

CULTURAL EXCHANGE AND THE COLD WAR
RAISING THE IRON CURTAIN

Yale Richmond

"Yale Richmond records a highly significant chapter in Soviet-American relations during the final decades of Communism. He provides us with a deftly written, accurate, and thoughtful account of the cultural exchanges that were such important channels of influence and persuasion during those years. . . . We should be grateful that he has undertaken this task before memories fade."

THE OTHER SIDE OF RUSSIA

A Slice of Life in Siberia and the Russian Far East
SHARON HUDGINS

One of only a handful of American women who have lived and worked in this part of the world, Hudgins focuses on local customs, foods, festivals, the education system, and the market economy and describes the challenges of living without water, heat, and electricity. Asian Russia's proud people shine from the pages, proving it is not only a land of harsh winters and vast uninhabited spaces, but also home to millions who enjoy a rich cultural and social life. $34.95

SCIENCE FOR THE MASSES

The Bolshevik State, Public Science, and the Popular Imagination in Soviet Russia, 1917–1934
JAMES T. ANDREWS

Here, Andrews presents a comprehensive history of the early Bolshevik popularization of science in Russia and the former Soviet Union. Andrews has mined materials from previously untouched Russian archives, newspapers, scientific journals of the era, and questionnaires to show how Soviet citizens shaped the programs of science popularizers and even the agendas of communists. $45.00

THE MUSLIM-CROAT CIVIL WAR IN CENTRAL BOSNIA

A Military History, 1992–1994
CHARLES R. SHRADER

When the Bosnian Serbs and their allies attacked Bosnia-Herzegovina in March 1992, the Bosnian Croats and Muslims collaborated to defend themselves. As Serbian pressure increased and it became clear that the West would not intervene, the two allies began to stake out their own claims. Here, Shrader describes the organization and tactical doctrine of the Croatian Defense Forces and the Muslim-led Army of Bosnia-Herzegovina. $42.95

The Donald W. Treadgold Papers

In Russian, East European, and Central Asian Studies

The following issues of The Donald W. Treadgold Papers are now available (international orders add $1.00, WA residents add 8.8% sales tax):

No. 22 The Serb Lobby in the United Kingdom (Reprint)

Carole Hodge ($7.50)

Serb lobbying efforts have influenced policy makers in Great Britain throughout the years since 1987. In this study, Hodge details and documents the role that Serb lobbying has played in the formation of recent British foreign policy in the Balkans. This second edition extends on parliamentary lobbying activities, and includes a section on the British academic input to the 'Yugoslav' debate, as well as some reflections on the evolution of the Serb lobby after 9/11.

No. 37 Regionalism in Russia's Foreign Policy in the 1990's: A Case of "Reversed Anarchy"

Mikhail Alexseev ($7.50)

Post-Soviet Russia has faced a condition of "reversed anarchy." This explains why policy-makers viewed international interactions of the Federation's constituent regions and republics through the prism of the security dilemma, discounting opportunities for economic development in the borderlands. As a consequence, Russia's foreign policy and national security concepts of the late 1990s failed to articulate a proactive strategy for integrating Russian regions into the world economy.

No. 39 'Great Russians' and 'Little Russians': Russian-Ukrainian Relations and Perceptions in Historical Perspective Andreas Kappeler ($7.50)

Since Ukraine and Russia declared independence in 1991, their relationship has become a crucial issue in international politics. The author analyzes the historical legacy of interrelations between the two countries by looking specifically at their mutual representations of history, interactions between elites and high cultures, and mutual perceptions of each other since the 17th century.

No. 38 Macedonia's Child-Grandfathers: The Transnational Politics of Memory, Exile, and Return, 1948-1998

Keith Brown ($7.50)

In 1948, 28,000 children left Northern Greece as refugees during a brutal civil war. In this paper Brown traces the role of these "child refugees" —as victims of the Cold War, as objects of nationalist ideology, and as political actors in their own right —in modern Macedonian history.

The Russian Moment in World History

Marshall T. Poe

Is Russian history one big inevitable failure as many historians think? Marshall T. Poe argues that it is not.

"This unique, interesting, and stimulating book shoehorns the whole of Russian history into a single long essay, one that is argued very forcefully and written with remarkable clarity and verve."

—Reginald Zelnik, University of California, Berkeley

Cloth $17.95 ISBN 0-691-11612-1 Due October

Farm to Factory

A Reinterpretation of the Soviet Industrial Revolution

Robert C. Allen

Robert Allen argues that the USSR was one of the most successful developing economies of the twentieth century. He reaches this provocative conclusion by recalculating national consumption and using economic, demographic, and computer simulation models to address the "what if" questions central to Soviet history. Moreover, by comparing Soviet performance not only with advanced but with less developed countries, he provides a meaningful context for its evaluation.
