EIGHTEENTH CENTURY RUSSIA: A SELECT BIBLIOGRAPHY

This work is an essential reference tool dealing with 18th Century Russian history, culture, society, diplomacy, nationalities and economics. It is divided into two parts. Part I of each section lists the most important works in English and is geared primarily for the undergraduate or interested layperson.

Part II lists appropriate works in Russian, German and French and is aimed at the graduate and more senior researcher.

Each section begins with a brief annotation of some of the works following, with concentration mainly on items dealing with the 18th Century that have appeared in the most important Soviet and Western journals and yearbooks in the last ten years. It also includes a dissertation list.

TO THOSE WISHING TO SUBMIT MANUSCRIPTS

Three copies of any article or note should be submitted, and at least one copy must be in a form suitable for sending to the printer. Footnotes should be double-spaced and placed at the end of the manuscript. Library of Congress transliteration should be used. In general, articles should not exceed twenty-five pages, except where especially justified, e.g., by extensive documentation, tables, or charts. Manuscripts will not be returned unless specifically requested and postage is provided. The policy of the Slavic Review is not to consider materials that have been published or that are being considered for publication elsewhere.

Publication of articles in the Slavic Review is ordinarily limited to those submitted by members of AAASS. Nonmembers wishing to submit manuscripts are asked to request a membership application.

Authors who wish to have their manuscripts considered anonymously should request so explicitly and prepare manuscript copies accordingly.

THE SUPREME SOVIET

Politics and the Legislative Process in the Soviet Political System

Peter Vanneman

"It may be but a rubber-stamp legislature, but it has a number of functions in the political system useful to the Party and the leadership. Vanneman's careful investigation of the Supreme Soviet (and of its Presidium now headed by Brezhnev) confirms his conclusion that they are institutions which are evolving." Foreign Affairs

THE DECISION TO DIVIDE GERMANY

American Foreign Policy in Transition

John H. Backer

"Illuminates an issue of enormous relevance to American foreign policy in this century. Backer's study contributes to our understanding of the realities of economics and politics of the time . . . Backer presents a case study in decision-making that stands among the best yet produced." Marshall D. Shulman, Special Adviser to the Secretary of State on Soviet Affairs.

THE SOCIALIST PRICE MECHANISM

Alan Abouchar, editor

"The contributions include those of editor Abouchar (interest rates), Francis Seton (ideology and rationality in price setting), Gregory Grossman (price controls and incentives), Morris Bornstein (Hungarian pricing policy), Janet Chapman (Soviet wages), among others. . . The consensus of the authors is that the lack of flexibility and creative improvisation in Soviet price formation is due more to bureaucratic planners whose vested interests are served by traditional pricing schemes than to weakness in Marxian theory. Refreshingly nonideological and of consistently high quality." Choice
