

Note From The Editor

IGOR GRANT

I am delighted to report that the first three issues of the JINS have been a great success. Issues number 1 and 3 contain an excellent mix of scientific articles, dialogues, case reports, and critical reviews spanning a wide range of topics contributed by an international group of colleagues.

The current issue (number 4) under normal circumstances would be devoted partly to abstracts from the forthcoming Summer meeting of the INS, with the remainder of the issue consisting of regular articles and other materials. However, in view of the fact that the INS was without a journal last year, it was considered important to assure publication of abstracts from the two scientific meetings held in 1994. We have already published the abstracts of the Summer 1994 meeting (Angers, France) in issue number 2; this issue also contained abstracts from the meeting in Seattle held in February 1995. In the present issue, we include abstracts from the Winter 1994 meeting that was held in Cincinnati, Ohio, along with the abstracts of the forthcoming Summer meeting in Cairns, Australia. Thus, the journal and the INS have fulfilled their pledge to the membership to assure that all abstracts from 1994 would be published in archival form.

In issue number 5, we look forward to inaugurating yet another JINS feature – the Symposia Program. This Symposium, coordinated by Laird Cermak, is entitled “Processing Dissociations in Amnesia.” Issue number 5 will also contain a mix of regular articles and other contributions.

The Editorial Board and I wish to thank the membership for its strong support of JINS, and hope that all of you will continue to send in outstanding work to our journal.

Igor Grant, JINS Editor
