Basic Strategy in Context centres on real-world firms and managers by giving each chapter's cases a higher weighting in importance and explanation than is normal. Given this emphasis on real-world as opposed to theoretical treatment the book enables the solving of practical business problems.

This emphasis on reality is cemented by the book's treatment of diversity as being the norm highlighted through European business cases from different countries. Giving example answers and highlighted links from case to theory rams home further the expected usefulness of the book to students about to enter industry.

Often theory and cases are treated as different and separated topics but here the integrated didactic treatment is quite unique.

The basic theories of strategy are used to show how these mainly simple concepts can be extended to solve tricky business problems anywhere in any industry.

"This is an agile book on strategy where the text moves smoothly between cases and theory to facilitate student learning about the problems and understanding of the reality of business decision making ... The authors happily match strategy and organization to show students what is really involved in the practice of strategy."

Professor Gianni Lorenzoni, President of Alma Graduate School, University of Bologna

"Thomson and Baden-Fuller have crafted a highly original and practical strategy textbook covering a wide range of strategic issues, debates, and frameworks"

Paul W.L. Vlaar, Associate Professor, Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam, Faculty of Economics and Business Management

Neil Thomson is Professor of International Business at the University of Applied Sciences, Nürnberg, Germany. He has extensive industrial experience in the oil industry and consulting, as well as a spell working for the US Government as a financial controller.

Charles Baden-Fuller is Centenary Professor of Strategic Management at the Cass Business School, City University London. He is Editor-in-Chief of the LRP journal and co-author of Rejuvenating the Mature Business and Strategic Innovation.
