

the contribution careful consideration and often that he had anticipated all that could be said about it. His services as Editor were rendered in a truly scientific spirit, and the expression of appreciation with which the Council of the Institute acknowledged them when announcing his resignation may be recalled as a fitting tribute to his memory.

---

WALTER SYDNEY EMERY, Student of the Institute, Private,
Infantry Battalion 1st Australian Expeditionary Force.

Killed in Action 8 August 1915.

JOHN MORTON FIELD, Student of the Institute, 2nd Lieutenant, Royal Sussex Regiment.

Killed in Action 11 April 1916.

HARRY WALLIS, M.A., Associate of the Institute, Naval Instructor,
H.M.S. "Indefatigable."

Killed in Action 31 May 1916.

DONALD KERR, M.A., B.Sc., Probationer of the Institute, 2nd
Lieutenant, 2nd Battalion London Scottish Regiment.

Killed in Action — July, 1916.

ERNEST CHARLES KEMP, Student of the Institute, Lieutenant,
9th Service Battalion Yorkshire Regiment, and Royal Flying Corps.

Killed in Action 6 September 1916.

GEORGE HENRY GRANTHAM, Student of the Institute, Private,
15th Battalion County of London Regiment.

Killed in Action 15 September 1916.

SIDNEY FRANK SNOWDON, Student of the Institute, 2nd Lieutenant, 1st Battalion London Regiment, Royal Fusiliers.

Killed in Action 15 September 1916.

LESLIE DAVIES, Probationer of the Institute, Captain, 15th Battalion
County of London Regiment.

Killed in Action 17 September 1916.

---