

---

Reviews in Clinical Gerontology

---

Contents

Editorial	105
Women's changing economic activity: implications for care of the elderly J Potter	105
Biological gerontology	107
Molecular, cellular and metabolic mechanisms of osteoporosis R Smith	107
Clinical geriatrics	117
Endocrine disorders PE Belchetz	117
Osteoporosis SA Duursma, JA Raymakers, BAA Scheven and PAF Jansen	135
Respiratory disease in old age. Part 1: age-related changes in the lung, respiratory infections and lung tumours MJ Connolly	147
Psychiatry of old age	157
Innovations in long-stay care for people with dementia JS Carr and M Marshall	157
Rehabilitation	169
Assessment in rehabilitation D Barer	169
Social and psychological gerontology	187
Quality of institutional life SM Peace	187
Religion and aging HG Koenig	195

CARE OF THE ELDERLY BOOKS

MEDICINE IN THE FRAIL ELDERLY

A problem-oriented approach

Roy A Fox and John A H Puxty

Written by very widely experienced authors, this book provides comprehensive coverage of geriatric medicine in relation to the frail elderly using the problem-oriented approach.

February 1993 272 pages hardback ISBN 0 7131 4564 1 £35.00

WOMEN COME OF AGE Perspectives on the Lives of Older Women

Edited by Miriam Bernard and Kathy Meade

A comprehensive review of what it means to be an older woman in today's society, exploring issues such as health, relationships, housing, education, and the role of the caring professions in relation to women in society.

March 1993 256 pages paperback ISBN 0 340 55261 1 £9.99

INCONTINENCE IN THE ELDERLY

Gerald W Tobin

Incontinence - one of the four "giants" of geriatric medicine - is a problem encountered by all those who care for the elderly. This practically oriented book concentrates on the causes and management of urinary incontinence and seeks to improve the quality of life of all those who suffer from this distressing complaint by encouraging better management.

October 1992 112 pages paperback ISBN 0 340 54558 5 £16.95

FAECAL INCONTINENCE AND RELATED PROBLEMS IN THE OLDER ADULT

J A Barrett

This authoritative account of faecal incontinence has been written by a leading researcher into the physiological aspects and practical management of this condition. It is the first book to specifically address the problem of faecal incontinence experienced by older people, in whom the prevalence is higher and who require a different management approach.

April 1993 224 pages hardback ISBN 0 340 54361 2 £30.00

FALLS IN THE ELDERLY

Joanna H Downton

The problems resulting from falls are encountered by everyone caring for elderly people. This practically oriented book concentrates on the epidemiology, causes, prevention and management of both the at-risk elder and the injured faller.

January 1993 169 pages paperback ISBN 0 340 54848 7 £16.95

THE ESSENTIALS OF HEALTH CARE OF THE ELDERLY

Gerald J Bennett and Shah Ebrahim

'An excellent and most readable account of modern geriatric practice'. Aging

'I would recommend this excellent book to all medical students, doctors dealing with elderly people and candidates sitting the Diploma of Geriatric Medicine.'

British Journal of Hospital Medicine

1992 256 pages paperback ISBN 0 340 54559 3 £9.99

Please send me further details of these and other books published by Edward Arnold on the care of the elderly.

Name _____

Address _____

Please return to Imogen Adams, Promotion Department,
Edward Arnold.

Edward Arnold
Hodder & Stoughton Publishers

Mill Road, Dunton Green,
Sevenoaks, Kent TN13 2YA
Telephone: 0732 450111
Fax: 0732 461321

Z EM30307