Johan van der Vyver on aggression and the evolution of international criminal law

Johan van der Vyver
I.T. Cohen Professor of International Law and Human Rights

In his latest book, Acts of Aggression and Prosecuting the Crime of Aggression, Emory Law professor Johan van der Vyver illuminates the challenges of prosecuting aggression as a crime against humanity—“the supreme international crime.” In a world in which acts of aggression are as much the work of leading states as others, its successful prosecution by the international community can hardly be assured.

A former professor of law at the University of the Witwatersrand in Johannesburg, Professor van der Vyver is an expert on human rights law and has been involved in the promotion of human rights across the globe. He is the author of more than a dozen books and two hundred law review articles, book chapters, and reviews.

Geneva: study in the heart of Europe in a truly international environment

In addition to various international law courses at undergraduate and postgraduate level in French, the University of Geneva Law School offers in English several summer schools, a Certificate in Transnational Law (CTL) as well as two Masters in advanced studies (MAS) and one Executive Master in cooperation with the Geneva Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies. Students and professionals from around the world come to study in Geneva, the home of numerous international organizations, UN agencies, the ICRC and law firms active in international arbitration.

The CTL provides students with a chance to specialize, early in their career, in international legal affairs within one or two semesters (30 ECTS). Students can tailor their studies according to their particular interests, be it public or private international law.

The MAS in International Humanitarian Law and Human Rights and the Executive Master in International Law in Armed Conflict comprise in-depth courses on all areas of international law relating to armed conflicts.

The Geneva Master in International Dispute Settlement gives students the opportunity to study all aspects of dispute settlement in the international arena, across the divide of public and private.

Summer Schools are offered on International Law, Cultural Heritage Law, Intellectual Property, post-conflict justice and state building and, jointly with Duke Law School, on transnational law.

The Law and Practice of Piracy at Sea

European and International Perspectives

Edited by Panos Koutrakos and Achilles Skordas

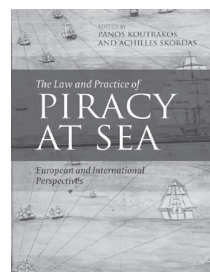

This collection of essays provides a comprehensive assessment of the legal and policy approaches to maritime counter-piracy adopted by the EU and other international actors over the last few years.

This book adopts a holistic approach to the topic, examining approaches to piracy as these emerge in different geographical areas, as well as tackling the central issues which counter-piracy raises in terms of the most topical aspects of international law (international humanitarian law and armed conflict, piracy and terrorism, use of force).

Panos Koutrakos is Professor of European Union Law at City University London.

Achilles Skordas is Professor of International Law at the University of Bristol.

Statelessness

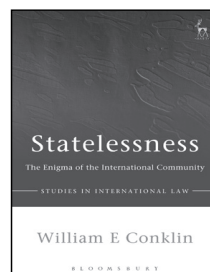

The Enigma of the International Community

William E Conklin

In this powerfully argued book, Conklin critically evaluates traditional efforts to recognise and reduce statelessness. The problem, he argues, rests in the obligatory nature of law, domestic or international. By closely analysing a broad spectrum of court and tribunal judgments from many jurisdictions, Conklin explains how confusion has arisen between two discourses as to the nature of the international community.

William E Conklin is a Professor in the Faculty of Law, University of Windsor.

The Second Edition was winner of the 2009 American Society of International Law Certificate of Merit for High Technical Craftsmanship and Utility to Practicing Lawyers and Scholars.

ASIL Insights are a wonderful way for me to learn quickly from people who are knowledgeable and authoritative about recent and ongoing developments in international law, particularly in areas that are a little outside my own area of expertise, so they help me stay abreast, and they make me more effective in my teaching.

ASIL Insights, the "international law behind the headlines," provide brief, balanced accounts of the international law issues raised by newsworthy late-breaking events. They cover the gamut of international legal topics, with past articles covering topics such as the legality of intervention in Syria, the United States' implementation of adverse WTO rulings, and the International Court of Justice's ruling on Antarctic whaling. ASIL Insights are distributed to subscribers and posted on the ASIL website approximately two times a month.

"THE EFFECTIVENESS OF INTERNATIONAL LAW"

$100 (ASIL member price)

When, how, and why is international law most effective?

Are there greater challenges to effectiveness in some areas of international law practice than in others?

What role do domestic and international courts play in enforcing international law and thus enhancing its effectiveness?

International law practitioners, scholars, and experts convened to explore these questions and more at the historic, joint 108th ASIL Annual Meeting and 76th International Law Association Biennial Conference in April 2014. The 2014 volume of the Proceedings is the permanent record of that Meeting, including remarks by esteemed panelists and speakers, as well as transcripts of select sessions.
