Palestine and the Arab-Israeli Conflict
A History with Documents
 Sixth Edition

Charles D. Smith
University of Arizona

In this comprehensive, accessible introduction to the Arab-Israeli conflict, respected scholar Charles D. Smith provides an in-depth treatment of the pre-1948 roots of the conflict and an insightful analysis of events since 1948, while paying equal attention to the modern histories of Palestine and Israel.

YEMEN COLLEGE OF MIDDLE EASTERN STUDIES

YEMEN LANGUAGE CENTER
المركز اليمني للغات

The Yemen College of Middle Eastern Studies (YCMES) was founded in 2006 by Sabri Saleem, in collaboration with Steven C. Caton (Harvard University). It consists of two entities: The Program in Contemporary Middle Eastern Studies (PCMES) and the Yemen Language Center (YLC). The Yemen Language Center was founded in 1989 and has since established an outstanding reputation for teaching Arabic to students from Europe, North America, and Asia. The Program in Contemporary Middle Eastern Studies is new and begins its first academic year in fall 2008, the first and only accredited MES and Arabic program in Yemen for international study abroad.

The combination of the 18-year-old Arabic program and PCMES will offer students and universities a new alternative in the Middle East for rigorous semester, year-long and short-term study abroad programs. The Yemen College of Middle Eastern Studies is accredited by the Ministry of Higher Education and Scientific Research in Yemen and has relations with many American and European universities for credit transfer.

COMMANDER
OF THE FAITHFUL

The Life and Times of Emir Abd el-Kader

A Story of True Jihad
JOHN W. KISER

*President Lincoln, Queen Victoria, Pope Pius IX,
Sir Richard Burton, French prisoners sang his praises.
A town in Iowa was named in his honor...*

It began with the bungled occupation of Algiers in 1830 by a French army of 30,000... and the Arab resistance led by a twenty-five year old Koranic scholar.

"...one of those dazzling biographies that inform our modern life."

--Susan Eisenhower

"Today more than ever, Muslims and non-Muslims alike need to be reminded of the courage, compassion and intellect of Emir Abd el-Kader... Abd el-Kader's jihad provides Muslims with a much-needed antidote to the toxic false jihads of today, dominated by anger, violence and politics." --His Royal Highness, Prince Hassan bin Talal of Jordan

"Kiser artfully shows how and why Abd el-Kader emerged as a world icon, and whose example is badly needed today. I highly recommend this book."

--Philip Khoury, past president of the Middle Eastern Studies Association, Ford Professor of History, MIT.

"This fascinating revival of a 19th century world hero's story holds valuable lessons for today's Middle East warrior. It would be a worthwhile addition to any reading list."

--Col. Jon Smythe, USMC (ret.)

"Notable for illustrating that the meeting of civilizations need not always produce a clash."

--Kirkus Reviews

THE ISRAEL-ARAB READER

A Documentary History
of the Middle East Conflict

Seventh Revised and Updated Edition

WALTER LAQUEUR and BARRY RUBIN, editors

In print for forty years, The Israel-Arab Reader is a thorough and up-to-date guide to the continuing crisis in the Middle East. This edition features a new introduction that highlights the principal advancements since the start of the conflict on a state level sixty years ago, as well as a new chapter, "Conflict Renewed," covering events in the region over the last seven years, including the Gaza withdrawal, the Hamas election victory, and the Lebanon-Israel War.

Arranged chronologically and without bias by two veteran historians of the Middle East, and containing speeches, letters, articles, and reports involving all the major interests in the area, this is an authoritative guide to over a century of conflict.

Lost in the Sacred

Why the Muslim World Stood Still

Dan Diner

Translated by Steven Rendall

"A controversial but refreshingly un-Anglo-Saxon search for answers to some outsized questions."

—Michael Cook, Princeton University

"Lost in the Sacred offers a broad synthesis on a key problem of the contemporary Middle East, hence of the world at large. It sets out to describe and account for a strange historical phenomenon: how is it that the Arab world so slowly changes—nay, came to some sort of a standstill? Diner handles the best sources and secondary literature with great skill and literary talent."—Rémi Brague, author of The Law of God

American Evangelicals in Egypt

Missionary Encounters in an Age of Empire

Heather J. Sharkey

In 1854, American Presbyterian missionaries arrived in Egypt as part of a larger Anglo-American Protestant movement aiming for worldwide evangelization. Protected by British imperial power, and later by mounting American global influence, their enterprise flourished during the next century. American Evangelicals in Egypt follows the ongoing and often unexpected transformations initiated by missionary activities between the mid-nineteenth century and 1967—when the Six-Day Arab-Israeli War uprooted the Americans in Egypt.

Jihad in Islamic History

Doctrines and Practice

Michael Bonner

"This is an excellent and erudite contribution to the field that, due to Bonner's pleasant and clear style, is easily accessible to students and nonspecialists. This book's value lies in its contextualizing of the notion of jihad. It covers the entire Islamic era, tracing how the notion of jihad emerged and developed within a certain historical framework."

Passionate Uprisings Iran's Sexual Revolution

PARDIS MAHDAVI

"Part academic treatise, part titillation, Mahdavi's work argues that the social and sexual practices of the urban young adults 'who comprise two-thirds of Iran's population' constitute a form of political dissent and rebellion. While the punishments for premarital sex, drinking and dancing are severe, the author captures a hedonistic, postadolescent and pure pop culture spirit, reflecting the interests and activities of the 'highly mobile, highly educated... underemployed' and secular young Tehranis she followed over a seven-year period."

The Power of Representation

Michael Ezekiel Gasper

The Power of Representation Publics, Peasants, and Islam in Egypt

MICHAEL EZEKIEL GASPER

"Gasper's work makes a surprisingly novel contribution to the development of an Egyptian 'national' consciousness in the late 19th century. Demonstrating how members of the educated class defined an Egyptian identity, Gasper's approach also pays significant attention to the emerging role Islam begins to play. It is both a skillful and original work of historical revisionism."

IMAGINING THE TURKISH HOUSE Collective Visions of Home

By Carel Bertram

"This layered, intelligent, and sensitive study proves the existence of a tight relationship between the imagined Ottoman house and the society of the Turkish Republic. . . . It illuminates the special place that a particular building type, now lost, can hold in the mind and heart of a whole culture, a whole nation that is struggling with modernity, history, and identity."

FORTUNE TOLD IN BLOOD

By Davud Ghaffarzadegan
Translated by M. R. Ghanoonparvar

In this novel, translated into English for the first time, a prominent Iranian author writes about the Iran-Iraq War—from the Iraqi point of view. Telling the story of two soldiers whose loyalty to their country and each other is tested, Davud Ghaffarzadegan seeks to undo the demonizing of the other that occurs in war, thus humanizing the enemy and challenging his reader to do so as well.

Stolen Honor Stigmatizing Muslim Men in Berlin

KATHERINE PRATT EWING

“This is a highly original book that must be read by anyone interested in Muslims in Europe. Ewing flips the usual questions about discourses on honor and the ‘oppression’ of Muslim women to focus on their obverse: the stigmatization of Muslim men.

Brilliantly linking media representations to the social worlds of Turkish origin men in Germany, she provides, ultimately, a devastating analysis of the fantasies that animate the German national imaginary.”

Description

The Middle East Studies Association (MESA) is a private, non-profit, non-political learned society that brings together scholars, educators and those interested in the study of the region from all over the world. From its inception in 1966 with 50 founding members, MESA has increased its membership to more than 2,600 and now serves as an umbrella organization for more than sixty institutional members and forty-two affiliated organizations. The association is a constituent society of the American Council of Learned Societies, the National Council of Area Studies Associations, and a member of the National Humanities Alliance. As part of its goal to advance learning, facilitate communication and promote cooperation, MESA sponsors an annual meeting that is a leading international forum for scholarship, intellectual exchange and pedagogical innovation. It is responsible for the International Journal of Middle East Studies, the premiere journal on the region, the MESA Bulletin and a quarterly newsletter. An awards program recognizes scholarly achievement, service to the profession and exemplary student. MESA is governed by a nine-member Board of Directors elected by the membership.

MESA is a nonprofit corporation with tax exempt status. Contributions to the Association are deductible under both U.S. Federal and British income tax regulations.

Mission Statement

The Middle East Studies Association (MESA) is a non-political association that fosters the study of the Middle East, promotes high standards of scholarship and teaching, and encourages public understanding of the region and its peoples through programs, publications and services that enhance education, further intellectual exchange, recognize professional distinction, and defend academic freedom.
