HIGH ALTITUDE OPERATION

During recent high altitude trials the Westland Whirlwind helicopter, powered by the new Alvis Leonides Major Engine, demonstrated landings, take-offs and hoverings from a base in the Austrian Alps 11,600 ft above sea level with seven people on board. No other helicopter of the same capacity has accomplished this performance.

During another arduous demonstration series the Whirlwind not only clearly showed its ability to operate with full loads under S African high altitude conditions but also confirmed its Reliability and Ruggedness during difficult test tasks.
