

Canadian Journal on Aging is now ONLINE

The Canadian Association on Gerontology and the University of Toronto Press are pleased to announce the launch of CJA Online. CJA Online begins with volume 26 and includes 221 previously published articles. To register for a free trial of CJA Online, contact journals@utpress.utoronto.ca.

The CJA Online site has all the features that users and librarians look for in an electronic resource. In particular, we offer readers full searching (full text, Boolean, relevancy ranking, and persistent keyword searching), quick searching (single field, single button, automatic recognition of ISSN and DOI), advanced searching (citation text, publication, subjects, or content types), search results (summaries, dimensional navigation, abstracts, citation or tabular results, search within results, filter selected items), parent list navigation, publication metadata, TOC alerting, forward reference linking, and link exports. For librarians, our system simplifies access management, linking, and usage reporting with powerful yet easy-to-use administration tools. Support for established and emerging standards, such as MARC, OpenURL, and COUNTER, enables seamless integration with existing library systems.

ADULT DEVELOPMENT AND AGING, 4th Ed.

by Bert Hayslip Jr., Paul E. Panek, & Julie Hicks Patrick

4th Ed. 2007 312 pp. ISBN 1-57524-245-1 $44.50

Adult Development and Aging presents a view of the adult years that is topical in nature rather than chronological, given the tremendous variability among adults and older persons. Embedding what we know about adulthood and aging in a cultural context, the chapters are arranged to first lay the groundwork for thinking about adult development, and then deal with basic psychobiological processes, followed by topics that are distinctly psychological. The later chapters are predominantly psychosocial and/or clinical in their orientation.

Nurses working together make a difference

Every minute there are 11 new HIV infections worldwide. More than half occur in young people under the age of 24.

With more than a billion young people on earth between the ages of 15 and 24, the spread of HIV is a great concern to health care professionals.

As leaders in primary health care, nurses worldwide do make a difference by providing education and care to those most vulnerable.

Hallym International Journal of Aging

Gerontological Research, Policies and Programs in the New Millennium

Editors: Hyunsook Yoon • Jon Hendricks

Hallym International Journal of Aging is intended to focus international expertise on topics that embrace a broad spectrum of gerontological issues. The editorial board has been selected to assemble world-wide gerontologists to promote submissions from a diverse array of countries. Topics and agenda address questions and issues of particular concern to Asia and the Pacific Rim countries. Through a rigorous review process, manuscripts appearing in HIJA represent the best intercontinental analysis on the subject of gerontology.

AIMS & SCOPE

Under what conditions does “development” end? Under what conditions does “aging” begin? Can these conditions themselves be modified by intervention at the psychological, social, or biological levels? To what extent are patterns of development and aging attributable to biological factors? To psychological factors? How can the social and behavioral sciences contribute to the actualization of human potential throughout the entire life span? What are the implications of gerontological research for our understanding of the total development of human organism?

These are some of the broad questions with which The International Journal of Aging & Human Development is concerned. Emphasis is upon psychological and social studies of aging and the aged. However, this peer-refereed journal also publishes research that introduces observations from other fields that illuminate the “human” side of gerontology, or utilizes gerontological observations to illuminate problems in other fields.
