Martinus Nijhoff Publishers/New Haven Press

New Haven Press of New Haven, Connecticut and Martinus Nijhoff Publishers of The Netherlands, are pleased to announce the initiation of a collection of books in international law which will be called The New Haven Studies in World Public Order. The collection will bring together and continue the monographs prepared at the Yale Law School under the supervision of Myres S. McDougal and Harold D. Lasswell.

The New Haven approach has been recognized world-wide as a distinctly American contribution to the study and practice of international law and to its sociology of knowledge. It synthesizes the explicit value orientation of the natural law approaches of the founders of international law with the realism of twentieth-century American jurisprudence and the problem-solving, interdisciplinary approach of contemporary policy sciences.

The New Haven Studies in International Law and World Public Order will be of interest to scholars, practising international lawyers, government officials and corporate personnel, as well as to students of international relations and political science.

Law

The Academy is an institution for the study and teaching of Public and Private International Law and related subjects. Its purpose is to encourage a thorough and impartial examination of the problems arising from international relations in the field of law. The courses deal with the theoretical and practical aspects of the subject, including legislation and case law.

All courses at the Academy are, in principle, published in the language in which they were delivered in the Collected Courses of the Hague Academy of International Law.

The contents of this volume consist of:

Problèmes de conflits de lois en matière de filiation, par J. FOYER

General Course on Private International Law (1983) by F. K. JUENGER

Les bases éthiques pour le droit et la société: perspectives de la Commission indépendante sur les questions humanitaires internationales, par S. AGA KHAN
