

and Senate sessions, this Archive includes press conferences, hearings, speeches, debates from the British Parliament, and public policy conferences. The presentation will discuss ways the Archive has been used and how to borrow tapes.

Teaching Issues of American Cultural Pluralism and Law

This course is sponsored in-part by the American Bar Association in response to the increasing interest in exploring issues of multiculturalism in undergraduate core curricula and political science courses. This short course on Teaching Issues of American Cultural Pluralism and Law involves problem-solving exercises drawn from actual court cases designed to help faculty incorporate issues of multiculturalism and law into their classes. The exercises include conflicts over religious freedom and drug use, the use of the cultural defense, and gender rights in the criminal justice system. Case materials will be given to workshop participants for use in their own classrooms.

Poli-Ware Simulations

Stephen Frantzich, Professor of Political Science at the U.S. Naval Academy, has created the first set of microcomputer decision-making simulations distributed by the Poli-Ware program of APSA, sponsored by a grant from IBM. He will offer a reprise of his short course which introduces participants to the process of simulation development, and to classroom use of the materials.

There will be an opportunity for "hands on" use of the simulations and discussion of participants' experiences in application of such simulations in teaching. The initial set of simulations created by Professor Frantzich cover political campaigning, legislative coalition building, political redistricting, presidential popularity, judicial process, and public opinion polling.

Scheduling and Registration

Additional short courses are being considered. Full details are in the back of this issue of PS. Short courses are scheduled for the day before the Annual Meeting on August 28th. A registration form with complete times, costs, and descriptions of the courses being offered for 1991 is located in the back of this issue of PS along with the preliminary program for the annual meeting. Preregistration by July 31 is strongly encouraged to ensure that the appropriate course materials are prepared for you.

Foreign Student Travel Grants for APSA Annual Meeting

Each year the American Political Science Association awards travel grants to advanced, foreign graduate students enrolled in American universities to enable these students to attend the APSA's annual meeting. Grants will be funded by the Asia Foundation, the Huang Hsing Foundation (USA) and other sources including the APSA.

Monies from the Asia Foundation are awarded to students from Asian countries while graduate students from other nations are being funded through the Huang Hsing Foundation and the APSA.

The APSA selects recipients on the basis of the following guidelines:

- Recipients of awards must be studying in the U.S. at the time the award is offered to them.
- Recipients must be full-time graduate students at U.S. institutions of higher learning. Foreign graduate students in refugee, immigrant, or tourist visa status are not eligible.
- Recipients are not eligible for awards if they are receiving any U.S. government funds, for either academic or travel expenses.
- Recipients may not have received a grant previously.

The maximum amount that can be awarded to any individual is $300.

Applicants must complete a form available from the APSA's national office and must have their departmental chairpersons write a letter of support of their applications. The deadline for receipt of applications for a travel grant to the August 29-September 1, 1991 annual meeting in Washington, D.C. is June 15. Application forms and further information are available by writing: Foreign

Advanced Graduate Student Travel Grants, APSA, 1527 New Hampshire Ave., N.W., Washington, DC 20036.

Lucius J. Barker Selected President-Elect Nominee

The 1991 Nominating Committee, composed of Benjamin Ginsberg, Cornell University, chair; Stephen Holmes, University of Chicago; Robert Keohane, Harvard University; Paula D. McClain, Arizona State University; Donald L. Robinson, Smith College; and Kay Schlozman, Boston College, propose the following slate for Association officers and Council members:

President-Elect (1991-92): Lucius J. Barker, Stanford University

Lucius J. Barker

Lucius J. Barker is the William Bennett Munro Professor of Political Science at Stanford University. Professor Barker joined the Stanford faculty in September 1990 after having spent twenty-one years as the Edna Fischel Gellhorn Professor in political science at Washington University.

Professor Barker received his B.A. degree from Southern University in Baton Rouge, and his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Illinois. He also spent a year in