

EARLY
MUSIC
HISTORY

30

Studies in medieval and early modern music

Edited by Iain Fenlon

EARLY MUSIC HISTORY 30

STUDIES IN MEDIEVAL AND EARLY MODERN MUSIC

Edited by

IAIN FENLON

Fellow of King's College, Cambridge

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Printed in the United Kingdom at the University Press, The Edinburgh Building, Cambridge CB2 8RU, United Kingdom
40 West 20th Street, New York, NY 10011–4211, USA
477 Williamstown Road, Port Melbourne, VIC 3027, Australia

© Cambridge University Press 2011

First Published 2011

Phototypeset in Baskerville in the United Kingdom by Henry Ling Limited, at the Dorset Press, Dorchester, DT1 1HD
Printed in Great Britain at the University Press, Cambridge

ISSN 0261–1279

SUBSCRIPTIONS The subscription price (excluding VAT) of volume 30, which includes postage plus electronic access to institutional subscribers only, is £129 (US $218 in USA and Canada) for institutions, £48 (US $80 in USA and Canada) for individuals (print only) ordering direct from the Press and certifying that the annual is for their personal use. An electronic only price is available to institutional subscribers for £114 (US $180 in USA and Canada). The print only price for institutions is £122 (US $201 in USA and Canada). Copies of the annual for subscribers in the USA and Canada are sent by air to New York to arrive with minimum delay. Orders, which must be accompanied by payment, may be sent to a book-seller, subscription agent or direct to the publishers: Cambridge University Press, The Edinburgh Building, Shaftesbury Road, Cambridge CB2 8RU. Payment may be made by any of the following methods: cheque (payable to Cambridge University Press), UK postal order, bank draft, Post Office Giro (account no. 571 6055 GB Bootle – advise CUP of payment), international money order, UNESCO coupons, or any credit card bearing the Interbank symbol. EU subscribers (outside the UK) who are not registered for VAT should add VAT at their country's rate. VAT registered subscribers should provide their VAT registration number. Japanese prices for institutions (including ASP delivery) are available from Kinokuniya Company Ltd, P.O. Box 55, Chitose, Tokyo. Orders from the USA and Canada should be sent to Cambridge University Press, 40 West 20th Street, New York, NY 10011–4211, USA.

NOTE Each volume of Early Music History is now published in the year in which it is subscribed. Volume 30 is therefore published in 2011. Readers should be aware, however, that some earlier volumes have been subscribed in the year after the copyright and publication date given on this imprints page. Thus volume 8, the volume received by 1989 subscribers, is dated 1988 on the imprints page.

INTERNET ACCESS This journal is included in the Cambridge Journals Online service which can be found at www.journals.cambridge.org. For further information on other Press titles access www.journalscambridge.org

EDITORIAL BOARD

WULF ARLT, University of Basel
S. J. BARRETT, University of Cambridge
MARGARET BENT, All Souls College, Oxford
LORENZO BIANCONI, University of Bologna
BONNIE J. BLACKBURN, University of Oxford
JUAN-JOSÉ CARRERAS, University of Zaragoza
FLORA DENNIS, University of Sussex
DAVID FALLOWS, University of Manchester
F. ALBERTO GALLO, University of Bologna
JAMES HAAR, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
KENNETH LEVY, Princeton University
LEWIS LOCKWOOD, Harvard University
PATRICK MACEY, Eastman School of Music
ANTHONY NEWCOMB, University of California at Berkeley
EDWARD ROESNER, New York University
H. COLIN SLIM, University of California at Irvine
REINHARD STROHM, University of Oxford
ANDREW WATHEY, University of Northumbria

CONTENTS

	Page
MICHAEL ALAN ANDERSON (Eastman School of Music, University of Rochester)
Fire, foliage and fury: Vestiges of Midsummer ritual in motets for John the Baptist	1
PHILIPPE CANGUILHEM (Université de Toulouse)
Singing upon the book according to Vicente Lusitano	55
SUSAN RANKIN (University of Cambridge)
On the treatment of pitch in early music writing	105
JOSEPH SARGENT (University of San Francisco)
Morales, Josquin and the L'homme armé Tradition	177
BJÖRN R. TAMMEN (Kommission für Musikforschung, Österreichische Akademie der Wissenschaften, Vienna)
A feast of the arts: Joanna of Castile in Brussels, 1496	213
REVIEWS
REBECCA MALOY, Inside the Offertory: Aspects of Chronology and Transmission
JOSEPH DYER	249
ANDREW KIRKMAN, The Cultural Life of the Early Polyphonic Mass: Medieval Context to Modern Revival
REINHARD STROHM	261
STEFANO MENGOLZI, The Renaissance Reform of Medieval Music Theory: Guido of Arezzo between Myth and History
THEODOR DUMITRESCU	270

EDITORIAL

Although Early Music History does not normally carry an editorial, the publication of this thirtieth issue perhaps justifies a brief historical reflection. It was during the Medieval and Renaissance Conference, held in King's College, Cambridge, in the summer of 1979, that a small group of colleagues began to explore the possibility of launching a new yearbook. Prominent among them were Lewis Lockwood and the late Thomas Walker, whose characteristic enthusiasm for new initiatives which would blow away the cobwebs provided an important stimulus to the discussion. This, which arose in an entirely impromptu fashion, took place against a background of some frustration with the policies of the major English-language journals in the field. Encouraged by the then Music Editor at Cambridge University Press, a proposal was formulated, submitted, and accepted, and work began. An editorial board of eleven members, almost entirely made up of scholars working either in Britain or the United States, was established; this was very much a 'working' board, whose first task was to attract and evaluate significant contributions which met the brief of 'giving preference to studies pursuing interdisciplinary approaches and those developing new methodological ideas'. Then, as now, its members made it their business to attend conferences (not only those devoted exclusively to musicology) to hear presentations of new research which might generate interesting material for publication. In terms of its variety of approach and breadth of chronological coverage, the first issue, which appeared in 1981, set the template for the future. This is not to say that the journal has not evolved in the course of its thirty-year history. In recent years the board itself has changed not only to plan for the future while maintaining continuity (of the original group eight together with the editor still remain), but also to facilitate our more international ambitions. In that context the present issue, which contains the work of authors two of whom are American, one Austrian, one British, one French, and one Italian, is gratifyingly illustrative. None of this would have been possible without the support that we have received not only from many colleagues but above all from the Press. As Early Music History enters its fourth decade, it seems an appropriate moment to express that gratitude in print.

Iain Fenlon
King's College, Cambridge