

Support Available

The above is a sample of the kinds of questions about the nature and extent of American women's political participation which the Florence Eagleton Grants Program seeks to address through its 1976-1977 awards.

Proposals may vary widely. Possible designs include quantitative studies, historical accounts, theoretical analyses, biographical studies, qualitative observation. Projects must focus on women and public life at local levels, and must be conducted within the ten-month period of the program. Other aspects of the program include:

Four to six grants will be awarded to persons of diverse backgrounds and points of view.

Proposals will be welcome from persons with political, community and organizational experience, as well as from those with academic or professional backgrounds.

Grants range from $5,000 to $10,000 and cover the period from September 1976 through June 1977.

Grantees will meet every two months at the Center for the American Woman and Politics. New Jersey residence is not required.

Selected research findings and program reports will be disseminated under CAWP sponsorship.

Proposals will be judged on the basis of originality, significance, suitability of method and approach, and qualifications of the applicant for executing the proposed project.

Completed applications and supplementary materials must be received by March 31, 1976. For application forms, send a self-addressed, stamped (30¢) manila envelope to: Center for the American Woman and Politics, Eagleton Institute of Politics, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, New Jersey 08901.

---

Northwestern University Public Management Fellowships

---

Northwestern University's Graduate School of Management announces the availability of Public Management Fellowships. The awards provide tuition grants ($3840) and living stipends for each of the two years required to earn the Master's Degree in Public Management.

The program is designed to provide each student with the managerial skills with which to better solve public sector problems. In addition to Public Management, each student also has the opportunity to specialize in other disciplines such as Industrial Relations, Finance, Transportation, etc.

Northwestern is located in the large "urban laboratory" of metropolitan Chicago and the School draws heavily upon the resources of the area.

For further information contact: Director of Admissions, Graduate School of Management, Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois 60201.

---

Announcement of Awards

---

1976 Guggenheim Fellows

---

Thirteen political scientists are among the 1976 John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation Fellows. The political scientists and their projects are:

John A. Armstrong, Jr., University of Wisconsin, Madison: Ethnic interactions among multi-ethnic polities.

Robert Jeffrey Art, Brandeis University: Strategy, politics, and organization in America's defense policy, 1957-1974.

Reinhard Bendix, University of California, Berkeley: Sacred and secular foundations of sovereign authority.

Allan Bloom, University of Toronto: Studies on the education of democratic man.

Jonathan D. Casper, Stanford University: The impact of court experience upon defendants' attitudes toward law and legal institutions.

Philip E. Converse, University of Michigan: Political representation in France.

Milton C. Cummings, Jr., Johns Hopkins University: Government and the performing arts in the United States.

Dante L. Germino, University of Virginia: Studies in political theory and the idea of the open society.

Charles V. Hamilton, Columbia University: Minority groups and urban political decision making.

George McTurnan Kahin, Cornell University: The effects of American intervention on the political character of the states of Southeast Asia.

Martin Kilson, Harvard University: Political change in urban black communities.

Lloyd I. Rudolph, University of Chicago: Power and authority in the administrative life of princely India.

Michael Walzer, Harvard University: The theory of just war.

---

1975-76 Conference Group on German Politics Awards

---

The Conference Group on German Politics (CGGP), an independent voluntary organization of scholars who devote a major portion of their professional work to the study of German affairs, has appointed Interns and Scholars-in-

Residence for the 1975-76 period, with cooperation of the offices involved.

The programs are supported by the CGGP with partial assistance from some of the offices and partial travel assistance from the Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst (DAAD).

Interns

Internships combine study with contributions to the work of the office. Interns spend periods ranging from two to nine months in a German or other European governmental or quasi-governmental office. These awards are generally for students or younger scholars or governmental officials.

The following appointments have been made for the 1975-76 period:

Leilani E. Allen, Graduate Student in Political Science, University of Connecticut; Deutscher Gewerkschaftsbund, Dusseldorf, and on assignment with ILO in Geneva.

James Cooney, Assistant to the Assistant Chancellor, University of Massachusetts, Boston; Deutscher Bundestag, Wissenschaftliche Dienste.

Peter Jelavich, 1975 Graduate in History, Amherst College; Informationszentrum Berlin.

Joyce Mushaben, Graduate Student in Political Science and German, Indiana University; Informationszentrum Berlin.

Douglas Coutts, Graduate Student in International Studies, University of Surrey, England; Informationszentrum Berlin.

Scholars-in-Residence

This program provides scholars or officials an opportunity for intensive observation of the activities of German or other European offices in order to stimulate research planning or gain experience relevant to their teaching or work. A contribution to the work of the office is not expected, nor is the interest of the grantee to be limited by a specific research project.

The following appointment was made for 1975-76:

Margot Nyitray, Assistant Professor of Political Science, University of Missouri, St. Louis/USA, Wissenschaftsrat, Cologne.

The CGGP Intern and Scholar Selection Committee was composed of Professor Louise Holborn, Florida, Chairman; Professor Gerard Braunthal, Massachusetts; CGGP Chairman George K. Romoser, New Hampshire; and former intern D. Brent Smith, Harvard.

1976-77 Programs

Limited funds for programs in 1976-77 may be available. Inquiries should be directed to the CGGP at P.O. Box 345, Durham, New Hampshire 03824. Detailed application forms will be sent.

---

1975-76 Fulbright-Hays Visiting Scholars

---

Ten scholars in the area of political science and public administration are visiting in the United States as 1975-76 Fulbright-Hays Visiting Scholars. The scholars, their host institutions and their topics of interest are as follows:

Alberto Aquarone, University of Rome; University of California, Berkeley; Nationalism and imperialism, Origin of U.S. imperialism.

Samuel K. B. Asante, University of Ghana, Legon; SUNY, Brockport; Pan-Africanism; political leadership in Africa.

Jean Barrea, Catholic University, Louvain; University of Pittsburgh; Theory of international relations and security.

Antony J. Black, University of Dundee; American University School of Public Affairs; History of political thought.

Yeon-Shik Chung, Kyungpook National University, Taegu; SUNY, Buffalo; Nationalism in Asia, Africa; leadership in emerging nations.

Hitoshi Hanai, Kyoto Sangyo University; University of California, Los Angeles; U.S.-Japan relations, 1952-1973.

Randhir Bahadur Jain, University of Delhi; Georgetown University; U.S. foreign service: organizational structure and modern diplomacy.

Alexandre Marc, University of Nice; Various institutions; Methodology, federalism.

Ichiro, Takizawa, Defense Academy, Yokosuka; Columbia University; Postwar Soviet-Japanese relations.

Vucina Vasovic, University of Belgrade; Yale University; Pluralism and comparative political systems.

---

University of West Florida MPA Program Grant

---

The University of West Florida M.P.A. program is the recipient of an institutional grant under Title IX of the Higher Education Act to develop a Coastal Zone Management emphasis. The program also received a grant for public service fellowships and preference for fellows is given to M.P.A. candidates electing the Coastal Zone Management option.

---

Office of Education Grant on Policy Formation in Western Europe and Japan

---

The U.S. Office of Education has awarded Professors Douglas E. Ashford, J. J. Pempel and Peter Katzenstein of Cornell University $38,524 to support a seminar on policy formation in Western Europe and Japan. The seminar will focus on six major policy questions confronting the governments of Great Britain,

Announcement of Awards

France, the German Federal Republic and Japan. The competition is based on innovative approaches to instruction in comparative and international politics.

The seminar will be offered by the Graduate School of Business and Public Administration and the Department of Government of the Arts College. The aim is to bring faculty and students from several components of the University into a common discussion, including problems of administrative reform, economic planning, urban government, labor relations, race relations and higher education. The grant has been made to the Western Societies Program of the Center of International Studies.

The funds will enable the sponsors to invite guests to the campus, appoint a post-doctoral fellow, and provide graduate student support. In conjunction with the seminar, a workshop will also be organized to relate American policy studies to the problems raised in the context of other advanced industrial societies. The central theme will be how the growth of managerial and bureaucratic expertise has affected democratic control and representation in industrial societies.

---

Ford Foundation Awards to Cambodian and Vietnamese Displaced Scholars

---

Fourteen Cambodian and Vietnamese social scientists are among a group of 42 scholars selected by the Ford Foundation to receive research and training fellowships for displaced scholars.

Ford Foundation concern for scholars and intellectuals displaced from their native countries dates back to the early 1950s, when assistance was provided to post-World War II refugees, principally from Eastern Europe. In the past year, the Foundation has similarly aided intellectuals from the Soviet Union and Chile.

The social scientists to receive awards and their interests are:

Tran Nhu Chuong, A cross-cultural study of Vietnamese and American value systems.

Ngo Ton Dat, South Vietnam—the last 100 days.

Luong Kim Dinh, Dong Son Culture of Vietnam.

Cao The Dung, Role of the Chinese merchant in Vietnam's rice market.

Le Thuc Lan, Impact of the Vietnam problem on the role and work of the U.S. Congress.

Truong Hoang Lem, Introducing administrative changes in a developing country, a case study of South Vietnam, 1973-1975.

Tran Van Liem, Public and civil laws of Vietnam since 1954.

Nguyen Phung, Political loyalty, expertise, and policy formulation in developing countries.

Nguyen Huu Phuoc, Comparison of value orientations between the American and Vietnamese people with special emphasis on teacher-student relationship.

Ta Van Tai, Justice, Vietnamese style.

Diep Xuan Tan, Public enterprise as an instrument of national development.

Cao Van Than, Investigation of land systems in Vietnam.

Touneh Han Tho, Problems of the ethnic minority people of South Vietnam.

Pham Van Yen, Analysis of mentality and characteristics of Vietnamese people.

---

1975-76 Brookings Research Fellows

---

The Brookings Institution has announced its 1975-76 Research Fellows in Governmental Studies and in Foreign Policy. The Fellows are:

Governmental Studies

Charles J. Lieberman, of the University of California at Santa Barbara, who is writing a dissertation on "Fiscal Policy Formation in Congress: The Economic Advisory and Decision-Making Process."

Eve Lubalin, Johns Hopkins University, "The Senate as a Presidential Incubator: The Impact of Political Ambition on Legislative Behavior and the Policy-Making Process."

Paul Quirk, Harvard University, "Corporate Power and Regulatory Policy: Sources of Regulatee Influence on Regulatory Agencies."

Foreign Policy Studies

Ava Feiner, Harvard University, "The Impact of U.S. Multinational Corporations on U.S. Foreign Policy in the Twentieth Century: Changing Corporate Political Behavior and Protection Strategies."

Linda Freyer, University of Minnesota, "A Distributional Analysis of U.S. Foreign Agricultural Policy: Who Wins, Who Loses."

For general information on Brookings Institution Fellowships write to Ms. Judith H. Parris, The Brookings Institution, 1775 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Students, professors, and those interested in the study of politics and government are invited to become members of the AMERICAN POLITICAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION

JOIN APSA

membership includes:

THE AMERICAN POLITICAL SCIENCE REVIEW—quarterly journal of scholarly articles and book reviews in political science, and

PS—quarterly journal of association news and articles of professional concern.

Opportunity to register in the APSA Personnel Service—currently lists the largest number of political science teaching and research positions.

Attend the APSA Annual Meeting, September 2-5, 1976, Chicago, Illinois.

.....
Name _____

Mailing Address _____

_____ (Zip) _____

This is an application for membership. Upon receipt of this form we will mail you a membership card and begin a year's subscription to the AMERICAN POLITICAL SCIENCE REVIEW and PS.

Student $12

Annual

if your annual income is under $12,000 _____ $20

$12-15,000 _____ $25

over $15,000 _____ $30

Please send with remittance to:

Membership Secretary

AMERICAN POLITICAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION

1527 New Hampshire Ave., N.W.

Washington, D.C. 20036

Add $2 for foreign postage.