Taming the Wild Field

Colonization and Empire on the Russian Steppe

Willard Sunderland

“Willard Sunderland makes an outstanding contribution to our understanding of the dynamic interplay of geography, resettlement, and national identity in imperial Russia.” —Mark Bassin, Department of Geography, University College London, and Associate Editor, Geopolitics

4 maps, 14 halftones, $35.00 cloth

Telling October

Memory and the Making of the Bolshevik Revolution

Frederick C. Corney

“Frederick C. Corney’s book marks a welcome departure in scholarship on the Russian Revolution. There is nothing like it in the field. Tapping pertinent archival collections, major published works, and representations of October in Soviet cinema, he explicates the mechanisms at work in what he calls ‘the group dynamic of memory articulation.’” —Donald Raleigh, author of Revolution on the Volga

20 halftones, $49.95 cloth, $22.50 paper

Privatizing Poland

Baby Food, Big Business, and the Remaking of Labor

Elizabeth C. Dunn

“In this stimulating book, Elizabeth C. Dunn renews an anthropology of capitalism, and will stir debates about postsocialist transition. The author’s vivid ethnography and engaging style make this book a pleasure to read.” —Aihwa Ong, author of Buddha is Hiding: Refugees, Citizenship, the New America

The Transfigured Kingdom

Sacred Parody and Charismatic Authority at the Court of Peter the Great

Ernest A. Zitser

"This is one of the most important pieces of scholarship on early modern Russian history to have been produced in the past decade. Ernest A. Zitser's book will change the way people think about the reign of Peter the Great and will amend the persistent but incorrect view that Peter 'secularized' Russia and that his personal relationships were based on simple 'meritocracy.'"—Lindsey Hughes, School of Slavonic and East European Studies, University College London

Studies of the Harriman Institute, Columbia University
1 table, 12 halftones, $39.95 cloth

Fiction's Overcoat

Russian Literary Culture and the Question of Philosophy

Edith W. Clowes

"Why is Russian philosophy so often not recognized in the academies of the world, although it nourishes so many readers in so many provocative guises? The answer, Edith Clowes argues in this fascinating book, lies in its commitment less to systematic logic than to literary voice and personality. . . . Fiction's Overcoat is for all those who love the way Russians think but aren't sure why."
—Caryl Emerson, Princeton University

10 halftones, 1 line drawing, $45.00 cloth

Russia Gets the Blues

Music, Culture, and Community in Unsettled Times

Michael Urban with Andrei Evdokimov

"In Russia Gets the Blues Michael Urban provides a detailed, cogent history of blues in Russia; he analyzes this small but growing subculture; and he examines the phenomenon of Russian blues within the larger context of cultural politics. The book is beautifully written, with prose that is clear, accessible, and clever."
—Eliot Borenstein, Department of Russian and Slavic Studies, New York University

A RUSSIAN REVELATION

Voice of the People Under Soviet Rule: From the People's Archive of Moscow • This collection discloses the little-known and inadequately represented documentation of the Soviet state archives from the 18th century to the present — such as unofficial social organizations, political parties, religious and ecological organizations and private documents of individual citizens not normally acquired by state archives.

Departmental Records of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, 1953-1966

From the Holdings of the Russian State Archive of Contemporary History, Moscow, this collection expands the study of Soviet history in the Cold War period. It introduces previously classified archival documents focusing on the Central Committee's role on the nation's domestic and foreign policies; the development of its industrial and agricultural sectors; the character of its scientific and cultural activities; and the ultimate shape of its ideology.

NEW FROM CHICAGO

WHEN GOD LOOKED THE OTHER WAY

An Odyssey of War, Exile, and Redemption

Wesley Adamczyk

"Adamczyk recounts the story of his own wartime childhood with exemplary precision and immense emotional sensitivity, presenting the ordeal of one family with the clarity and insight of a skilled novelist. . . . I have read many descriptions of the Siberian odyssey and of other forgotten wartime episodes. But none of them is more informative, more moving, or more beautifully written than When God Looked the Other Way."—from the Foreword by Norman Davies, author of Rising '44 The Battle for Warsaw

CLOTH $25.00

Now in paper

CAUCASUS

A Journey to the Land between Christianity and Islam

Nicholas Griffin

"This enthralling ride through the past before arriving in the present, through legend before fact, this deft retelling of the tragedy of these mountains conveys a great deal about life in the Caucasus today."—Vanora Bennett, Times Literary Supplement

PAPER $16.00

HOMOSEXUAL DESIRE IN REVOLUTIONARY RUSSIA

The Regulation of Sexual and Gender Dissent

Dan Healey

"A superb work. . . . Healey's observations are important not only for scholars interested in gender and sexuality but also for those concerned with identity, nationalism, religious life, social deviance, and disciplinary expertise (especially in medicine and policing). Indeed, Healey shows how intimately sexuality is connected to understanding Russian (even European) history in all its variety."—Laura L. Phillips, Slavic Review

PAPER $30.00

THE CURE

A Story of Cancer and Politics from the Annals of the Cold War

Nikolai Kremontsov

"Highly accessible. The Cure reaches beyond a Russian specialist audience to people outside the Russian field, especially historians of science, medicine and the Cold War. . . . The book is distinguished by its fine empirical texture, the author deploying a wide range of original sources, from secret police interrogations to interviews with, and documents from, the relative of the KR participants."—Chris Burton, Russian Review

"... THIS IS THE BEST BOOK ABOUT ZOG TO HAVE APPEARED IN ANY LANGUAGE."***

KING ZOG OF ALBANIA
Europe's Self-Made Muslim Monarch

Jason Tomes

"Vivid and atmospheric, but based on solid and scrupulous research, this is an outstanding account of one of the most intriguing figures in twentieth-century Balkan history...even specialists in Albanian history will find much to learn here from Tomes's marvellously lucid analysis of the politics and diplomacy of the period."

Russia in Search of Itself

James H. Billington

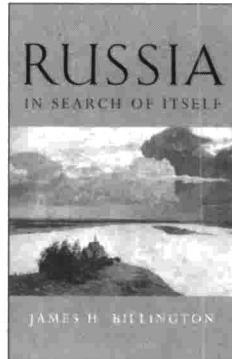

"To have tackled a subject as complex as Russian identity and the Russian national idea with such concision, clarity, and confidence is a major achievement."

—Strobe Talbott

"James Billington, one of America's greatest experts on Russian history and culture, applies his knowledge of the past to Russia's present. The result is both literate and readable."

—Anne Applebaum, author of Gulag: A History

$24.95 hardcover

Russia's Lost Reformation

Peasants, Millennialism, and Radical Sects in Southern Russia and Ukraine, 1830–1917

Sergei I. Zhuk

"This is a study that not only makes a very important contribution to Russian religious, cultural, and social history, but will stimulate controversy about Russia's place in world history."—Glennys Young, University of Washington

$60.00 hardcover

Second Metropolis

Pragmatic Pluralism in Gilded Age Chicago, Silver Age Moscow, and Meiji Osaka

Blair A. Ruble

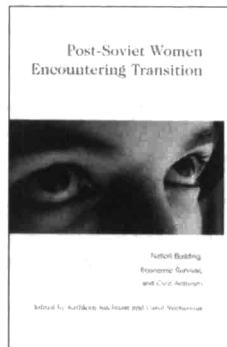

"A comparative work such as this helps to undercut the historiography of 'exceptionalism' that still plagues Russian studies."—Louise McReynolds, American Historical Review

Post-Soviet Women Encountering Transition

Nation Building, Economic Survival, and Civic Activism

edited by Kathleen Kuehnast and Carol Nechemias

Women in the former Soviet Union, despite a legacy of high levels of education and labor force participation, face a host of new problems. The contributors to this book examine women's role in nation-building, rural household economies, and democratization and civic activism. A final set of essays studies the interaction of post-Soviet women with Western aid organizations.

Chechnya

Life in a War-Torn Society

Valery Tishkov

Foreword by Mikhail S. Gorbachev

"An anthropological tour de force. Through detailed description, Tishkov enables readers to see behind the banal generalities around such terms as self-determination. The book puts a foreign world—ethnic and national violence—under a microscope and reports on those details that are unfortunately lost in all too many informed discussions."

A Social History of Soviet Trade

Trade Policy, Retail Practices, and Consumption, 1917–1953

Julie Hessler

In this sweeping study, Julie Hessler traces the invention and evolution of socialist trade, the progressive constriction of private trade, and the development of consumer habits from the 1917 revolution to Stalin's death in 1953. The book places trade and consumption in the context of debilitating economic crises. Drawing on newly opened archives in Moscow and several provinces, this richly documented work offers a new perspective on the social, economic, and political history of the formative decades of the USSR.

"This is a very impressive book; an opus in fact.... Encyclopedic in its scope and nuanced in its careful and innovative interpretations, this book will be the standard reference for decades to come."—J. Arch Getty, University of California, Los Angeles

How Russia Shaped the Modern World

From Art to Anti-Semitism, Ballet to Bolshevism

Steven G. Marks

"A number of books have explored the West's long and controversial influence on Russia. Few, however, have explored the reverse flow of ideas, and none better than this concise, graceful, amazingly wide-ranging book."
