The Cambridge Ancient History

Volume VI: The Fourth Century BC
Second Edition

*Edited by D. M. Lewis, John Boardman,
Simon Hornblower and M. Ostwald*

Volume VI of the new edition of The Cambridge Ancient History covers years which include the rise of Macedon and the campaigns of Alexander the Great. The volume treats the politics and economy not only of old Greece but also of the Near East and the western Mediterranean.

The Cambridge Ancient History, Plates to Volumes V and VI

Plates to Volumes V and VI
The Fifth and Fourth Centuries BC
New Edition

Edited by John Boardman

This volume complements the publication of the second edition of The Cambridge Ancient History Volumes V and VI, which cover the history of Greece and associated areas between the Persian Wars and the death of Alexander the Great. It is also intended to be an independent account of the physical evidence for Greek culture in this period and deals, therefore, with some subjects barely discussed in the text volumes, as well as serving as an illustrated commentary on their main themes.

Pindar: Victory Odes

Olympians 2, 7 and 11; Nemean 4; Isthmians 3, 4 and 7

M. M. Willcock

The Greek lyric poet Pindar is renowned for his poems celebrating the victories of athletes in the great games of Greece at Olympia, Delphi (the Pythian Games), Corinth (the Isthmian Games) and Nemea. Professor Willcock presents seven of the extant odes, progressing by level of difficulty from a short and straightforward poem to one of the greatest and most complex.

The Rhetoric of Identity in Isocrates

Text, Power, Pedagogy

Yun Lee Too

The Rhetoric of Identity in Isocrates provides an interpretation of an important fourth-century Athenian author to show how he uses writing to provide a model of political engagement which is distinct from his own contemporaries' and from our own notions of political involvement. It also demonstrates that ancient rhetorical discourse raises issues of contemporary relevance.

Justice and Generosity

Studies in Hellenistic Social and Political Philosophy - Proceedings of the Sixth Symposium Hellenisticum

Edited by André Laks and Malcolm Schofield

Hegel's often-echoed verdict on the apolitical character of philosophy in the Hellenistic age is challenged in this collection of new essays, originally presented at the sixth meeting of the Symposium Hellenisticum. An international team of leading scholars reveals a vigorous intellectual scene of great diversity.

READING FOR EPICURES

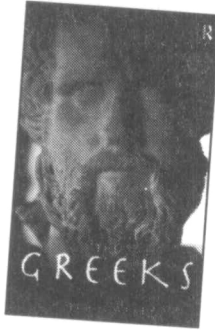

The Greeks

An Introduction to their Culture

Robin Sowerby, University of Stirling

The Greeks is an indispensable introduction to the culture of ancient Greece for all students of Classics, and an invaluable guide for students of other disciplines who require a grounding in Greek civilization. The volume covers literature, drama, philosophy and art, as well as providing social and historical context. In addition, there are maps, a chronological chart, and useful guidance on further reading.

Ancient Greek Agriculture

An Introduction

Signe Isager, University of Odense

and J.E. Skydsgaard,

University of Copenhagen

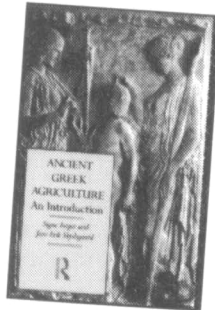

'... throws much light on basic agricultural practices, of which most of us are ignorant'

– Greece & Rome

Agriculture was the dominant economic activity of ancient Greece. This thorough and lucid introduction discusses the natural conditions, the techniques, the plants cultivated and the animals reared.

The Greek World

Edited by Anton Powell, University of Wales

'Scholarly but accessible, wide-ranging in both time and space, yet having well-signposted thematic concentrations ... The Greek World has much to offer to specialist and non-specialist students of ancient Greek society, civilization and culture alike.' – Paul Cartledge, University of Cambridge

This ground-breaking work is both a reference collection of 27 new essays by leading specialists in their own fields, and also a collective demonstration of major new directions in the study of ancient Greece.

Periods studied range from the Mycenaean to the late Hellenistic; the Greek cultures in question are not only those of mainland Greece but include Asia Minor, Egypt and Italy.
