Contemporary European History

Editors

Matthew Frank, University of Leeds, UK

N. Piers Ludlow, London School of Economics and Political Science, UK

Jessica Reinisch, Birkbeck, University of London, UK

Contemporary European History covers the history of Eastern and Western Europe, including the United Kingdom, from 1918 to the present. By combining a wide geographical compass with a relatively short time span, the journal achieves both range and depth in its coverage. It is open to all forms of historical inquiry - including cultural, economic, international, political and social approaches - and welcomes comparative and transnational analysis. One issue per year explores a broad theme under the guidance of a guest editor. The journal regularly features contributions from scholars outside the Anglophone community and acts as a channel of communication between European historians throughout the continent and beyond it.

Executive Editor

David Mayer, International Institute of Social History, The Netherlands

International Review of Social History is one of the leading journals in its field. Truly global in its scope, it focuses on research in social and labour history from a comparative and transnational perspective, both in the modern and in the early modern period, and across periods. The journal combines quality, depth and originality of its articles with an open eye for theoretical innovation and new insights and methods from within its field and from contiguous disciplines. Besides research articles, it features surveys of new themes and subject fields, a suggestions and debates section, review essays and book reviews.

Rural History

Economy, Society, Culture

Editors

Liz Bellamy, University of East Anglia, UK

Carl Griffin, University of Sussex, UK

Keith D. M. Snell, University of Leicester, UK

Tom Williamson, University of East Anglia, UK

Rural History is well known as a stimulating forum for interdisciplinary exchange. Its definition of rural history ignores traditional subject boundaries to encourage the cross-fertilisation that is essential for an understanding of rural society. It stimulates original scholarship and provides access to the best of recent research. While concentrating on the English-speaking world and Europe, the journal is not limited in geographical coverage. Subject areas include: agricultural history; historical ecology; folklore; popular culture and religion; rural literature; landscape history, archaeology and material culture; vernacular architecture; ethnography, anthropology and rural sociology; the study of women in rural societies; relationships between the urban and the rural; and the politics of rural societies. The journal accommodates varying disciplinary reference systems, and publishes book reviews and review articles.

Rural History is now indexed in the Thomson Reuters JCR

ILWCH 89: Precarious Labor in Global Perspective

ILWCH 90: Workers' Education

DIRECTIONS FOR ILWCH CONTRIBUTORS: Unsolicited proposals for articles and review essays are welcome, but must adhere to the following guidelines. Prospective authors should submit a 500-word abstract of the work they wish to submit to the journal. The editors are particularly interested in proposals with resonance beyond strictly national historiographies. Submissions should clearly explain the article's research question and argument, note the types of sources the author intends to use, and demonstrate the ways that the article will reflect the journal's commitment to publishing work across geographic regions and historical time periods. (Essays in themselves do not need to be "transnational.") Editors will decide quickly whether they wish to review a full manuscript; authors will then be sent style and submission guidelines. Abstracts for proposed articles can be uploaded at <http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/ilwch>.
