

THE EVOLUTION OF THE AMERICAN ECONOMY

Growth, Welfare, and Decision Making

Sidney Ratner, James H. Soltow, and Richard Sylla

Three of the country's leading economic historians have here written the first comprehensive history of the U.S. economy, from colonial times to the present, that actually integrates the latest findings of the "new" analytical economic history within the larger context of traditional narrative history. The book's emphasis on the crucial role of individual, group, and collective decision making in the pattern of U.S. economic development provides a fruitful way of reconciling the narrative and analytical work of economic historians.

The result is a wonderfully rich, complex yet cohesive history that stresses growth as a persistent feature of the American experience. However, this history gives equal weight to the way that growth has contributed to social welfare as reflected in the living and working conditions of different occupational, ethnic, and age groups.

$16.00

CAUSALITY IN ECONOMICS

Sir John Hicks

In this provocative and important book, Oxford's Nobel laureate argues that causality in economics is but one case of causality in general — which also encompasses causality in science and causality in history. The author throws new light on some basic concepts in economic theory, such as "statics" and "equilibrium," "stocks" and "flows" by comparing them to similar concepts in the physical sciences. To understand how economists discover the cause of a phenomenon is to learn how they explain it. And, he shows, there is indeed a distinctive mode of economic explanation.

$8.95

BASIC BOOKS, INC

10 East 53rd Street, New York 10022

The Industrialization of Soviet Russia

R.W. Davies

Volume I, The Socialist Offensive

The Collectivization of Soviet Agriculture, 1929–1930
576 pages $35.00

Volume 2, The Soviet Collective Farm, 1929–1930

256 pages $18.50
This sweeping and incisive series will demonstrate how, during the crucial period from 1929–1937, the most rapid and broadest industrial development in modern times was undertaken in the USSR. Nowhere in the literature on the Soviet Union in English or Russian does such a comprehensive study exist. Based on years of research in Soviet archives and elsewhere, these volumes form a masterful historical and economic work that will appeal to all scholars in Soviet studies, modernization, and economic planning.

Struve

Liberal on the Right, 1905–1944

Richard Pipes

This volume completes the biography of Peter Struve (1870–1944) one of the most remarkable and influential Russian intellectuals of this century. In writing about Struve, Richard Pipes turns biography into history as he lays bare the souls of the Russian intellectuals—their irresponsibility, unwillingness to compromise, and intolerance.
Russian Research Center Studies, 80
illustrated 552 pp. $32.50

Also available:

Struve

Liberal on the Left, 1870–1905

Richard Pipes

Russian Research Center Studies, 64
$20.00

Courtesy Pressens Bild AB, Stockholm

New from the Harvard Studies in Business History—

Moving the Masses

Urban Public Transit in New York, Boston, and Philadelphia, 1880–1912

Charles W. Cheape

Cheape views the evolution of U. S. urban transit enterprise and policy within a clear and familiar pattern of evolution—the pattern of the last half of the 19th century, when expanding industries with costly production and distribution processes adopted new strategy and structure, administered by a new class of professional managers. Harvard Studies in Business History, 31, $18.50

Managerial Hierarchies

Comparative Perspectives on the Rise of the Modern Industrial Enterprise

Alfred D. Chandler, Jr., and Herman Daems, Editors

These essays show that the growth and complexity of managerial hierarchies in large businesses are central to the organization of modern industrial activity. Leading American and European historians compare the historical evolution of the contemporary giant managerial hierarchies in the U.S., Britain, Germany, and France. This fresh study of the managerial revolution presents recent theoretical reflections in institutional economics and industrial organization in the light of new historical findings. Harvard Studies in Business History, 32 $16.50

Now available in paper—

Bankers and Pashas

International Finance and Economic Imperialism in Egypt

With a new Preface by the author

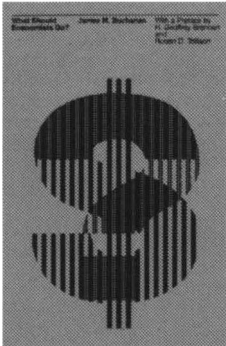

David S. Landes

“A most eloquent book, written with unusual verve; few historians have managed so well to animate a considered and scholarly account of economic affairs and to infuse into it a sense of drama and of the complexity of human action.”—Journal of Economic History 384 pp. Paper, $6.95

Harvard University Press

Cambridge, MA 02138

LibertyPress LibertyClassics

What Should Economists Do?

By James M. Buchanan

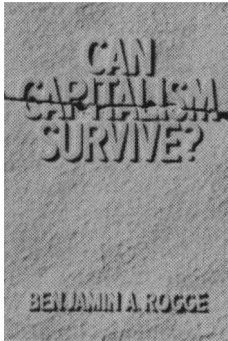

This collection brings together Buchanan's important essays on method, many of them previously unpublished. Such a volume, note H. Geoffrey Brennan and Robert D. Tollison in their preface, "provides relatively easy access to a group of significant papers on methodology in economics, written by a man whose work has spawned a methodological revolution in the way economists and other scholars think about government and governmental activity."

James M. Buchanan is University Distinguished Professor and General Director of the Center for Study of Public Choice, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. As a founder of the burgeoning subdiscipline of public choice, and as a public finance theorist and father of a modern school of public finance, Buchanan's work has had worldwide recognition.

Hardcover $8.00, Paperback $3.50.

We pay postage, but require prepayment, on orders from individuals. Please allow four to six weeks for delivery. To order this book, or for a copy of our catalog, write:
LibertyPress/LibertyClassics
7440 North Shadeland, Dept. 417
Indianapolis, Indiana 46250

LibertyPress
LibertyClassics

Can Capitalism Survive?

By Benjamin A. Rogge

Penetrating, witty, and wise prescriptions for our day, by the Distinguished Professor of Political Economy at Wabash College. Rogge explores the prospects for capitalism, the philosophy of freedom, the nature of economics, and what must be done to ensure the survival of capitalism and free institutions. "Provocative"—Library Journal. "Delightful"—Personal Finance. "Well-reasoned, gracefully written, and gently humorous"—National Review. Hardcover $9.00, Paperback $3.50.

We pay postage, but require prepayment, on orders from individuals. Please allow four to six weeks for delivery. To order this book, or for a copy of our catalog, write:
LibertyPress/LibertyClassics
7440 North Shadeland, Dept. 416
Indianapolis, Indiana 46250

FERTILITY AND OCCUPATION

Population Patterns in Industrialization

By MICHAEL HAINES

A Volume in the STUDIES IN SOCIAL DISCONTINUITY Series

CONTENTS: Introduction. A Model of Demographic Behavior for Mining and Heavy-Industrial Populations and Regions. Evidence From Aggregate Data: England and Wales, Prussia. The Pennsylvania Anthracite Region, 1850-1900. Durham and Easington, England, and Merthyr Tydfil, South Wales, 1851-1871.

The United States Commissioner of Labor Survey, 1889-1890. Patterns of Similarity: Demographic Patterns among Mining and Industrial Populations across Space and Time. Bibliography. Subject Index.

1979, 304 pp., $18.50
ISBN: 0-12-315550-9

REGULATORY CHANGE IN AN ATMOSPHERE OF CRISIS

Current Implications of the Roosevelt Years

Edited by GARY M. WALTON

CHAPTER HEADINGS: G. M. Walton, Monetary Crises and Government Reliance in Modern Times. J. M. Buchanan, The Economic Constitution and the New Deal: Lessons for Late Learners. J. Hughes, Roots of Regulation: The New Deal. K. G. Elzinga, The Robinson-Patman Act: A New Deal for Small Business. H. Jones, Banking Reform in the 1930s. R. J. MacKay and J. D. Reid, Jr., On Understanding the Birth and Evolution of the Securities and Exchange Commission: Where are We in the Theory of Regulation? E. K. Browning and W. R. Johnson, Taxes, Transfers, and Income Inequality. Subject Index.

1979, 184 pp., $16.00
ISBN: 0-12-733950-7

Future volumes in the STUDIES IN SOCIAL DISCONTINUITY Series are now available on a Continuation Order basis. Your Continuation Order authorizes us to ship and bill each future volume in the series automatically, immediately upon publication. This order will remain in effect until cancelled.

Send payment with order and save postage and handling charge.
Prices are subject to change without notice.

ACADEMIC PRESS, INC.

A Subsidiary of Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, Publishers
111 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK, N. Y. 10003
24-28 OVAL ROAD, LONDON NW1 7DX

Please send me:

- ___ copies, Haines: Fertility and Occupation, $18.50
___ copies, Walton: Regulatory Change in an Atmosphere of Crisis, $16.00
___ Continuation Order—STUDIES IN SOCIAL DISCONTINUITY Series

Please check one box:

- Payment enclosed (Free Postage and Handling. Add applicable sales tax.)
 VISA Master Charge American Express
 Diners Club

Charge Card Number: _____

Expiration Date: Month _____ Year _____

*For Master Charge include the numbers that appear above your name _____

Your Signature _____

On prepaid orders, payment will be refunded for titles on which shipment is not possible within 120 days. Prices are in U.S. dollars and subject to change without notice.

Name _____
(please print)

Affiliation _____

Address _____

City/State/Zip Code _____

Direct orders to Georgia Phillips, Media Department.

JEcoHis/3/80

? MOVING ?

Please send changes of address for the Journal of Economic History well in advance of publication dates. To receive the March issue inform the Business Office about the change by February 15; the June issue, by May 15; the September issue, by August 15; and the December issue, by November 15.

Due to increases in postal rates it has become necessary to levy a $1.50 postal fee on members who did not send a change in address form in time to be included in the regular second class mailing and who wish to receive the issue which has been ransomed from the U.S. Postal Service. Members will be sent notice of issues thus returned to the Business Office.

Send changes of address to Secretary, E.H.A., Post Office Box 3630, Wilmington, Delaware 19807.

? MOVING ?

NEW
SECOND EDITION!
U.S. ECONOMIC HISTORY

Albert W. Niemi, Jr.,
University of Georgia

Topically organized within a chronological framework, this major revision focuses on the economic forces and issues underlying American economic development. Nine new chapters have been added to this edition, making the coverage even more comprehensive than before. Other chapters have been rewritten and updated to include the most current empirical research. The text is highlighted by the addition of 17 maps and 16 thought-provoking photographs. 1980 c. 512 pages Cloth

RAND McNALLY COLLEGE PUBLISHING COMPANY
Box 7600/Chicago, Illinois 60680

The Economist in Parliament, 1780-1868

FRANK WHITSON FETTER

"A valuable contribution to scholarship, which will have great and lasting usefulness, especially as a reference work."

A. W. Coats

"The book in its entirety is a contribution to the history of economic ideas, to economic history (a different thing), to political history, and to the parliamentary history of Britain. All these fields converge in the history of British economic policy, and that topic has for some years been of great interest to scholars. Professor Fetter's book meets a critical need of theirs: an extensive, yet meticulously accurate, history of the economic policy debated in the British Parliament in the period of classical economics, from Smith to John Stuart Mill. Professor Fetter's book is much more than the history of economists in Parliament. It is a record of the debates over economic policy and as such is a contribution to Parliamentary history. It describes the political forces that guided the debates and as such is a contribution to political history. Finally, as a record of what the economists did about policy – that is, how they acted in Parliament as distinct from what they wrote – it is a major contribution to the history of British economics. The work is based so much on original sources and quotes so extensively that it approaches being a primary source itself."

William D. Grampp

January 1980

xiv, 300 pp.

$18.75

Publisher pays postage on prepaid orders.

DUKE UNIVERSITY PRESS
6697 College Station / Durham, North Carolina 27708

Joint-Stock Enterprise in France, 1807–1867

From Privileged Company to Modern Corporation

by Charles E. Freedeman

Integrating politics, economics, and law, Freedeman traces the origin, development, and role of the joint-stock companies in France from the pre-Revolutionary Old Regime to the reorganization of the corporation under the legislation of 1867. He shows that French corporate law was as liberal as any in Europe and should be regarded as a positive contributor to French economic growth.

xvi + 234 pp., $17.50

Stalinist Planning for Economic Growth, 1933–1952

by Eugène Zaleski

Translated from the French and Edited by

Marie-Christine MacAndrew and John H. Moore

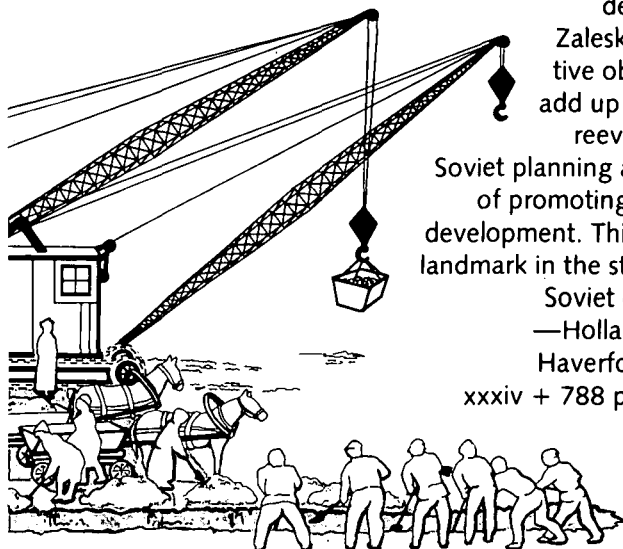

"The record of Soviet planning is full of defects, both political and economic; they are here laid bare with patience and scholarly detachment.

Zaleski's perceptive observations add up to a major reevaluation of Soviet planning as a means of promoting economic development. This book is a landmark in the study of the Soviet economy."

—Holland Hunter,
Haverford College

xxxiv + 788 pp., $50.00

The University of North Carolina Press

Post Office Box 2288 Chapel Hill 27514

CAMBRIDGE

Desolation of a City

Coventry and the Urban Crisis of the Late Middle Ages

Charles Phythian-Adams

Phythian-Adams uses Coventry as a case study of the general urban crisis that marked the end of the medieval period, analyzing its social structure dynamically and in its cultural contexts. His study reveals the complexity of a late medieval urban society and traces the manner in which its social fabric was distorted under merciless demographic pressures. Past and Present Publications $35.00

Geographical Change and Industrial Revolution

Coalmining in South-West Lancashire, 1590-1799

John Langton

A study of the process of change in an important coalmining area which assesses the effect that the development of the port of Liverpool and its hinterland had upon it. Langton's analysis is based on August Lösch's economic location theory and concepts from systems theory. He explains the evolution of the region's economic structure in terms of transport, changes in mining technology, the supply and productivity of labor, entrepreneurship, and competition. Cambridge Geographical Studies 11 $44.50

International Government Finance and the Amsterdam Capital Market, 1740-1915

James C. Riley

Professor Riley reconstructs the eighteenth-century European international credit structure and analyzes its principal effects on the European, and especially the Dutch, economies. He focuses, in addition, on the special circumstances of the Dutch economy which led Dutch investors to seek foreign rather than domestic ventures.

$32.50

An Historical Geography of Europe, 1500-1840

N. J. G. Pounds

$39.50

Towns in Societies

Essays in Economic History and Historical Sociology

Philip Abrams and E. A. Wrigley, Editors

Past and Present Publications

Now in Paperback $8.50

Cambridge University Press

32 East 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10022