The Berbers

Their Social and Political Life

ROBERT MONTAGNE

Translated and introduced by David Seddon

Preface by Ernest Gellner

In his study Robert Montagne concerned himself primarily with the Berbers of Morocco where as a French colonial administrator, he assembled the material on which his book was based. The book, which analyses aspects of the political and social structure and organisation of a unique and fiercely independent people, is widely regarded as a social science classic. This is the first ever English translation.

Studies in the History of the Near East

P. M. HOLT

In this collection of essays, the distinguished orientalist and scholar throws light on some important yet little researched areas of Egyptian and Sudanese history and early English historiography of the Middle East. The essays fall into three groups, dealing with early English students of Islamic history, aspects of Sudanese history and Egypt under the Ottomans.

The Price of Liberty

Personality and Politics in Colonial Nigeria

KENNETH W. J. POST
and
GEORGE D. JENKINS

An account of de-colonization in Nigeria as seen through the experience of a Nigerian political leader who was closely involved in the process. It tells in a highly personal and intriguing way how a Nigerian politician operated in the last years of colonial rule.

The leader concerned—Adegoke Adelabu—was, as he himself said, ‘a living laboratory of his age’. He was ‘boss’ of Ibadan and tried to lead his people through the perplexing shifts of political authority as the British colonial rulers prepared to depart, leaving the problems of the first Nigerian Republic behind them.

Land Policy in Buganda

HENRY W. WEST

An analysis of the land tenure system in the Buganda region of Uganda, its development and operation.

One of the signs of social and economic change in Africa is the growth of individual property rights in land and the decay of various traditional systems of tenure. This book demonstrates the significance of changing land policy for Buganda and other land-based economies in tropical Africa.

An Economic History of West Africa

A. G. Hopkins

Dr. Hopkins' book is the first work to offer a comprehensive account of the economic history of the huge area known conventionally as West Africa, including the former French territories as well as those colonised by the British, ranging from prehistoric times up to independence in the 1950s and 60s. Dr. Hopkins presents an argument, based on the concept of market, that criticises many conventional beliefs about economic backwardness and advances an alternative set of explanations which takes into account, and contributes to, the latest studies in the fields of history, economics, anthropology and geography. This important study not only fills a gap in African studies but also contributes more generally to an understanding of the underdeveloped world.

CONTRIBUTIONS

Contributions to the Journal are welcomed. They may be submitted in either English or French and, except with the prior approval of the Editors, should not exceed about 6000 words. Two copies should be submitted, clearly typed with double spacing on quarto paper, and with a left-hand margin of at least  $1\frac{1}{2}$  in. (4 cm.). A summary of the contents of the article, not exceeding about 300 words in length, should be attached on a separate sheet. Footnotes, which should also be typed with double spacing, should be numbered consecutively throughout the article, and should include all bibliographical references; there should be no separate bibliography. First references should be complete, in standard form, so as to permit unequivocal identification of the book or article in question. Subsequent references should be by author's name and short title. Articles may be illustrated with line drawings and maps and, should the Editors agree that it is necessary, also with half-tone plates.

Galley proofs will be sent, if necessary by airmail, to each contributor (or his nominee) provided that the Editors have been given an address through which he can be reached without delay. Corrections should be kept to the minimum, and should be corrections, not new material. If they are to be incorporated in the master proof corrected by the Editors, it is important that the contributor should return the galleys, by airmail if necessary, to the Editor named when they are sent out (and not to the Cambridge University Press), within ten days of his receipt of them.

Contributors of articles and review articles receive 25 free separates. Additional separates may be obtained at reasonable cost, provided that they are ordered before publication on the special form sent out with the galley proofs.

All contributions and books for review should be addressed to The Editors, The Journal of African History, School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London, London, W.C.1.
