Important International Law Titles from...

THE IRAN-UNITED STATES CLAIMS TRIBUNAL

by Charles N. Brower &
Jason D. Brueschke

The Iran-United States Claims Tribunal is arguably the most significant arbitral institution of the twentieth century. Although the completion of its last few cases could be very far away, the Tribunal's impressive work must be made available now as a guide to the resolution of ongoing disputes and for future tribunals.

The Tribunal has, by now, disposed of well over 98 percent of its caseload. Little more remains for it participants to learn, but the Tribunal shows no signs of fading away. Both of the two States Parties, for different reasons, see greater advantage in the Tribunal's prolongation than in its elimination.

The authors have succeeded in dealing with all of the most deserving Tribunal subjects. Moreover, their intimate involvement in and knowledge of the Tribunal ensure that their book is a fascinating, important, and indispensable contribution to the literature of International Law. As the century draws to its close, Martinus Nijhoff Publishers is proud to publish the definitive book on this monumental Tribunal.

This title was awarded the 1998 American Society of International Law Certificate of Merit.

THE ENGLISH ARBITRATION ACT 1996: TEXT AND NOTES

Edited by Martin Hunter, Toby Landau

Intimately involved with the development of the English Arbitration Act at various stages, the authors of this book have provided the very first up-to-date publication of the Act with a detailed, non-English language commentary. The authors present the material in French, German, and Spanish, with each version consistently arranged for easy access. Arbitration experts from the relevant countries prepared the translations under the guidance of world-renowned leaders in the field. The authors have conveniently set out the commentary in footnotes on a section-by-section basis.

THE OSCE IN THE MAINTENANCE OF PEACE AND SECURITY

Conflict Prevention, Crisis Management and Peaceful Settlement of Disputes

edited by Michael Botbe, D. Anzilotti & Allan Rosas

This book illustrates the OSCE institutional system and critically evaluates its ability to cope with an evolving European security order. It extensively covers the three-fold core of the OSCE: human rights, peaceful settlement of disputes, and peace-keeping. It benefits from diverse perspectives via the efforts of lawyers, career diplomats, international-relations scholars, and international officials. The OSCE in the Maintenance of Peace and Security's complete account of the OSCE structure, functions, and perspectives makes it an invaluable instrument for lawyers, international relations experts, diplomats, and international civil servants.

INTERNATIONAL WATER LAW

Selected Writings of

Professor Charles B. Bourne

edited by Patricia Wouters

One of the drafters of the ILA Helsinki Rules, Professor Charles Bourne is an authority in the field of international water law. He has edited and written widely in respected journals and has served on the noted committees of recognized scholars that have helped shape and interpret the state of the law. This collection compiles a selection of Professor Bourne's definitive articles with a forward by the editor surveying recent developments in the field. Its comprehensive coverage and Professor Bourne's own stature in the law of international water systems make this essential reading for all specialists and students involved with water, and a tribute to a foremost expert in the field.

THE JOURNAL OF INTERNATIONAL WILDLIFE LAW & POLICY

*Managing Editor: William Burns; Board of Editors: Michael Bowman, Peter G.G. Davies,
Stuart Harrop, Dr. Yorgos Marinakis*

The Journal of International Wildlife Law & Policy addresses legal and political issues concerning the ways in which human beings relate to and manage wildlife species, their habitats, and the biosphere. It analyses the efficacy of international and regional wildlife treaty regimes and national legislation and regulations, the impact of judicial decisions at both the national and international level, and the interface of legal and political institutions with other sectors in society that have a substantive impact on the management and conservation of species and ecosystems.

WOMEN IN LAW

edited by Shimon Shetree

Women in Law contains the updated papers presented at the George A. Katz legal conference on Women in Law held in Jerusalem. It addresses a major social challenge: attaining equality for women in the legal profession, in academia, and in the judiciary. The work also analyses the additional burden on women who have to assume a double workload when they combine their legal careers with motherhood. It covers laws promoting equality for women; women, law and religion; the legal response to sex crimes and family violence; and women pursuing careers and meeting family responsibilities. Contributors include distinguished judges, prominent and leading attorneys from the USA and Israel. The work will be of prime interest to academics in law, women's studies and gender studies.

EUROPEAN COMMUNITY TRADE MARK

*Commentary to the European Community
Regulations* edited by Mario Franzosi

An established trademark indicates quality and provides valuable recognition for trade and sales promotion. Without adequate protection, these essential functions are jeopardized. The need for unification in this area, especially in Europe, can no longer be ignored. The Community Directive and Regulation respond to this need. This commentary provides the texts of essential legislation and examines the Directive and Regulation in their historical context. Coverage includes issues such as grounds for refusal, entitlement, registration procedures, jurisdiction and procedure in legal actions, and the impact of the Community Trade Mark on applicants and non-member countries. European Community Trade Mark provides an invaluable tool for scholars, practitioners, and marketing managers in interpreting the Community provisions in this specialised, critical area.

The Constitution of Europe "Do the New Clothes Have an Emperor?" and Other Essays on European Integration

Joseph Weiler

In a series of highly accessible discussions concerning the legal framework of the European Communities and the European Union, Weiler describes the gradual strengthening of transnational European institutions at the expense of national legislators. The book thus provides from a legal perspective a balanced and uniquely authoritative critique of the attractions and demerits of the goal of European integration.

Dismantling Chemical Weapons while Preserving the Environment

David Koplow, Georgetown University Law Center and Secretary to the Lawyer's Alliance for World Security, USA

The Chemical Weapons Convention is a recently signed treaty that requires the dismantling and destruction of the massive stockpiles of chemical weapons that many countries have built over the years. National security experts assert that the world will be better off if chemical weapons are eliminated, while environmental experts assert that there is no way to accomplish this while conforming to existing health and safety standards. Koplow asserts that a balance can and must be struck to rid the world of these awesome powers of destruction.

NEW RELEASE

International Compliance with Nonbinding Accords

Edited by Edith Brown Weiss

This volume explores the hypothesis that countries under some circumstances comply with nonbinding legal instruments as well as they do with binding ones. Compliance with "soft" law holds important policy implications for the emerging international legal system. The Introduction and eight Chapters of this book take the reader through a variety of theoretical essays and case studies on soft law, identifying the issues and offering preliminary analysis of compliance with soft law in particular fields such as human rights, labor, the environment and economic assistance.

In her Introduction, Edith Brown Weiss sets the stage for soft law within the international legal system, discusses the characteristics of nonbinding legal instruments and introduces the literature on compliance. The theoretical aspects of compliance are covered in Chapters 1–3, while Chapters 4–8 focus on compliance with soft law in discrete areas.

No. 29 in the series, Studies in Transnational Legal Policy.

Price: $25, ASIL members; $35, non-members; plus 20% postage and handling.
