THE PASSAGE OF POWER

The Years of Lyndon Johnson

by Robert A. Caro

The fourth installment in Robert Caro's monumental biography, The Years of Lyndon Johnson, which began with his prize-winning volumes The Path to Power, Means of Ascent, and Master of the Senate.

The Passage of Power follows Johnson through both the most frustrating and the most triumphant periods of his career: from his volatile relationship with John Kennedy and Robert Kennedy during the fight they waged for the 1960 Democratic nomination for president through Johnson's unhappy vice presidency. It gives us for the first time the story of the assassination from the viewpoint of Lyndon Johnson himself and reveals what it was like to suddenly become president in a time of great crisis—an assumption of presidential power unprecedented in American history. It is Johnson's finest hour, before his aspirations and his accomplishments were overshadowed and eroded by the trap of Vietnam.

Knopf | Cloth | 736 pages | $35.00

THE DICTATOR'S LEARNING CURVE

Inside the Global Battle for Democracy

by William J. Dobson

Today's authoritarian regimes—ever-morphing, technologically savvy, and internationally connected—are increasingly facing opposition from an unlikely army of democracy advocates—students, bloggers, environmentalists, lawyers, activists, and millionaires. In his riveting portrait of authoritarianism in peril William J. Dobson takes us inside the relentless battle between these dictators and the people challenging their rule, revealing how each side is honing its strategies for the war that will define our age.

“A brilliant and original analysis of the nature of modern authoritarianism.”
—Anne Applebaum, author of the Pulitzer Prize-winning Gulag

Doubleday | Cloth | 352 pages | $28.95

THE GREAT INVERSION AND THE FUTURE OF THE AMERICAN

by Alan Ehrenhalt

An eye-opening and thoroughly engaging look at our urban society and its future.

“Alan Ehrenhalt shows us how a desire for urbanism is bringing people back to America's downtowns, and what suburbs and communities of all sorts must do to thrive in the future. . . . [A] must read for anyone concerned with American cities, urbanism, and the future of the way we live.”

—Richard Florida, author of Who's Your City?

“[Ehrenhalt] has written a balanced, hard-hitting book that is a persuasive forecast of our complex urban future.”

—Witold Rybczynski, author of Makeshift Metropolis

Knopf | Cloth | 288 pages | $26.95

WHITE HOUSE BURNING

The Founding Fathers, Our National Debt, and Why It Matters to You

by Simon Johnson and James Kwak

“By skillfully placing the debt debate in an insightful historical context and providing detailed recommendations, Johnson and Kwak make a major and timely contribution to a national debate. . . . [A] must-read for those wondering about the relationship between the national debt and America's challenges; the choices that we must make to restore fiscal viability, promote growth, create jobs, and reduce inequality; and the way that polarized politics torpedoed coherent discussion of these complex issues.”

—Mohamed A. El-Erian, author of When Markets Collide

Pantheon | Cloth | 368 pages | $26.95

RIGHTS AT RISK

The Limits of Liberty in Modern America

by David K. Shipler

Pulitzer Prize-winner David K. Shipler explores the territory where the Constitution meets everyday America: where legal compromises have undermined the criminal justice system's fairness, enhanced the executive branch's power over citizens and immigrants, and impaired some of the freewheeling debate and protest essential in a constitutional democracy.

An enlightening, intensely researched examination of violations of the constitutional principles that preserve individual rights and civil liberties from courtrooms to classrooms, Rights at Risk shows us the shadows of America where the civil liberties we rightly take for granted have been eroded—and summons us to reclaim them.

Knopf | Cloth | 400 pages | $28.95

THE RIGHTS OF THE PEOPLE

How Our Search for Safety Invades Our Liberties

by David K. Shipler

“David Shipler's panoramic canvas portrays in vivid detail how our right to be ‘secure against unreasonable searches and seizures’ (in the words of the Bill of Rights) is being undermined not only by the excesses of our antiterrorism strategies but also by everyday policing. As a consummate reporter, Shipler has done a prodigious service to the Constitution by going beyond abstractions to show why we, like the framers, should insist on safeguarding the Fourth Amendment's protection of our privacy, liberty, and individuality.”

—Susan Herman, president of the ACLU and author of Taking Liberties

Vintage | Paper | 496 pages | $16.95

THE WORLD AMERICA MADE

by Robert Kagan

Robert Kagan, one of the country's most influential strategic thinkers, asserts that much of the current pessimism concerning America is misplaced and paints a vivid, alarming picture of what the world might look like if the United States were truly to let its influence wane.

“The book makes the case that the nation's decline is a myth, a reaction to the financial crisis of 2008 rather than to any genuine geopolitical shifts.”

—The New York Times

“An extended and convincing argument against the thesis that there is anything inevitable about American decline.”

—Max Boot, Commentary

Knopf | Cloth | 160 pages | $21.00

How to Win an Election

An Ancient Guide for Modern Politicians

Quintus Tullius Cicero

Translated and with an introduction by Philip Freeman

“Given the lowly state of politics these days, this ancient Roman handbook on electioneering shows how little has changed. Freeman has done a masterful job of bringing this delightful text into the modern day—so masterful that one might think it was actually a spoof.”

—Gary Hart, former U.S. senator

Cloth $9.95 978-0-691-15408-4

Governing America

The Revival of Political History

Julian E. Zelizer

“Governing America offers us an opportunity to observe one of the country’s best political historians working at the top of his game. Zelizer’s range is extraordinary, and he brings a penetrating intelligence to every topic he touches. No scholar working today has a better grasp of how the key institutions of American democracy have evolved over time, and how they have translated political demands emanating from society into state policy.”

—Gary Gerstle, Vanderbilt University

Cloth $35.00 978-0-691-15073-4

Overreach

Leadership in the Obama Presidency

George C. Edwards III

“Presidents facing criticism or difficulties—which is to say, all of them—normally blame their problems on a failure to communicate rather than their own policy choices. With a special focus on Barack Obama, though, Overreach shows us that presidential choices are the key, since attempts to use communication skills to change hearts and minds are largely doomed to failure.”

—Andrew Rudalevige, Dickinson College

Cloth $29.95 978-0-691-15368-1

The Unheavenly Chorus

Unequal Political Voice and the Broken Promise of American Democracy

Kay Lehman Schlozman, Sidney Verba & Henry E. Brady

“This book is one of a kind. It represents a major statement about the current state of American democracy, political participation, social class, and social inequality. The Unheavenly Chorus gives overwhelming evidence that something is wrong with our political system and needs to be fixed. I believe this is one of the most important books of the decade.”

—Frank R. Baumgartner, coauthor of Agendas and Instability in American Politics

Cloth $35.00 978-0-691-15484-8

The Oil Curse

How Petroleum Wealth Shapes the Development of Nations

Michael L. Ross

“The Oil Curse is the best and most thorough examination that we have of the causes and consequences of oil wealth for poorly governed states. Oil revenues are massive, opaque, and volatile; they destroy the relationship between a state and its own citizens. Ross substantiates some of the common assertions about oil wealth, finds that others are incorrect, and offers some surprising discoveries.”

—Stephen D. Krasner, Stanford University

Cloth $29.95 978-0-691-14545-7

Creating a New Racial Order

How Immigration, Multiracialism, Genomics, and the Young Can Remake Race in America

Jennifer L. Hochschild, Vesla M. Weaver & Traci R. Burch

“This is a wide-ranging exploration of how America looks, thinks, and lives in terms of race as we go into this new millennium. Bridging political science, sociology, and the burgeoning study of DNA, the authors show us that racial order remains one of the most reliable ways of organizing our past and present as Americans, even as that order is dynamic and indeed transformed over time.”

—Henry Louis Gates Jr., Harvard University

Monitoring Democracy

When International Election Observation Works, and Why It Often Fails

Judith G. Kelley

“In this book, Judith Kelley shows her skills as a political detective, demonstrating with impressive social science that under certain conditions—not all—election monitoring promotes democracy. If you read only one book on election monitoring, read Monitoring Democracy.”

—Robert O. Keohane, Princeton University

Three Worlds of Relief

Race, Immigration, and the American Welfare State from the Progressive Era to the New Deal

Cybelle Fox

“Fox traces the distinct paths of blacks, Mexicans, and white immigrants as they were incorporated into the American welfare state in the key decades culminating in the New Deal. Her argument is fresh and original, her research meticulous, and her prose elegant. Three Worlds of Relief is an intellectual tour de force that sets a new scholarly agenda.”

The Politics of Precaution

Regulating Health, Safety, and Environmental Risks in Europe and the United States

David Vogel

“This is comparative politics at its very best. Vogel takes the reader on a fascinating transatlantic journey to show how and why regulatory leadership shifts with political pressures, elite preferences, and new views on risk management. His book should be required reading for everyone concerned about the safety of man and environment.”

—Lennart J. Lundqvist, University of Gothenburg, Sweden

Cloth $39.50 978-0-691-12416-2

A Virtue for Courageous Minds

Moderation in French Political Thought, 1748–1830

Aurelian Craiutu

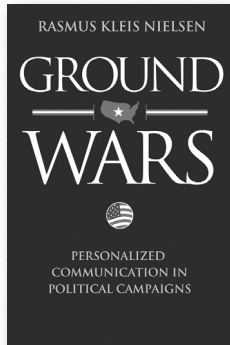

“Aurelian Craiutu has written a superb book. The lost virtue of moderation—what Tacitus called ‘the most difficult lesson of wisdom’—has at last been given voice. It would be a nice irony if it took a group of French thinkers to teach contemporary Americans something about the value of political moderation and constitutional government. I hope this book will be widely read, especially by our elected officials.”

—Steven Smith, Yale University

Ground Wars

Personalized Communication in Political Campaigns

Rasmus Kleis Nielsen

“Nielsen presents a very compelling analysis of an often-neglected aspect of modern electoral campaigns. He challenges the idea that political communication must be tightly controlled and scripted, correctly arguing that personalized, labor-intensive communication prone to individual inflection and enthusiasm represents American democracy in action. Ground Wars is an important and timely book.”

—Dennis W. Johnson, author of No Place for Amateurs

A Dictionary of 20th-Century Communism

Edited by Silvio Pons & Robert Service

“Access to archives in the former Soviet Union and its satellites behind the iron curtain has enabled the 160 scholars who contributed articles to this compendium to present information formerly out of the reach of all but a few in those countries. . . . No other comparable, current source covers twentieth-century communism in similar topical fashion.”

America's Mission

The United States and the Worldwide Struggle for Democracy
Expanded Edition

Tony Smith

A Century Foundation Book

“[Smith's] account of the 20th century is just about as close to unputdownable as it gets in the genre of political history, and ends up advocating what seems to be an appropriate level of optimism for what remains, after all, a terrifying and chaotic world.”

Perman surveys the entire span of southern political history from 1800 to the present. He reveals continuous political crisis in the 19th century, followed by the era of the “Solid South,” the one-party monopoly in the 20th century that began to crumble after the passage of the Voting Rights Act. Along the way he highlights an array of unusual and colorful southern politicians, such as John C. Calhoun, William Mahone, James K. Vardaman, Huey Long, George Wallace, and Lyndon Johnson.

“Perman’s new political history of the South is the first of its kind. No other volume synthesizes the regions political history from the earliest years of the new nation to the present.”

—Georgia Historical Quarterly

“A masterful introduction to the complexities of southern political history . . . identifies and explains the main themes of southern political life over two centuries.”
