

LibertyPress LibertyClassics

Economics and the Public Welfare
Financial and Economic History
Financial and Economic History
United States, 1914-1946

By Benjamin M. Anderson

“In the direct handling of economic life, governments are usually clumsy and ineffective. In economic life their main business should be that of a traffic cop, not that of a driver, and above all not that of a back-seat driver,” says the author of this insightful history. The wisdom of his viewpoint is confirmed by Dr. Anderson’s careful account of American financial and economic events beginning before World War I and ending with the Bretton Woods Conference after World War II.

Benjamin M. Anderson taught economics at Columbia, Harvard, and the University of California. He was an economist for the Chase Manhattan Bank and for many years edited the Chase Economic Bulletin.

Hardcover $10.00, Paperback $4.50

We pay postage, but require prepayment, on orders from individuals. Please allow four to six weeks for delivery. To order this book, or for a copy of our catalog, write:
LibertyPress/LibertyClassics
7440 North Shadeland, Dept. 664
Indianapolis, Indiana 46250

LibertyPress LibertyClassics

What Should Economists Do?

By James M. Buchanan

This collection brings together Buchanan's important essays on method, many of them previously unpublished. Such a volume, note H. Geoffrey Brennan and Robert D. Tollison in their preface, "provides relatively easy access to a group of significant papers on methodology in economics, written by a man whose work has spawned a methodological revolution in the way economists and other scholars think about government and governmental activity."

James M. Buchanan is University Distinguished Professor and General Director of the Center for Study of Public Choice, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. As a founder of the burgeoning subdiscipline of public choice, and as a public finance theorist and father of a modern school of public finance, Buchanan's work has had worldwide recognition. Hardcover $8.00, Paperback $3.50.

We pay postage, but require prepayment, on orders from individuals. Please allow four to six weeks for delivery. To order this book, or for a copy of our catalog, write:
LibertyPress/LibertyClassics
7440 North Shadeland, Dept. 665
Indianapolis, Indiana 46250

The Building of Renaissance Florence

An Economic and Social History

Richard A. Goldthwaite

Fifteenth-century Florence was a showcase for the finest art and architecture of the age. By examining the microcosm of a single industry—construction—Richard A. Goldthwaite develops a comprehensive economic and social picture of one of the most dynamic cities in Renaissance Europe. Goldthwaite describes the transformation of Florentine society in terms of an intense recycling of wealth through the art market. He demonstrates how patrons' demands for larger and more elaborate structures and furnishings interacted with the art, industry, and technology of the time to propel Florence to the cultural forefront of the Italian Renaissance. $27.50

 Johns Hopkins

The Johns Hopkins University Press, Baltimore, Maryland 21218

THE AMERICAN ECONOMY IN TRANSITION

Edited by Martin Feldstein

The National Bureau of Economic Research marks its sixtieth year with The American Economy in Transition, a provocative book that presents the collected wisdom of twenty-nine distinguished contributors—both academic and practical experts—in an exploration of our country's extended economic malaise.

Cloth 704 pages $20.00

THE ECONOMIC HISTORY OF TURKEY, 1800-1914

Charles Issawi

Cloth 416 pages $20.00

COMPETITION AND COERCION

Blacks in the American Economy, 1865-1914

With a new Preface

Robert Higgs

Paper 224 pages $6.95

The University of Chicago Press Chicago 60637

---

NEW BOOKS FROM MIT

TRANSATLANTIC INDUSTRIAL REVOLUTION:

The Diffusion of Textile Technologies between Britain and America, 1790-1830s
by David J. Jeremy

This book examines the transfer of four specific technologies: cotton spinning, power-loom weaving, calico printing, and woollen manufacturing. It is firmly based on modern economic theory and well illustrated with halftones and line drawings.

David J. Jeremy is a Research Fellow in the Business History Unit at the London School of Economics and Political Science and joint editor of the recently launched Dictionary of Business Biography. On this side of the Atlantic, he has served as Curator at the Merrimack Valley Textile Museum in Massachusetts.

Impressive for its mastery of textile technology, Jeremy's book also addresses broader problems: what conditions facilitate or hinder the transfer of technology between countries, how technologies are modified during the process of transfer, how appropriate technologies are found for a developing country where factor proportions and social conditions differ from those in the country of origin. Its command both of technical detail and of analytical problems gives this book a unique value and commends it to the attention of all serious students of technological change."—Professor Hugh G. J. Aiken, Department of Economics, Amherst College 384 pages—illus —$32.50

Forthcoming

THE PHILOSOPHY OF MANUFACTURES

edited by Michael Folsom and Steven Lubar

This first volume in the series, Documents in American Industrial History, collects the primary texts in the American debate over industrialization between the Revolution and the Civil War. In particular, these reflect the intellectual and ideological forces behind the promotion of manufactures, revealing much about the shaping of our fundamental institutions as the new democracy responded to industrialization.

---

The MIT Press

Massachusetts Institute of Technology
28 Carleton Street
Cambridge, MA 02142

Inventory of the Private Papers of Ludwig Von Mises

Catalogued by L. John Van Til, Ph.D.

---

82 pages · 8½" x 11" paperback

$1.50 via Third Class Mail

$2.00 via First Class Mail

---

Write: Public Relations Office (JEH)

GROVE CITY COLLEGE

Grove City, PA 16127

---

The Grove City College Library is the repository of the personal papers of Ludwig von Mises, distinguished Austrian economist (1881-1973). This valuable collection is available to scholars interested in Mises. Access to the collection may be secured by writing the Dean of the College.

CAMBRIDGE

Crisis in the Making

The Political Economy of New York State Since 1945

Peter D. McClelland and Alan L. Magdovitz

In their searching examination of the fiscal crisis in New York State and New York City, the authors find the origins of the present crisis in long-term economic trends and short-term calculations of politicians and bureaucrats, in the anomalies of the State Constitution and its judicial interpretation, in the self-interested activities of bankers, legislators, and union and government officials, and in the characteristics of the public authority. The first publication in a new series: Studies in Economic History and Policy: The United States in the Twentieth Century. $24.95

English Culture and the Decline of the Industrial Spirit, 1850–1980

Martin Wiener

Drawing on a wide range of sources, Wiener offers illuminating insights into the roots of English ambivalence toward modern industrial society and the link between that ambivalence and Britain's contemporary economic problems. He uncovers and traces the development of an upper and middle class hostility toward industrialism and economic growth, finding its manifestations in literature, journalism, and architecture, and in social, economic, and historical thought. $15.95

Dualism and Discontinuity in Industrial Societies

Suzanne Berger and Michael Piore

Essays analyze the fundamental macroeconomic and political structures of contemporary societies. Piore examines the labor market and its relationship to technological innovation and capital investment. Berger's studies explore the social foundations of political parties, especially in France and Italy, and the crystallization of state policy as it emerges from the interplay of competitive political forces. $17.95

Capitalism and Politics in Russia

A Social History of the Moscow Merchants, 1885–1905

Thomas C. Owen

Owen's revisionist examination provides a legal, demographic, and economic description of the merchants, focusing primarily on the political and cultural factors that inhibit their independence. He concludes with an investigation of the role of the Moscow merchants in the 1905 revolution. $27.50

all prices subject to change

Cambridge University Press

32 East 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10022

THE ECONOMIC HISTORY ASSOCIATION

The Economic History Association was organized in 1940. Its purpose is to encourage research and teaching in the history of economic activity and of economic thought. It seeks to cooperate with societies devoted to the study of agricultural, business, industrial, and labor history. It aims to bring together economists, historians, statisticians, geographers, and others who find that the story of economic change throws light on their field of interest or is enriched by their contribution. Membership is open to all who are interested in the history of economic life in all its phases in the United States and other countries.

The Journal of Economic History is published quarterly by the Economic History Association at North Carolina State University. Manuscripts to be considered for publication in the Journal should be addressed to The Editors, Journal of Economic History, Department of Economics and Business, North Carolina State University, Raleigh, NC 27650. Books for review should be sent to The Editors, Journal of Economic History, Department of Economics, University of Iowa, Iowa City, IA 52242. Applications for membership should be addressed to: Richmond D. Williams, Treasurer, Eleutherian Mills Historical Library, Box 3630 Wilmington, DE 19807.

The 1981 annual meeting of the Economic History Association will be held in St. Louis, MO, 17-19 September at the Chase-Park Plaza Hotel. The preliminary program will be published in the June 1981 issue of the Journal of Economic History.