

Notes on Contributors

Ian Hacking

Professor of Philosophy, Institute for the History and Philosophy of Science and Technology, University of Toronto, Victoria College Toronto, Canada. Author of The Emergence of Probability, Why does Language Matter to Philosophy?, Representing and Intervening, etc.

Elizabeth H. Wolgast

Professor of Philosophy, California State University, Hayward. Her article 'Intolerable Wrong and Punishment' was published in Philosophy in April 1985.

Anthony Serafini

Associate Professor of Philosophy, Centenary College in Hackettstown, New Jersey. Contributor to Bioethics, Cogito, The International Journal of Applied Philosophy, The Journal of Philosophical Research. Co-editor (with Souren Tegrarian) of Ludwig Wittgenstein: A Symposium and Wittgenstein and Contemporary Philosophy.

Colin Radford

Professor of Philosophy, University of Kent at Canterbury. His earlier contributions to Philosophy include 'The Incoherence and Irrationality of Philosophers' (July 1990).

Anthony Skillen

Lecturer in Philosophy, University of Kent at Canterbury. The latest of his earlier contributions to Philosophy is 'Aesop's Lessons in Literary Realism' (April 1992).

Rodger Beehler

Professor of Philosophy, University of Victoria, Canada. Author of Moral Life.

Nigel G. E. Harris

Senior Lecturer, Department of Philosophy, University of Dundee.

A. T. Nuyen

Senior Lecturer in Philosophy, University of Queensland, Australia. Contributor to Hume Studies, Kant-Studien and Metaphilosophy.

Bob Brecher

Principal Lecturer in Philosophy, University of Brighton. Author of Anselm's Argument: The Logic of Divine Existence. Contributor to Journal of Medical Ethics, Explorations in Knowledge and Studies in Higher Education.

V. Alan White

Associate Professor and Chair, University of Wisconsin Center—Manitowoc County. His discussion article 'Cohen on Einstein's Simultaneity Gedankenexperiment' was published in Philosophy in April 1991.