Economics & Philosophy

Editors

Giacomo Bonanno, University of California, Davis, USA

Martin van Hees, University of Groningen, Netherlands

Christian List, London School of Economics, UK

The disciplines of economics and philosophy each possess their own special analytical methods, whose combination is powerful and fruitful. Each discipline can be enriched by the other. Economics & Philosophy aims to promote their mutual enrichment by publishing articles and book reviews in all areas linking these subjects. Topics include the methodology and epistemology of economics, the foundations of decision theory and game theory, the nature of rational choice in general, historical work on economics with a philosophical purpose, ethical issues in economics, the use of economic techniques in ethical theory, and many other subjects.

European Business Organization Law Review (EBOR)

Marketed and distributed for T.M.C. Asser Press

Editor

Rainer Kulms, Max Planck Institute, Hamburg, Germany

The European Business Organization Law Review (EBOR) is a leading European publication addressing all legal aspects of business organization. The journal is a platform for articles, case-notes and book reviews to stimulate scholarly debate and to reflect the speed of how developments in the field translate into substantive law. Relying on scholars, business people, lawyers, economists and other disciplines, and with an international editorial board, the journal looks at the whole range of problems relevant to business activities and the corresponding national, European Community and international legal rules.

European Political Science Review

Published for the European Consortium for Political Research

Editors

Donatella Della Porta, European University Institute, Italy
B. Guy Peters, University of Pittsburgh, USA

European Political Science Review (EPSR) is a place for the best research in all areas of political science. As a 'general' journal in political science, it publishes articles that speak to as large an audience as possible within the discipline. The journal publishes original research of the highest scholarly quality from leading political scientists around the world. It also features the work of the best young scholars in the discipline. EPSR is published by the European Consortium for Political Research and Cambridge University Press, bringing together the experience and expertise of two leading organisations worldwide devoted to advancing and disseminating research in political science and government.

International Journal of Law in Context

Editors-in-Chief

Michael Freeman, University College London, UK

Carrie Menkel-Meadow, Georgetown University, USA and Center for Transnational Legal Studies, UK

David Nelken, University of Macerata, Italy

International Journal of Law in Context provides a forum for interdisciplinary legal studies and offers intellectual space for ground-breaking critical research. It publishes contextual work about law and its relationship with other disciplines including but not limited to science, literature, humanities, philosophy, sociology, psychology, ethics, history and geography. The journal aims to explore and expand the boundaries of law and legal studies.

SUBMISSION

All manuscripts must be submitted online via the website:

<http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/joie>

Detailed instructions for submitting your manuscript online can be found at the submission website by clicking on the 'Instructions and Forms' link in the top right of the screen; and then clicking on the 'Author Submission Instructions' icon on the following page.

The Editor will acknowledge receipt of the manuscript, provide it with a manuscript reference number and assign it to reviewers. The reference number of the manuscript should be quoted in all correspondence with JOIE Office and Publisher.

ARTICLE

There must be no indication of the personal identity or institution of any author of the article within the article itself, or in the 'properties' of the electronic file. Normally, articles (including footnotes and references) must be no longer than 9,000 words. In special cases, such as an extended review or survey article, this limit may be extended to 12,000 words. A declaration of the total word count (including footnotes and references) must accompany or be within the article.

Papers with some formal content will be considered if it is fully explained for a general readership, the mathematics is consigned as much as possible to appendices, the assumptions have sufficient grounding in reality, and the paper enhances our understanding of past, present, or feasible socio-economic institutions. JOIE is not interested in the advancement of formal or econometric technique for their own sake.

The front page of the electronic file of the article should include the following information: the title; an abstract of the article of up to 150 words; the Journal of Economic Literature classification codes for the article (consisting of a single letter followed by two numeric digits, see www.aeaweb.org/journal/jel_class_system.html); and up to six key words or short phrases.

Footnotes should be kept to a minimum and the Harvard referencing system should be used.

Submission of a paper will be held to imply that it contains original unpublished work and is not being submitted for publication elsewhere.

The JOIE Editors will preliminarily assess all papers. A paper will be rejected at this first stage if it does not comply with the above guidelines, is evidently of insufficient academic quality or interest, or lies outside the scope of the journal. If a paper passes this preliminary assessment, then it will be sent out to referees. The five Editors will make the final decision, taking account of the referee's reports.

If the article is accepted, the author will be asked to comply with the format and house style of JOIE, as exhibited in issues of the journal from June 2005.

AIMS

"Institutions are the stuff of social and economic life. Many influential organizations, including the World Bank, have recognized the importance of institutions for economic development. The Nobel Prize has been awarded to Ronald Coase, Douglass North, Gunnar Myrdal and Simon Kuznets for their pioneering work in institutional economics."

"The Journal of Institutional Economics is devoted to the study of the nature, role and evolution of institutions in the economy, including firms, states, markets, money, households and other vital institutions and organizations. It welcomes contributions by all schools of thought that can contribute to our understanding of the features, development and functions of real world economic institutions and organizations."

"Many economists regard the principle of scarcity as central. However, this principle is not generally extended to scarcity of human cognitive or calculative abilities: these are often assumed to be unlimited. Furthermore, social institutions are often assumed as given, freely available, or producible at insignificant cost. In contrast, institutional economics regards institutions as costly to produce, and sees human beings as reliant on social customs and institutions in order to make decisions. Institutional economics addresses the issues of learning and cognition, and their relationship with institutional structures, cultures, routines, and habits."

"The Journal of Institutional Economics is dedicated to the development of cutting edge research within this broad conception of institutional economics. It encompasses research in both the 'original' and 'new' traditions of institutional economics, from Gustav Schmoller, Thorstein Veblen, John R. Commons, Wesley Mitchell and Gunnar Myrdal, to Ronald Coase, Oliver Williamson, Douglass North and many others."

"The Journal of Institutional Economics promotes theoretical and empirical research that enhances our understanding of the nature, origin, role and evolution of socio-economic institutions. Ideas from many disciplines, such as anthropology, biology, geography, history, politics, psychology, philosophy, social theory and sociology, as well as economics itself, are important for this endeavor."

"Papers with some formal content will be considered if it is fully explained for a general readership, the mathematics is consigned as much as possible to appendices, the assumptions have sufficient grounding in reality, and the paper enhances our understanding of past, present, or feasible socio-economic institutions. The Journal of Institutional Economics is not interested in the advancement of formal or econometric technique for their own sake."
