MEDICAL INFOR. CT. AUG 1 1986

ISSN 0007-1250

Published by authority of
The Royal College of Psychiatrists

NOTICE TO CONTRIBUTORS

1. The British Journal of Psychiatry is published monthly under the auspices of the Royal College of Psychiatrists. The Journal publishes original work in all fields of psychiatry. Communications on general editorial matters, including manuscripts for publication, printed matter, and books for review, should be sent to The Editor, The British Journal of Psychiatry, 17 Belgrave Square, London SW1X 8PG.

2. Contributions are accepted for publication on the condition that their substance has not been published or submitted for publication elsewhere. The Journal does not hold itself responsible for statements made by contributors. Unless so stated, material in the Journal does not necessarily reflect the views of the Editor or the Royal College of Psychiatrists.

3. Published articles become the property of the Journal and can be published elsewhere, in full or in part, only with the Editor's written permission.

4. Manuscripts accepted for publication are subject to copy-editing, and to editorial changes required for conformity with Journal style.

5. We regret that papers unsuitable for publication will not be returned.

6. General advice to authors In the assessment of manuscripts submitted to the Journal, great importance is attached to clarity and brevity of expression. Authors should read General Notes on the Preparation of Scientific Papers (3rd ed. 1974, £0.45, from The Royal Society) and/or Judith Butcher's Typescripts, Proofs and Indexes (1980, Cambridge University Press, £2.95). Spelling should follow the Concise Oxford Dictionary.

The standard of statistical work in papers submitted for publication has proved to be very variable. Authors using any statistical methods at all are strongly advised to study the paper 'Statistical guidelines for contributors to medical journals' (D. G. Altman et al., British Medical Journal, 7 May 1983, 286, 1489–1493) at the earliest possible stage in preparing their work for publication.

7. Manuscripts Two high-quality copies should be submitted and the author should retain a copy. Articles must be typed on one side of the paper only, double spaced with wide margins, and all the pages must be numbered sequentially, starting with the title page.

a. The title should be brief and to the point. If necessary, a sub-title may be used to amplify the main title. The names of the authors should appear on the title-page, and their names, degrees, affiliations and full addresses at the end of the paper.

b. A summary should be given at the beginning of the article. It should be brief and factual and not normally more than 150 words.

c. References should be listed alphabetically at the end of the paper, the titles of journals being given in full. Authors should follow Journal style for the reference list and study the examples given below. Titles of books and journals are printed in italic and should therefore be underlined on the typescript. Reference lists not in Journal style will be returned to the author for correction.

Authors should check that the text references and the reference list are in complete agreement as regards dates and spelling of names. The text reference should be in the form '(Smith, 1971)' or 'Smith (1971) showed that ...'

DURKHEIM, E. (1897) Le Suicide. Paris. Translated (1952) as Suicide: A Study in Sociology, by J. A. Spaulding & C. Simpson. London: Routledge & Kegan Paul.

KENDELL, R. E. (1974) The stability of psychiatric diagnoses. British Journal of Psychiatry, 124, 352–358.

RUTTER, M. TIZARD, J. & WHITMORE, K. (1970) Education, Health and Behaviour. London: Longman.

SCOTT, P. D. (1974) Definition, classification, prognosis and treatment. In Pathology and Treatment of Sexual Deviation (ed. I. Rosen) Oxford: Oxford University Press.

'Personal Communications' need written authorisation.

d. Symbols and abbreviations Follow Units, Symbols and Abbreviations: A Guide for Biological and Medical Editors and Authors (3rd ed. 1977), £2.00, available from the Publications Office of the Royal Society of Medicine. Terms or abbreviations which might not be understood by the average reader should be explained at first occurrence.

e. Tables and Figures Each table should be on a separate sheet, with an adequate heading; table and heading should be self-explanatory without reference to the text. The desired position of the table relative to the text should be indicated in the left margin.

Figures should be individual glossy photographs, or other camera-ready prints, not photocopies, clearly numbered and captioned below. Avoid cluttering figures with explanatory text which is better incorporated succinctly in the caption. A figure intended to occupy a single column should be drawn (or photographed) 80–110 mm wide to allow for a 2/3 reduction; a figure requiring the whole width of the page should be 180–210 mm wide. Lettering (film-set or stencil) should be 12pt sans (initial capital for the first word only) to give 8pt on the printed page. Labels on graphs should read parallel to the axes. Units must be clearly indicated and should be in brackets (note—'litre' should be spelled out in full unless modified to ml, dl, etc.).

f. Photographs Prints must be taken directly from the original b/w negative (not, for example, from a colour slide or a printed page) and should be glossy and sharply focussed. Labels, arrows, etc. should be shown on a duplicate print or overlay. Do not write anything on photographic prints, and do not use staples or paper-clips on them. These procedures apart, all the comments on figures and tables apply equally to photographs.

8. Proofs A proof will be sent to the senior author of an article. Reprints, which are prepared at the same time as the Journal, should be ordered when the proof is returned to the Editor.

9. Letters to the Editor Letters should not exceed two double-spaced typed pages. They will be edited for clarity and conformity with Journal style and may be shortened. There should be no more than five references; tables and figures cannot be used.

Tranquillisers

Social, psychological, and clinical perspectives

Edited by JONATHAN GABE, and PAUL WILLIAMS

There is a large literature on tranquilliser use but much of it is exclusively concerned with pharmacological issues. The exploration of social aspects has been relatively neglected. In recognition of the pressing need to examine tranquilliser use in a much broader perspective, this volume brings together social, psychological, and clinical viewpoints.

Mental Health Practices in Primary Care Settings

An annotated bibliography

Edited by GREG WILKINSON

This unique annotated bibliography deals with selected English and foreign language publications between 1977 and 1985. The book examines the doctor – or primary care physician – in his influential position as 'gate-keeper' between patient and the formal psychiatric community. It will prove an essential reference and research source to anyone concerned with mental health policy and practice.

Crisis, Health, and Medicine

A social critique

VICENTE NAVARRO

In an incisive analysis of the crisis within the western system of medicine, Vicente Navarro provides a critique of the current dominant interpretations of health and medicine. He convincingly shows how the social, political, and economic forces that shape the nature of western society also shape the nature, organization, and ideology of medicine.

Dangerous Behaviour, the Law, and Mental Disorder

HERSCHEL PRINS

How should dangerous and high risk offenders be managed by probation and prison officers and by social workers? Herschel Prins develops some of the issues raised in his Offenders, Deviants or Patients? in the light of some notorious cases and vociferous public concern. The book helps to show how workers and agencies can improve training and cooperation between professional disciplines in order to offer a real way forward for offenders.

The Retreat, York

for Psychiatric Illnesses

Founded in 1792 by the Quaker, William Tuke, who established the tradition of concern for patients as individuals The Retreat is a 200-bedded private registered nursing home surrounded by extensive grounds on the outskirts of the historic City of York. It is easily reached by rail and motorways.

Care and treatment is offered for all types of psychiatric illness on the short or long term in a sympathetic and friendly atmosphere. Patients suffering from neuroses, psychoses, alcoholism and dementia are treated by the full-time consultant psychiatrists in surroundings suitable for their individual needs. Outpatient facilities are available by appointment with the consultant medical staff.

The Nursing Home is a registered charity and is able to offer inclusive care in shared accommodation from £32.00 per day or in single rooms at slightly increased charge. The Nursing Home is recognised by the main private patient schemes.

THE SCIENTIFIC PRINCIPLES OF PSYCHOPATHOLOGY

Edited by
P MCGUFFIN
M SHANKS
R HODGSON

This book is aimed primarily at psychiatrists and clinical psychologists in training and will more than adequately cover their professional and examination needs regarding the scientific principles of their subject. Aspects of recent research in the biological, social and psychological sciences which are most relevant to the practising clinician are also provided in a critical, comprehensive but readable style, making this book a useful reference work for other physicians and professionals from allied disciplines.

Edited by
PETER HILL
ROBIN MURRAY
ANTHONY THORLEY

Reviews of 1st edition

"... Precision, clarity and scholarship characterise this first textbook of Psychiatry to emerge from the world renowned Maudsley in London."

– American Journal of Psychiatry

"... There are no other serious British competitors... The book under review provides the most comprehensive, balanced and up-to-date review of knowledge in psychiatry today."

– The Lancet

The second edition of this successful textbook provides extensive coverage of the richness and variety of psychiatry while at the same time integrating psychiatric research findings into a wider body of clinical knowledge. Written by individuals associated with the world renowned Maudsley Hospital Essentials of Postgraduate Psychiatry provides a more up-to-date and scientific volume than any existing psychiatric text.
