

Arms and the African

The Military Influences on Africa's International Relations

edited by William J. Foltz and Henry S. Bienen

In this important new book six noted Africanists examine key aspects of Africa's militarization and consider its implications for American foreign policy.

After opening with a broad historical view of Africa's changing involvement in the strategic calculations and miscalculations of the superpowers, Arms and the African considers the involvement of the two most prominent outside actors in Africa's military affairs — the Soviet Union and France. It then looks at the military capabilities of the black African states and the army's increasingly political role in Africa's military "superpower," South Africa, and investigates how the spread of military regimes in Africa affects the international behavior of African states. The final chapter lays out the policy issues the West, and especially the United States, must face in adjusting to a more heavily militarized Africa in the coming years. $22.50 A Council on Foreign Relations Book

Yorùbá Dùn un So

(Yoruba Course for Beginners)

Karin Barber

Yorùbá is one of the most important African languages, spoken by more than 15 million people. Yet until now there has been no suitable textbook available for beginners in this language. This book provides lessons for a one-year course, introducing new grammatical and lexical items systematically, providing adequate scope for practice, and offering simple and clear grammatical explanations. Humorous and clever, the text consists of colloquial dialogues designed to be relevant to everyday life in Nigeria. $16.95 paperback

Economic Growth in the Third World, 1850–1980

Lloyd G. Reynolds

This book is the first to draw together into a systematic framework the increasing body of literature on the economic histories of individual third world countries. Focusing on the forty-one largest countries in Asia, Africa, and Latin America, Reynolds shows that the third world has a rich historical record of growth and that its growth patterns bear some resemblance to those observed earlier in Europe and North America. $35.00

AFRICAN STUDIES ASSOCIATION

THE AFRICAN STUDIES ASSOCIATION was organized in 1957 as a non-profit membership corporation to bring together persons with a scholarly and professional interest in Africa, to provide useful services to the Africanist community, and to publish and distribute appropriate scholarly and informational materials. Membership is open to individuals and institutions.

AN ANNUAL MEETING in the Fall provides an occasion for panels, plenary sessions and discussion groups, exhibits and films. Participants from America, Africa and Europe gather for this Meeting which is held in different regions of the U.S. each year, in cooperation with major colleges, universities and museums, and under the program direction of a distinguished Africanist. The annual business meeting of the members of the ASA takes place at that time.

MEMBERS RECEIVE THREE REGULAR PUBLICATIONS:

AFRICAN STUDIES REVIEW: Prints review articles and essays of scholarly and bibliographical substance. Incorporates the former ASA REVIEW OF BOOKS, maintaining its critical evaluation of significant Africanist publications. Edited by R. Hunt Davis, Jr. and Melvin E. Page.

ISSUE: A JOURNAL OF OPINION: Presents provocative and timely comment on critical developments in Africa and African studies. Guest edited by distinguished scholars and professionals. Recent editions have focussed on the Second Republic of Nigeria (C.S. Whitaker) and the Reconstruction of Zimbabwe (L. Suransky and A. Mazrui).

ASA NEWS: Reports current and future activities of the Association, bibliographical and news notes, employment notices, significant correspondence and announcements of concern to the world community of Africanists.

DUES: INSTITUTIONS: $48 domestic; $55 overseas surface; $90 overseas airmail.

DUES: INDIVIDUALS: $40 regular and sustaining members earning over $20,000 per year; $30 regular and sustaining members earning less than $20,000 per year; $15 student, retired and unemployed (3 year limit); $80 airmail (for addresses outside North America). Sustaining membership is available upon request after three years of consecutive regular membership.
