

INERTIAL MODES TRAPPED IN THE SOLAR CONVECTIVE ENVELOPE.

W. Dziembowski, A. Kosovichev¹ & M. Kozłowski.
N. Copernicus Astronomical Center
ul. Bartycka 18
00-716 Warszawa
Poland

ABSTRACT. Due to their efficient trapping in the outer layers such modes may reach observable amplitudes of the order of 1 - 10 m/s, even if their energies are as those of the "five minute" oscillations. The modes that are most likely to be seen correspond to the lowest radial orders.

The paper will be published in Acta Astronomica.

¹On leave from the Crimean Astrophysical Observatory, Nauchny, USSR.