonwealth of England, Stated. Nedham wrote the tract to prove "the equity, utility, and necessity of submission to the present government, "and hoped it would persuade the people to abandon their hostility toward the new Commonwealth. This book, with its concern for the practical realities of power, is a most important insight into the political thinking of seventeenth-century England.

Folger Booklets on Tudor and Stuart Civilization

The Development of Natural History in Tudor England

By F. D. and J. F. M. HOENIGER, University of Toronto. 60 pp., 20 plates. $1.00

The Growth of Natural History in Stuart England from Gerard to the Royal Society

By F. D. and J. F. M. HOENIGER, University of Toronto. 54 pp., 19 plates. $1.00

These booklets trace the revolution in man's outlook on nature from the early 1500's to 1700. Personal observation by humanists during this time changed plants and animals in man's mind from highly imaginative, colorful figures to scientifically classified specimens. Twenty-two other Folger booklets are available at $1.00 each. A descriptive brochure is available upon request.

The Government and Politics of Ireland

BASIL CHUBB

With a Historical Introduction by David Thornley. The first comprehensive work on Irish government and politics in 35 years, this volume also represents the first attempt to go beyond a formal legal-institutional approach and outline the political sociology of Ireland. In addition to describing Ireland's major political institutions and tentatively characterizing the country's political culture, the book presents up-to-date information on elections, political participation, interest group activity, the mass media, and the socioeconomic status of politicians and the politically active. Two final chapters discuss the grievance mechanisms open to the individual Irish citizen, and the effects of Ireland's small size on its relationship with Great Britain. The Introduction by David Thornley emphasizes the effects of land-owning patterns, religion, and nationalism on the structure and functioning of Ireland's government and the temper of Irish political life. The Politics of the Smaller European Democracies.

The Liberal Party and the Jameson Raid

By JEFFREY BUTLER, Wesleyan University. "Butler provides a close look at the actions of the British Liberal party concerning the Jameson Raid and the South African Committee which investigated it in 1897. He examines fully the motivations lying behind Sir William Harcourt's crucial role in the committee, relating it to the conditions in the Liberal party, to the general political situation, and to Harcourt's personal predilections . . . . An important contribution . . . recommended." — Choice $7.00

Bibliography of British Literary Bibliographies

By T. H. HOWARD-HILL, Oxford University. The first of a projected three-volume Index to British Literary Bibliography, this work records enumerative and descriptive bibliographies of the printed works of British authors, printing and publishing, literary forms and genres, and other subjects ranging from accounting, agriculture, and archery to tennis, tobacco, and witchcraft. $20.75

William King

TORY AND JACOBITE

By DAVID GREENWOOD, University of Maryland. Although the history of Jacobitism has been recounted by a number of historians during the last century or more, this is the first full-length biography to appear devoted to the principal literary protagonist of the movement. William King was Principal of St. Mary Hall, Oxford, from 1717 until 1763, and throughout his life a staunch Tory. In an age of elegant classical scholarship, he was one of the most accomplished, and played a significant role in the history of English literature. $10.50

From the Dreadnought to Scapa Flow: The Royal Navy in the Fisher Era, 1904-1919

VOLUME IV, 1917: YEAR OF CRISIS

By ARTHUR J. MARDER, University of California, and GEORGE EASTMAN, University of Oxford. This is the story of the Royal Navy from December 1916 to December 1917, a year of mounting losses that saw the institution, after much opposition, of the convoy system, and the turn of the tide in anti-submarine warfare. Jellicoe, Beatty, Carson, Geddes, Lloyd George, and the other men at the top hold the stage for the most part, but the men at sea and the beginnings of naval aviation are also included. 8 plates, map. $8.75

ANARCHY AND CULTURE

The Problem of the Contemporary University

Edited by DAVID MARTIN

Like those in America, England's universities are threatened by a mixture of nihilism and reform. This book sets forth the factual background of the confrontation and discusses such crucial issues as: the role of the press, the practice and theory of violence, the new styles of student organization and political protest. The Introduction is a sympathetic satire on student attitudes. $5.95

THE JOURNAL OF BRITISH STUDIES
TRINITY COLLEGE
HARTFORD, CONNECTICUT

The Journal of British Studies, founded in 1961, is published at Trinity College under the auspices of the Conference on British Studies. It was the result of the imaginative generosity of a Trinity alumnus, Frederick E. Hasler (Hon. LL.D. 1957) who contributed funds to the College for the specific purpose of establishing a learned periodical in the field of British history. Several Trinity alumni subsequently contributed to the fund and Trinity College now supports the publication of the Journal.

The Conference on British Studies is the official organization in the United States and Canada of scholars working in the field of British history and culture; its status as such is recognized by the American Historical Association of which it is an affiliate. Its nearly eight hundred members are drawn from forty-eight states and five provinces. It convenes twice each year, usually at New York University.

The Conference awards a prize triennially for the best first book by an American or Canadian scholar.

The Conference sponsors a considerable publications program. It publishes the Journal of British Studies at Trinity College; the British Studies Intelligencer, a newsletter, at Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas; Studies in British History and Culture, an annual series of monographs, at the University of Bridgeport, Connecticut; Archives in British History and Culture, an annual series devoted to the publication of documents, at West Virginia University, Morgantown; and Current Research in British Studies, a quadrennial survey of research in progress in the United States and Canada, the next edition of which will appear in 1969 at Southern Methodist University. The Conference has begun a new series, to be published by the Cambridge University Press, of biographical and historical studies of men and women who were makers and shapers of the English experience.

In addition to the Conference on British Studies, there are four affiliates: the Pacific Coast Conference on British Studies, the Midwest Conference on British Studies, the Southern Conference on British Studies, and the New England Conference on British Studies. Each of these vital autonomous groups has its own officers, program, and other activities. There are also local groups centered in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Detroit, and Pittsburgh.

The Journal of British Studies appears twice in the academic year, in the autumn and in the spring. The annual subscription is $5.00. Checks for subscriptions and enquiries concerning advertising rates should be directed to the Business Manager, British Studies, Box 1315, Trinity College, Hartford, Connecticut, 06106.

Volume IX, No. 2 will be published in May, 1970.

CONFERENCE ON BRITISH STUDIES PRIZE

The Conference on British Studies will award its fourth triennial prize of three hundred dollars in November, 1969. The prize will be given for the best book published between January 1, 1966 and December 31, 1968, by an American or Canadian scholar. It must be the author's first book. Its subject must lie either within the field of British or Commonwealth History and Culture.

Enquiries and recommendations should be addressed to the Chairman, Professor Arthur B. Ferguson, Duke University, Durham, North Carolina.

The past recipients of the prize are: Philip P. Poirier, Ohio State University, 1960; C. Warren Hollister, University of California, 1963; Melvin Richter, Hunter College, 1966.
