AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICY IN THE NUCLEAR AGE

Cecil V. Crabb, Jr., Vassar College. "Professor Crabb's book . . . offers an invaluable basis for studies in American foreign policy at the college level. It is comprehensive in scope and yet focused on the new range of problems which now dominate the international scene, and which require approaches different from those of traditional diplomacy."—George C. McGhee. 1960. 544 pp. $6.90.*

HANDBOOK OF PRACTICAL POLITICS

Paul P. Van Riper, Cornell University. ". . . well and clearly written . . . competent even from a narrow professional viewpoint, an achievement that is sometimes missed in publications directed to a broad audience, as is this one."—Dean Alexander Heard, University of North Carolina.

"In the welter of carelessly turned out material, a carefully and thoughtfully done text of this kind will be immensely helpful."—Leone Baxter, Whitaker and Baxter International (Public Relations Consultants). Second Edition, 1960. 356 pp. Paper, $4.00.*

HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES CIVIL SERVICE

Paul P. Van Riper, Cornell University. ". . . I am sufficiently impressed with the book's usefulness to make it one of the required texts in my course in public personnel administration . . . a very valuable addition to the literature of public personnel administration."—Paul L. Beckett, State College of Washington.

". . . without doubt the most comprehensive and useful piece of work on this subject."—H. M. Somers, Haverford College. 1958. 588 pp. $7.50.
