

THOMAS COKE: APOSTLE OF METHODISM

John A. Vickers. Using previously unpublished primary material, this is the first documented study of John Wesley's capable assistant and a key figure in the development of Methodism. Explores Coke's varied roles as Asbury's colleague, missionary, and author. $14.50

IN SEARCH OF FOUNDATIONS

English Theology 1900-1920. Thomas A. Langford. Within the framework of the social, political, and economic conditions in England, the author considers important issues in this pivotal era of English theology. Includes such subjects as biblical versus ecclesiastical authority and Christology. $6.95

EASTER: A PICTORIAL
PILGRIMAGE

Pierre Benoit, Elhanan Hagolani, and Konrad Leube. Beautiful photographs take you on a tour of the Holy Land. Includes legendary identification of sites, Scripture, and archaeological commentary. Many icons and interiors pictured here have never before been professionally photographed. $7.95.

FRANK MASON NORTH

Creighton Lacy. This is a complete biography of a great churchman who played an important role in Methodist and ecumenical missions for over 40 years and was one of the founders of the Federal Council of Churches. Depicts "the man" as well as the organizer and administrator. $6.50

STRANGERS AND EXILES

A History of Religious Refugees. Frederick A. Norwood. A comprehensive historical work tracing the fate of religious exiles from the Exodus to the refugee movements of the twentieth century. Explores in depth the forces that give rise to exile and the psychological repercussions of such movements. 2 volumes. $25

At your local bookstore

ABINGDON PRESS

from Allyn and Bacon, Inc.

Judaism and Christianity: Perspectives and Traditions

Luther H. Harshbarger and John A. Mourant, both of The Pennsylvania State University. Designed for courses in Religions of the West, comparative religion, history of religion and religion in America. Religion is treated comparatively in an historical context. 6 x 9, 480 pp.

Old Testament Life and Literature

Gerald A. Larue, University of Southern California, Los Angeles. Deals with literature and religious thought in terms of the history of Palestine and in the context of the ancient Near Eastern world. 7 x 10, 513 pp.

God's Word to Israel

Joseph Jensen, O.S.B., The Catholic University of America. Designed for introductory Catholic college courses, this new book introduces the student to the central message of the Old Testament. 5½ x 8¾, paperbound, 314 pp.

Problems and Perspectives in the Philosophy of Religion

George I. Mavrodes, The University of Michigan; Stuart C. Hackett, Wheaton College. Designed for general courses in Philosophy and Religion. Selections represent every major philosophical viewpoint. 5½ x 8¾, 492 pp.

470 Atlantic Avenue, Boston, Massachusetts 02210

The Puritan Lectureships

The Politics of Religious Dissent, 1560-1662

PAUL S. SEAVER

For several generations the Puritan lectureships enabled Puritan clergy to propagate their opinions and rally their following. Control of the lectureships gave the laity ecclesiastical power rivaling that of the Crown and the Anglican bishops. This is a study of the impact of this institution of lectureships on English society. The author describes the role of preaching in the life of the Puritan clergy and laity, the relationship of preaching and politics, and the forms the lectureships took. Included is a detailed study of the lectureships in London and a description of the efforts used by lay and ecclesiastical authorities to control them. $12.50

Order from your bookstore, please

STANFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS

Consciousness of Battle

Mary McDermott Shideler

An interim report on a theological journey. While on the verge of suicide, the author struggled with herself to find a reason for either living or dying. This narrative describes that battle, and in the process reveals theologians to be very human persons in the throes of finding truth. She presents theologies not as arbitrary pronouncements—by remote, passionless dogmatists—but rather as products of personal, intense, and continuous interplays between experience and reflection. Cloth $5.95

"This is theology presented in the becoming. It is existential in mode, biblical in fundamental images, catholic in intent and address. And so crafted in manner to speak to men who long to make godly sense of it."—Joseph Sittler

Mary Shideler is a frequent contributor to Christian Century, and has also written The Theology of Romantic Love, and A Creed for A Christian Skeptic.

9-37 A

At your bookstore's
WM. B. EERDMANS
PUBLISHING CO.
Grand Rapids, Michigan

New Perspectives on Church History

DIVINE HUMANNESS

by Aarne Siirala

The interplay of human and divine is best understood through open dialogue between the methods of theology and science, says the author. In this book Aarne Siirala proposes a contemporary empirical theology by drawing on insights from the social sciences and humanities, as well as insights from the controversy between Luther and Erasmus concerning the divine and human will. "An original and brilliant interpretation of Luther," says Gregory Baum, O.S.A. $6.50

LUTHER: AN INTRODUCTION TO HIS THOUGHT

by Gerhard Ebeling

Ebeling's fascinating new book invites us to think along with Luther. He examines the inner dynamics of the great reformer's thinking—the very mental processes from which Luther's theology ultimately emerged. Theodore G. Tappert calls this "a fresh and suggestive book which is a welcome addition to the literature on the Reformer." Wilhelm Pauck comments: "As a contribution to Luther research it will remain alive for a long time." $5.95

New Facet Books on Reformation History

THE ANABAPTISTS AND RELIGIOUS LIBERTY IN THE 16TH CENTURY

by Harold S. Bender

How could a time of increased persecution of religious minority groups lead to the gradual acceptance of these very groups in later centuries? The author examines this paradox and the pivotal role of one such minority group, the Anabaptists.

Paper $1.00

THE COUNCIL OF TRENT, THE "SPIRITUAL EXERCISES" AND THE CATHOLIC REFORM

by Robert E. McNally, S.J.

Both Catholic and Protestant readers will gain from this essay a new understanding of the genuine reform, especially in terms of personal piety and devotion, which took place within the Roman Catholic Church during the period of the Council of Trent.

Paper $1.00

OTHER FACET BOOKS

Paper $1.00

on the Ancient Church

Jerusalem and Rome, Chadwick and Campenhausen

Popular Christianity and The Early Theologians, Carpenter

Tithing in the Early Church, Visher

Were Ancient Heresies Disguised Social Movements?, Jones

on the American Church

The Formation of the American Catholic Minority 1820-1860, McAvoy

The Protestant Quest for a Christian America 1830-1930, Handy

A Critical Period in American Religion 1875-1900, Schlesinger

The Problem of Christian Unity in Early 19th Century America, Loetscher

The Origins of Fundamentalism, Sandeen

Christian Interpretations of the Civil War, Clebsch

Darwinism Comes to America, Loewenberg

The American Religious Depression 1925-1935, Handy

The Idea of Progress in American Protestant Thought 1930-1960, Carter

Images of Religion in America, Brauer

AT ALL BOOKSTORES
FORTRESS PRESS
Philadelphia, Pa. 19129

Pulpit In Parliament

Puritanism during the English Civil Wars, 1640-1648

JOHN F. WILSON

The formal sermons regularly preached by leading clerical puritans to the Long Parliament provide a source of insight into civil war puritanism that has never before been fully exploited. Through a detailed study of their form and content, Professor Wilson clarifies the puritans' conceptions of the relationship between their religious movement and the political events of the period. $10.00

The Half-Way Covenant

Church Membership in Puritan New England

ROBERT G. POPE

Challenging the orthodox view of the "half-way covenant" as an indication of religious decline in Puritan New England, the author argues that the measure offered the church a natural way to adapt to changing conditions. He gauges the long-term impact on four Massachusetts churches through a detailed quantitative analysis of their membership. $10.00

Tradition and Authority in the Western Church, 300-1140

KARL F. MORRISON

This is a comprehensive account of the Church's struggle toward a satisfactory definition of tradition in the period from the conversion of Constantine to the publication of Gratian's Decretum. ". . . the best general history of political thought in the period covered." NORMAN CANTOR. $12.50

Available in Princeton Paperbacks

The Shaping of American Religion

Edited by James Ward Smith and A. Leland Jamison

"Presented are surveys of the institutional structures on the four broad segments of American Religion: Protestantism, Roman Catholicism, Judaism, and the 'new religions'." Religion in American Life $3.45

Princeton University Press

Princeton, New Jersey 08540