Important International Law Titles from...

SELF-DEFENSE AGAINST THE USE OF FORCE IN INTERNATIONAL LAW

by Stanimir A. Alexandrov

'Many books have been written about the always fascinating subject of the international right of self-defense. Most of these books remind me, however, of the story about the blind man and the elephant — each of them touched only one part of their subject and generalized from it. Dr Alexandrov's book is quite different. He deals comprehensively with practically all aspects of the problem. The book is strong on history, pointing out how the concept of self-defense had changed over the ages until it got its present scope under the United Nations Charter. He considers carefully the consequences of the fact that, for the first time, this concept became embodied in a system that was designed to combine obligations and mechanisms for settling all disputes peacefully with a worldwide collective security system.' From forward by Louis B. Sohn

1996, 376 pp., ISBN 90-411-0247-7,
Price $ 120.00

THE EVOLVING CONCEPT OF COMMUNITY CITIZENSHIP

From the Free Movement of Persons to Union Citizenship

by Síofra O'Leary

Part I of the book provides a framework within which to examine the concept of Community or Union citizenship, discusses the importance of Member State nationality for both the free movement of persons in the European Community and Union citizenship and, finally, examines the traditional requirement in Community law of involvement in an economic activity. Part II focuses on the relationship between the principle of equal treatment and Union citizenship, given the fact that many of the rights conferred on Union citizens are simply extended to them on the basis of the principle of equal treatment. Finally, Part III looks beyond equal treatment and questions whether a direct relationship can be said to exist between Union citizens and the Union.

Price $ 117.00

THE INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE 1946-1996

by Arthur Eysfingher

This richly documented publication is launched on the occasion of the Court's golden jubilee. In twelve chapters, with a foreword by His Excellency Mohammed Bedjaoui, President of the International Court of Justice, and with a wealth of illustrations, photographed by Bert and Lilian Mellink, it reviews the idea of the pacific settlement of disputes through the ages, culminating in the Hague Peace Conferences. It then deals with the genesis of the Court, from the days of its predecessor in the inter-war period and with the law and procedure of the International Court of Justice and its various legal and cultural components.

Price $ 77.00

E PLURIBUS UNUM

Liber Amicorum Georges A.L. Droz

On the Progressive Unification of Private International Law

edited by Alegria Borrás, Andreas Bucher, Teun Struycken, Michel Verwilghen

The unification of Private International Law is a goal to which all the contributors to this impressive volume have committed themselves, and one which seems increasingly to attract the attention of legal practitioners, researchers, writers and legislators. The essays give a unique overview of the current state of the law with respect to those areas which have been unified, or which are susceptible to unification. Insights are given into national as well as international practice, and theoretical aspects have not been neglected. All in all, E Pluribus Unum is a collection which internation-

DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN JAPAN

by Joseph W. S. Davis, Jr.

This work presents a clear description of the Japanese legal system, covering such issues as: the role of the Judiciary and practicing lawyers in Japan, the attitude of the Japanese toward litigation, and practical suggestions on when to be involved in a litigation in Japan and how to manage a case from outside the country. It includes detailed explanations concerning jurisdictional issues: filing the complaint, service of process, provisional measures, special proceedings, discovery, pre-trial activities, examination of witnesses, remedies, initial resolutions, appeals and the execution of domestic and foreign judgments.

THE RAOUL WALLENBERG COMPILATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS INSTRUMENTS

edited by Göran Melander, Gudmundur Alfredsson

The Raoul Wallenberg Institute of Human Rights and Humanitarian Law is an academic institution which works in close cooperation with the Faculty of Law at the University of Lund, Sweden. It administers a Master's programme in international law and human rights, humanitarian law and refugee law for Swedish and foreign students, mostly young lawyers and officials with governments and non-governmental organizations. The Institute also runs an extensive training programme on the same subjects, both in Sweden and in several other countries.

THE UN AS A DISPUTE SETTLEMENT SYSTEM INVOLVING MECHANISMS FOR THE PREVENTION AND RESOLUTION OF CONFLICT

by Connie Peck

In this book, Dr Peck provides a comprehensive review of preventive diplomacy – the mobilisation of diplomatic resources to try and stop disputes from sliding across the threshold into armed conflict. She examines the obstacles to the effective practice of preventive diplomacy in the past, and discusses the various models which have been proposed to overcome those obstacles.

CAMBRIDGE OFFERS THE BEST IN LAW

International Law Reports

Consolidated Tables of Cases and Treaties and Indexes—Volumes 81-100

E. Lauterpacht and
C.J. Greenwood, Editors

Prepared by M.E. MacGlashan

These Reports are an absolutely essential work of reference for all those who rely on the regular reporting of national and international decisions and awards bearing upon international law. This consolidation of Treaties, Cases and Indexes for the most recent 20 volumes assists greatly in making these important materials readily accessible to practitioners, scholars and researchers alike.

Fragmentation and the International Relations of Micro-States

Jorri Duursma

This is the first book to provide a thorough international legal account of the European micro-states. Drawing on many unpublished documents, it examines notions of self-determination and statehood in the context of international law and provides solutions for problems of secession.

The Polar Regions and the Development of International Law

Donald R. Rothwell

This book deals with international law in Antarctica and the Arctic. It reviews how each region is managed by the individual legal regimes, and how the special international laws developed specifically to deal with polar problems (for instance, protection of the environment) have contributed to the development of international law.

Principles of the Institutional Law of International Organizations

C.F. Amerasinghe

Dr. Amerasinghe makes a full and detailed examination of many aspects of the law and their related problems. The primary object of the book is to discuss principles, but Dr. Amerasinghe also studies the law and practice of different organizations, using a rigorous analysis of the material alongside his functional examination of the law.

The Civilian Personnel of Peace-keeping/Humanitarian Operations and Election Monitoring Missions:
Volunteers, Officers, Observers
Pisa, Italy, 30 June—19 July 1997

The civilian personnel of the peace-keeping/humanitarian operations and the election monitoring missions are involved in a wide range of duties. Multidimensional operations require qualified and readily available civilian personnel. United Nations, regional organizations, governments and NGOs lack highly skilled civilian experts.

The aim of this Course is to train, at a post-graduate level, a limited number of participants for the tasks usually assigned to the civilian peace-keeping/humanitarian operations and to the election monitoring missions.

The programme will feature lectures, seminars, case studies, role-playing and practical training sessions. The following are some of the subjects covered: international organization and peace-keeping, humanitarian assistance, promotion, protection and monitoring of human rights, refugee assistance, election observation, recruitment and legal status of the civilian peace-keepers, civilian and military partnership in PKOs, personal security, stress management, rules of conduct, preventive medicine, facilitating/mediating/negotiating skills, conflict resolution techniques.

The programme will be conducted in English by distinguished and expert faculty from both academic and applied settings.

Direction: Andrea de Guttery, Fabrizio Pagani, Barbara Carrai.

Tuition cost: L. 1.500.000 (around $1000)/three week course (tuition, reference material, lunch). There are special terms for those requiring hotel and full board. A limited number of scholarships is provided. Preference will be given to nationals from non-OECD countries.

Deadline for application: 24 April 1997.

Butcher Medal for Excellence in International Human Rights Law

The American Society of International Law invites nominations for its Butcher Medal "for excellence in international human rights law." This Medal is awarded by the Society, as warranted, to an individual human rights lawyer, scholar or other person working in the area of international human rights law. The Medal honors the late Goler T. Butcher, a prominent member of the Society who achieved eminence in this field.

For the purpose of award of the Butcher Medal, "excellence in international human rights law" is defined as meaning the expansion of human rights values and human rights law, including contributions to the promotion, protection and application of human rights, especially their legal outcomes. Preference will be given to candidates whose work involves a life's work, defined career or sustained period of involvement in international human rights law, of public or professional prominence. However, in exceptional cases, the Medal may be awarded for intense, excellent and notable work involving international human rights law during a period of the last two years.

Nominations and supporting materials should be sent by mail to:

The Butcher Medal Awards Committee
ASIL c/o Sandra Liebel
2223 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20008-2864

Supporting materials should include statements and or letters in support of the nomination; curriculum vitae of candidates; names, addresses and telephone and/or fax numbers of any additional supporting references; and other relevant material or information.
