Judaism in Biological Perspective

Biblical Lore and Judaic Practices

Amotz Zahavi

"This is a book with a powerful punch. Religious traditionalists have withstood the onslaught of post-Enlightenment critique and emerged as enlightened practitioners of ancient traditions. This book is the first one dealing in depth with specific practices of a specific religion—Judaism from a biological perspective has never been treated as seriously and respectfully as it is in this pioneering venture. It should be widely read as the beginning of an honest paradigm shift."

—Norman Adler, University Professor of Psychology, Yeshiva College

"In recent years, evolutionary anthropologists and psychologists have begun to develop theories of religion as a central part of humanity's complex social life. Judaism is an ideal case study for exploration of these theories. It is an ancient tradition that has extended its influence and ethical values into much of the contemporary world, serving as a moral compass to millions of people. Explored here in evolutionary terms is Judaism's survival power and ongoing influence. This book is rich in new insights that should be of interest to those interested in Judaism and evolutionary theory."

—William Irons, Professor of Anthropology, Northwestern University

"Goldberg has made a philosophically important step forward in assembling and editing this work."
—Jewish Book World

"The study of religion from an evolutionary perspective has the potential to radically alter and deepen our understanding of religion. Goldberg's volume bears witness to this potential and, as such, is a worthy addition to this blossoming field."

AJS Review

THE JOURNAL OF THE ASSOCIATION FOR JEWISH STUDIES

INSTRUCTIONS FOR CONTRIBUTORS

AJS Review publishes scholarly articles and book reviews covering the field of Jewish Studies. From biblical and rabbinic textual and historical studies to modern history, social sciences, the arts, and literature, the journal welcomes articles of interest to both academic and lay audiences around the world. A substantial portion of each volume is devoted to reviews of the latest Judaic scholarship and review essays on current trends in the field.

MANUSCRIPT SUBMISSION

Manuscripts for consideration should be e-mailed as a MS Word or rich text file to the AJS Review managing editor at ajsreview@ajs.cjh.org. Articles will be put through a process of blind refereeing. Authors should avoid any identifying references in their submissions and provide a separate title page with their name, contact information, and institutional affiliation along with a short abstract (ca. 200 words). Manuscripts should conform to Chicago Manual of Style, ed. 15. Authors of accepted articles will be asked to prepare a final version in the journal's style, which is available online at: www.ajsnet.org/ajsreview.htm

COPYRIGHT

Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not been previously published and is not being considered for publication elsewhere. Authors must obtain written permission for material for which they do not own the copyright. A Copyright Transfer Agreement, with certain specified rights reserved by the author, must be signed and returned to the Editors by senior authors of accepted manuscripts, prior to publication. This is necessary for the protection of both author and the Association under copyright law.
