World Health Organization: Revision of the International Health Regulations, Introductory Note by Gerald Schatz

The Revised WHO Regulations set forth detailed provisions on ways of reporting information on health risks between member States, including provisions applying to international travel, transport, and shipment.

1058

European Court of Human Rights Grand Chamber: Öcalan v. Turkey

The Court affirmed the Chamber's findings that the applicant's rights under Article 5 § 3 (right to liberty and security) of the ECHR Convention had been violated. Finding the applicant's access to the case file and his representatives inadequate, the Court also pronounced a violation of Article 6 of the ECHR Convention (right to a fair trial).

1103

United Nations Committee Against Torture: Decision on Communication No. 233/2003,
Mr. Ahmed Hussein Kamil Agiza v. Sweden

The U.N. Committee against Torture concluded that Sweden breached Article 3 and 22 of the Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman and Degrading Treatment or Punishment. The Committee concluded that the procurement of diplomatic assurances, which provided no mechanism for enforcement, did not suffice to protect the applicant against the manifest risk of torture.

1129

International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda Appeals Chamber: Kajelijeli v. The Prosecutor

The Appeals Chamber stated that "concurrent conviction for individual and superior responsibility in relation to the same count based on the same facts constitutes legal error invalidating the Trial Judgment." For this reason, the Appeals Chamber vacated the Appellant's convictions insofar as they were based on a finding of the Appellant's superior responsibility.

1205

International Centre for Settlement of Investment Disputes: CMS Gas Transmission Company v. The Argentine Republic

The Tribunal held, inter alia, that Argentina failed to accord CMS Gas Transmission Company fair and equitable treatment in violation of Article II(2) of the Argentina-U.S. Bilateral Investment Treaty. The Tribunal dismissed CMS's claim for expropriation.

INTERNATIONAL LEGAL MATERIALS®

Statement of Editorial Policy

International Legal Materials is a core publication of The American Society of International Law that reproduces texts of documents reflecting the broad scope and evolution of international law. The range of covered subjects has expanded from traditional topics such as international organizations, jurisdiction, maritime law and trade to include developments in fields such as electronic commerce, environmental law, human rights and war crimes jurisprudence.

International Legal Materials serves as both a bi-monthly information service and a widely recognized archive of international law documents for a diverse, global community of legal scholars, government officials, private practitioners and institutions sharing a common interest in international law. To meet the varied demands of such a readership, documents are selected from world-wide sources on the basis of their present and future legal significance. For this reason, purely political or issue-advocacy documents are usually excluded from consideration, as are draft laws not in final form or lacking a unique, lasting character.

International Legal Materials is prepared for publication in Washington, D.C. by a staff of Editors acting with both the advice of the Editorial Advisory Committee and the assistance of Corresponding Editors around the world. In order to reproduce the texts of selected documents under tight production schedules, the best available source is used, whether electronic or printed. To best ensure the quality of electronic texts, the ILM Office staff works in conjunction with official sources to correct any apparent errors.

Guidelines for Submission of Documents

The ILM Office welcomes any effort to bring suitable documents to the Office's attention. Electronic files or web links are required for publication, although printed texts can be used for initial deliberations regarding republication.

The authenticity (i.e. official version status) of submitted documents must be easily verifiable. This is facilitated by submitting files or print versions which are clearly attributable to the original source, or by providing links to documents on the original source's official website.

If the official version of a document is not available in English, an unofficial translation is acceptable. The original text must accompany such a translation.

Introductory Notes

Introductory Notes are brief articles from one to three pages in length which are intended to provide background information for a document reproduced in ILM.

For example, an Introductory Note for a treaty might include a short history of the negotiations, the dates of signature and entry into force. An Introductory Note for legislation would give its history and international significance, while one for judicial proceedings would provide the background of the case.

Acceptance of Materials and Corrections

Print submissions cannot be returned. Translators and others submitting material will be notified of the acceptance of their document for publication.

Once a translation or Introductory Note has been accepted for reproduction, The American Society of International Law will send a publication agreement to the author.

Translators and Introductory Note Authors shall be acknowledged in International Legal Materials.

In some cases minor editorial or typographical alterations may be made without contacting the author or translator. Major corrections will be sent to the author or translator for approval. Corrected Introductory Notes or translations must be returned within the time specified.
