The Fate of Cities

Urban America and the Federal Government, 1945–2000

Roger Biles

“This is the most comprehensive and knowledgeable account of post New Deal urban policy in decades. Biles looks beyond the intricacies of policy to capture the politics, ideological battles, and competing interests behind Washington’s ever-shifting response to the challenges of industrial and white middle-class flight, fiscal shortfalls, decaying infrastructure, and deepening racial and class segregation. An excellent resource for all who care to understand the shape of metropolitan America, past, present, and future.”—Alice O’Connor, author of Urban Inequality

“Will become a standard go-to source for students and scholars looking for a reliable summary of the politics of urban policy making.”—Carl Abbott, author of Urban America in the Modern Age: 1920 to the Present

464 pages, Cloth $39.95

Inside the Nixon Administration

The Secret Diary of Arthur Burns, 1969–1974

Edited by Robert H. Ferrell

“Arthur Burns’s secret diary will amaze and enthrall anyone who wants to know what the Federal Reserve has done to our money. A historical scoop of the first magnitude.”
—James Grant, editor, Grant’s Interest Rate Observer

“This gem of a memoir offers important new information about Nixon’s economic policies, the inner workings of the administration, and the development of Burns’s slow but inexorable disillusionment with the president.”
—Melvin Small, author of The Presidency of Richard Nixon

160 pages, 14 photos, Cloth $24.95
