It can surely not be considered a waste of time to devote one's efforts to the extension of parliamentary government into international affairs. If mankind can succeed in establishing the rule of law between one country and another it will have removed the one remaining obstacle between itself and that glorious future with which science has been threatening us for decades. The World Federalist exists solely to promote world peace through world law. In its coming issues you will be able to read articles by Josue de Castro, Peter Ustinov and Thor Heyerdahl explaining exactly why they agree with the objects of the World Association of World Federalists. And there is also Senatus Populusque Mundi, the controversial series by Robert Anson exploring the possibilities of integrating dictatorships into a world federal government.
