Culture/Contexture

Explorations in Anthropology and Literary Studies

Edited by E. VALENTINE DANIEL and JEFFREY M. PECK

Culture/Contexture brings together for the first time literature and anthropology scholars to reflect on the antidisiplinary urge that has made the creative borrowing between their two fields both possible and necessary. Their topics range from reading and race to writing and representation, incest and violence, and travel and time.

The Sea of Regret

Two Turn-of-the-Century Chinese Romantic Novels

Translated by Patrick Hanan

Published in 1906, Stones of the Sea by Fu Lin and The Sea of Regret by Wu Jianren take opposite sides in the heated turn-of-the-century debate over the place of romantic and sexual love and passion in Chinese life. Taken together, this pair of novels provides a fascinating portrait of early twentieth-century China's struggle with its own cultural, ethical, and sexual redefinition. $32.00, cloth; $15.95, paper

The Lyrical Lu Xun

An Introduction to His Classical-Style Verse

Jon Kowallis

Hailed as the "Father of Modern Chinese Literature," Lu Xun (1881-1936) wrote some of his best works in classical verse form. Although best known in the West for his short stories, Lu Xun was a poet of acumen and resource in the old style, and this is the most complete treatment of his classical-style poetry in any foreign language. $47.00, cloth

Imperfect Paradise

Stories by Shen Congwen

Edited by Jeffrey Kinkley

A master of the modern short story and one of China's finest prose stylists, Shen Congwen (1902-1988) left a body of work acclaimed for its emotive range, its innovative literary beauty, and its continuing popularity and influence. "Shen is one of the best Chinese writers of the twentieth century, and there is no collection of his fiction better selected and translated than this one." —Perry Link, Princeton University $42.00, cloth; $19.95, paper

Family Catastrophe

A Modernist Novel by Wang Wen-hsing

Translated by Susan Wan Dolling

Set in post-1949 Taiwan, this novel is an intimate revelation of a family's journey to catastrophe. As it tracks Fan Weh's fruitless search for his father, Wang's innovative narrative unfolds the history of the family, divulging secrets of poverty and abuse, love and hate. "The first English publication of this important novel by Wang Wen-hsing is bound to be seen as a major event in the scholarly community of Chinese literary studies." —Sung-Sheng Yvonne Chang, University of Texas, Austin $36.00, cloth; $14.95, paper

MEIJI REVISITED

The Sites of Victorian Japan

by Dallas Finn

"This careful study provides a wonderful visual inventory of the world that Western architects brought and Japanese architects transformed in the nineteenth century. For many Japanese, Western-style buildings constituted the first direct contact with the modern world—one that was Victorian in its tastes and trappings—and contributed a vigorous and exotic splendor to the Rising Sun of Imperial Japan."

DISCOURSES OF THE VANISHING

Modernity, Phantasm, Japan

Marilyn Ivy

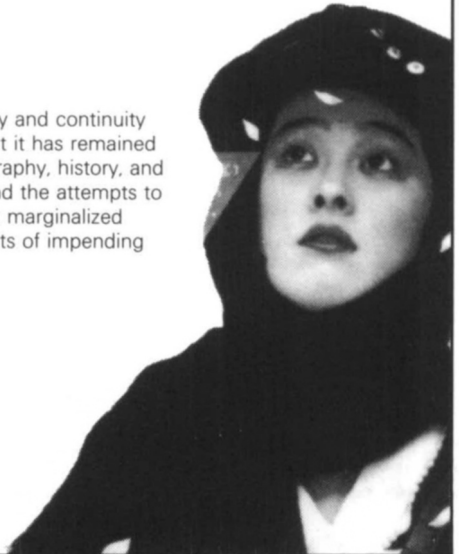

Deep anxieties about the potential loss of national identity and continuity disturb many in Japan, despite widespread insistence that it has remained culturally intact. In this provocative conjoining of ethnography, history, and cultural criticism, Marilyn Ivy discloses these anxieties—and the attempts to contain them—as she tracks what she calls the vanishing: marginalized events, sites, and cultural practices suspended at moments of impending disappearance.

Minerals and Metals Trade in the Asia-Pacific Region

The study focussed on the eight major metallic mineral groups that are the most widely traded mineral commodities in the region. The information is presented in two parts. Part 1 reviews and analyzes the minerals and metals industries, their trade, development and processing policies. It also presents a macroeconomic outlook, an in-depth discussion on trade policy issues and offers recommendations to the countries of the region. Part 2 is a compendium of statistics on production, consumption and trade in minerals and metals for the region from 1965-1990. This publication is one of a series of eight, that reviews the economic restructuring and international trade in the minerals commodities sector in the Asia-Pacific region. Each book in the series presents country analyzes on one aspect of the minerals sector.

Judging the State

Courts and Constitutional Politics in Pakistan
Paula R. Newberg

In a penetrating and original study of the relationship between state and civil society in Pakistan, Newberg demonstrates how, over the course of almost five decades, the courts have influenced the development of its constitutions and the structure of the state. By examining judicial decisions, she considers how tensions within the judiciary, and between courts and other state institutions, have affected the ways political society views itself.

Indentured Labor in the Age of Imperialism, 1834–1922

David Northrup

From 1834–1922, two million Asians, Africans, and South Pacific Islanders signed long-term labor contracts in return for free passage and modest wages. This is the first survey of the global flow of indentured migrants that developed to replace freed slaves on sugar plantations in the British colonies.

From War to Nationalism

China's Turning Point, 1924–1925
Arthur Waldron

This book explains the connection between the Nationalist revolution and the introduction of modern World War I style warfare to China during the massive civil war of 1924. Like the author's well-received first book, The Great Wall of China, this volume moves persuasively from specifics of strategy and politics to the large and abiding issues of Chinese history and culture.

Art and Nationalism in Colonial India

Occidental Orientations
Partha Mitter

Mitter tells the story of Indian art during the Raj, set against the interplay of colonialism and nationalism. The work addresses the tensions and contradictions that attended the advent of European naturalism in India, and traces the artistic evolution from unquestioning westernization to the construction of Hindu national identity. Through a wide range of literary and pictorial sources, the author balances the study of colonial cultural institutions with the ideologies of the nationalist movements that followed.

Indigenous Peoples of Asia

Edited by R.H.Barnes,
Andrew Gray, and
Benedict Kingsbury

This long-awaited collection offers an introduction and eighteen separate articles designed to promote a general understanding of the Asian indigenous peoples movement. The authors include sociologists, anthropologists, international legal scholars, and journalists, all addressing common themes.

"This book will constitute a major advance in our general understanding of the character of these Asian 'indigenous' movements and will be of value to scholars working in many cognate disciplines." Professor Peter Carey, Trinity College, Oxford University.

"This volume presents timely information on a pressing issue. . . . The bibliographies alone will be worth the book for many specialists and for students with a beginning interest in this very real human problem." Professor Robert McKinley, Anthropology Department, Michigan State University.

A GOD'S OWN TALE

The Book of Transformations
of Wenchang,
the Divine Lord of Zitong

Terry F. Kleeman

“It provides a thorough history of the cult of Wenchang, the patron saint of scholars, one of the deities still worshipped by the Chinese in their temples today. The Book of Transformations is a delightful and unique autobiography of the god in which he traces his various lives in the world and his various divine appointments. Kleeman’s chapter-by-chapter commentary to the translation is jam-packed with information on customs and traditions in traditional China, those of the aristocracy and those of common folk.”

— Robert G. Henricks, Dartmouth College

The revelation of this scripture by spirit writing in 1181 marked a turning point in the development of a local snake cult into the national faith in Wenchang, the patron of the civil service examinations, provider of progeny, Confucian judge of morality, and Taoist messianic savior.

North Korea and the Bomb

A Case Study in Nonproliferation

Michael J. Mazarr

North Korea and the Bomb offers the first in-depth history of the greatest diplomatic challenge in the post-Cold War era — the North Korean nuclear program and the U.S. and allied efforts to stop it. Drawing on years of research and dozens of interviews, Michael J. Mazarr explains why North Korea may believe it needs nuclear weapons and how the United States has tried to thwart its plans. He lays out a comprehensive history of diplomacy toward North Korea, alongside personal vignettes of the actors in this international drama.

Thailand and Japan's Southern Advance, 1940-1945

E. Bruce Reynolds

This study, based on Japanese, Thai, and English sources, examines the circumstances and strategies that led Thailand into a wartime alliance with Japan, as well as Tokyo's efforts to integrate Thailand into the Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere, and Thai maneuvers to resist Japan's embrace. Finally, it explains how the Thai maintained relations with the Japanese while surreptitiously establishing links with the Allies.

Japan and the World Since 1868

Michael A. Barnhart

Japan's position as a major power in international affairs is recent, but the vicissitudes it has gone through during even so short a time have been immense. Japan has risen to become the second greatest economy in the world, with a level of prosperity to match. In no small part the economic "miracle" was aided by Japan's foreign policy choices since 1945, just as previous choices had led to security, aggrandizement, and eventually disaster. Michael Barnhart examines the domestic pressures that often helped shape foreign policy and evaluates the changing world order itself.

History of the Civilizations of Central Asia

This major new series, published in collaboration with UNESCO, presents for the first time a comprehensive historical and cultural picture of Central Asia. The volumes bring together the most eminent specialists in the field.
I.B.Tauris & Co.

Volume I: The Dawn of Civilization

Earliest Times to 700 BC

Edited by A. H. Dani
and V. M. Masson

From the Palaeolithic beginnings of humankind to the foundations of the great Achaemenid empire, there is abundant evidence of the earliest civilizations from Turkmenistan and Tajikistan to the Indus Valley. This volume throws new light on the development of trading, urbanization, and the earliest cultures of nomadic pastoral tribes.

1995 • 535 pp. illus. • $35.00 cl.

Volume II: The Development of Sedentary and Nomadic Civilizations

700 BC to AD 250

Edited by Janos Harmatta with
B. N. Puri and G. F. Etemadi

This volume examines the period when both sedentary and nomadic civilizations developed in Central Asia. It covers a diverse set of topics dealing with various aspects of nomadic tribes.

1995 • 550 pp. illus. • $39.50 cl.

Volume III: The Crossroads of Civilizations

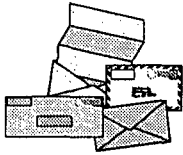

AD 250 to 750

Edited by A. Litvinsky with Zhang Guand-da and
R. Shabani Samghabadi

This volume begins in the third century AD when the dominant forces in Central Asia were the Sasanian state in Iran, the Gupta empire in India, the Tang dynasty in China, and the Turks. The contributors examine the extensive influences of the people ranging from intellectual and artistic achievements.
