

Prayer and Meditation

5s     Hard bound     ACTS FOR MENTAL PRAYER     Anselm Rutherford
A new edition of a little book of ejaculations mostly taken from the Liturgy, the psalms and the Bible, first published in 1921.

6s     Hard bound     SEEKING GOD     Bruno Scott James
'This is perfectly described as "a book on prayer in the great tradition – a simple and uncompromising book" . . . Although the last chapters envisage priests and religious the earlier sections are meant for everyone who wishes to pray, and to keep praying'.
Irish Ecclesiastical Record

9s 6d     Imitation leather     WHERE SILENCE IS PRAISE     A. Guillerand
'Short extracts from the letters and counsels' of this Carthusian monk 'treat of a wide range of topics but all are characterized by the deep reflection of a man whose life was centred in God'.
Life of the Spirit

25s     Hard bound
Plates and decorative maps     THE MONK OF FARNE     ed. Dom Hugh Farmer
These 14th Century meditations 'have a freshness and simplicity which one feels at once to be the fruit of deep prayer . . . A valuable and interesting historical and biographical introduction from Dom Hugh Farmer gives the contemporary scene'. –
Duckett's Register

To be published in November:

15s     Imitation leather     PRAYER     The Abbot of Downside

5s     Paperback     An Adventure in Living
This short book is not a study of the theory of prayer, but an introduction to its practice. The chapter titles are:
(1) Presuppositions;     (2) Rule of Prayer;
(3) Corporate Prayer;     (4) The Adventure of Prayer;
(5) Prayer and Life;     (6) Crisis;
(7) Books;     (8) Gurus and Guides;
(9) Life as Prayer.

Darton, Longman & Todd

29a Gloucester Road, London, S.W.7

Recently Published

A Guide to Reading the Bible

DANIEL LUPTON

7/-

The American publishers of Christ in Us have now sponsored a companion volume which has the same simplicity and life as its predecessor. For schools, enquirers, and all Christians, here is an aid to reading the most difficult and important of all books.

Whom God hath not Joined

CLAIRE McCAULEY

7/- net

Catholics do not believe in divorce and this can cause great hardship. Here is an account of a Catholic who married, was divorced, remarried, and wanted to remain a Catholic. There were children from the second marriage so separation was not possible. There is an answer, for heroes, to this problem. The author made use of that answer.

From Limbo to Heaven

VINCENT WILKIN

7/- net

Limbo and Heaven are words not infrequently used. What do we really mean by them? Are they quite as ridiculous as they are sometimes made to sound? Above all, what is involved in the famous controversy about the fate of the unbaptised? These are the problems with which the author copes.

Search your Soul, Eustace

MARGARET MAISON

12/6 net

The religious novel, particularly that of Queen Victoria's age, not only conveys a world of attitudes, but is often very funny and very tragic. Margaret Maison, examining the attitudes, shows us not simply how incidentally funny, but also how tragic.

SHEED & WARD