In the original article by Alam (2019), on page 6 the term “Balochs” was erroneously published instead of “Baloch.” Baloch is the plural form of this ethnic group. The corrected text is as follows: “Likewise, the Baloch are a politically and economically marginalized minority ethnic group in the region of Balochistan, a province that has made separatist claims since the country’s foundation.

Typically labeled separatist troublemakers by the state, the Baloch are positioned as a threat to the integrity of the nation.”
