

The First Volume
in Religious Perspectives

The Historic Reality of Christian Culture

A Way to the Renewal of Human Life

BY CHRISTOPHER DAWSON

RELIGIOUS PERSPECTIVES, a new series edited by RUTH NANDA ANSHEN, deals with basic spiritual concerns in the light of world history and of man's relation to the universe. In the first volume in the series, the distinguished Catholic historian, teacher and thinker examines the dynamic role Christianity has played in Western civilization. Dr. Dawson concludes with a plea for a greater study of Christian tradition and for making its study a basis of liberal education. Here, he believes, lies a way to the renewal of human life. $3.00

Holy Writ or Holy Church

By GEORGE H. TAVARD

"Shall we listen to the Church or to the Bible? Father Tavard marshals materials from both Protestant and Catholic theology so skillfully and fairly that no treatment of the problem of Catholic-Protestant relations can afford to overlook his conclusions."—JAROSLAV PELIKAN

"Meticulously traces both Catholic and Protestant interpretations of Sacred Scriptures and the relationship with the idea of the Church . . . illuminating."—CARLTON J. H. HAYES. $5.00

The New Shape of American Religion

By MARTIN E. MARTY

"This book contains the sharpest, and in many ways the most profound, study of the contemporary religious situation in this country that I have come across. Dr. Marty is not content with merely summarizing, or even generalizing the material; he reinterprets it from the point of view of a living Christian faith, and so comes up with some very illuminating, often startling, conclusions about our religious life."—WILL HERBERG, author of Protestant-Catholic-Jew. $3.50

The Idea of Reform

ITS IMPACT ON CHRISTIAN THOUGHT AND ACTION IN THE AGE OF THE FATHERS

By GERHART B. LADNER. Reform, to the Church Fathers, was basically the idea of man's reformation toward his original image-likeness with God. This book describes the impact of this key idea on Christian thought and action through early Christian and medieval times. "A very remarkable piece of work . . . his command of a truly formidable array of modern scholarship inspires awe and admiration."—HERBERT BLOCH. $10.00

Edmund Burke and Ireland

By THOMAS H. D. MAHONEY. More than any statesman of his time, Edmund Burke saw the problems of Ireland clearly and sympathetically. He favored a reformed Irish Parliament, was liberal on the Catholic issue, and fought to terminate misrule. This book which examines Burke's lifelong preoccupation with Ireland provides valuable material that has never before received proper attention from biographers and historians. $7.50

Religious Education in German Schools

AN HISTORICAL APPROACH

By ERNST CHRISTIAN HEILMREICH. This detailed account of religious instruction in elementary and secondary German schools touches upon history, political science, and education, as well as religion, providing a more complete understanding of the German school system. It offers an ideal opportunity to make comparisons with the systems of other nations. $7.50

Ottoman Imperialism and German Protestantism, 1521-1555

By STEPHEN A. FISCHER-GALATI. The first systematic investigation explaining the inter-relationship between the conflicting imperialisms—Hapsburg and Ottoman—and the rise of Lutheranism in Germany. The author shows how, by diverting the attention of the Hapsburgs, the Turks contributed substantially to the recognition and development of Lutheranism. $4.00

Your Christian Heritage... Revealed in the Light of Contemporary Theology

John Wesley's Theology Today

By Colin W. Williams

This work examines the main beliefs of John Wesley—salvation, experience, original sin, repentance, atonement, new birth, church, perfection, and eschatology—to give a complete picture of Wesleyan theology. Dr. Williams gives special treatment to issues of vital contemporary interest such as the ministry and the sacraments.

This work also seeks to discover if Methodism has been given any insights which she is duty bound to share with other Christians, and if her traditions throw light on the issues that divide the churches. An extensive bibliography and an appendix of "Wesley's Doctrine of the Church and Ministry as Seen in the History of His Relation to the Church of England" are included.

As a study in evangelical Christian thought and church history, this book presents a clear statement of the beliefs that give rise to the sweeping religious revival in the 18th century. $4.50

The Gospel of Truth

TRANSLATION AND COMMENTARY

By Kendrick Grobel

This volume contains an English translation from the original Coptic of The Gospel of Truth, one of the many important documents found in 1945 in upper Egypt. Also included is an enlightening commentary that will be helpful in understanding the meaning of the text.

The once lost Egyptian manuscripts are now believed to have been written by adherents of Gnosticism—a philosophico-religious movement which flourished and which was denounced as blasphemous by the Church in early Christian times. The Gospel of Truth is not a record of the life and teachings of Jesus like the New Testament gospels, but it is a meditation on the good news of salvation which Christ brought and is. $4

“Homey, philosophical, anecdotal, informative, inspirational.”—Hugh Wemble, Professor of Church History, Baptist Sunday School Board.

This fast-moving, entertaining story of the development of the church and the life of the people in colonial America is taken from the journals of Henry Melchior Muhlenberg.

NOTEBOOK of a Colonial Clergyman

By Henry Melchior Muhlenberg

“Muhlenberg’s religion embraced all of life,” Professor Wemble goes on to say, “In his day-to-day journal he recorded not only his own ecclesiastical activities, but also observations and reflections on society, politics, war, religious diversity, etc. Through it the early history and basic character of American Lutheranism can be interestingly traced.”
