A TESTAMENT OF REVOLUTION

Béla Lipták

Written in 1956 in an Austrian refugee camp, where the author had fled to escape reprisals for his role in the Hungarian rebellion, A Testament of Revolution sketches the conflict between university students, factory workers, and Hungarian nationalists on one side and the hated Hungarian secret police and Russian army on the other. In a history and coming-of-age saga, Lipták relates his transformation from carefree student to revolutionary leader. "[Lipták's account] is certainly the most illuminating and authoritative in the English language, and will perhaps be, quite simply, the best account ever written."—Tibor Fischer, author, Under the Frog. $29.95

MEMORIES OF WAR

TESTIMONY OF A BOSNIAN

Naza Tanović-Miller

Surrounded by terror and genocide, Tanović-Miller and her family witnessed starvation, rape, and murder during the horrible war in Bosnia and the tense days and nights that led up to it. Now she gives a personal account of these events, a testimony revealing more than the news accounts Americans were privy to. Unflinchingly, Tanović-Miller identifies the perpetrators of the Bosnian crisis and calls to task those who had the power to prevent the atrocities but did not. "... a very rare syntheses of deeply felt cruelties of the war."—Ivan Z. Misisic, Ambassador to the United Nations. $32.95

Sviatoslav Richter

Notebooks and Conversations

Bruno Monsaingeon

Translated by Stewart Spencer

Sviatoslav Richter was a dazzling performer but an intensely private man. Though world famous, he guarded himself and his thoughts as carefully as his talent. Fascinated, author and filmmaker Bruno Monsaingeon tried vainly for years to interview the enigmatic pianist. Richter eventually yielded, granting Monsaingeon hours of taped conversation, unlimited access to his diaries and notebooks, and, ultimately, his friendship. This book is the product of that friendship.
