Good Reasoning Matters!

A Constructive Approach to Critical Thinking

J. FREDERICK LITTLE, LEO A. GROARKE, and
CHRISTOPHER W. TINDALE

The ability to think clearly and critically, and to speak out with logical precision on those matters of concern to us, is of extreme importance in our complex world. As the authors demonstrate, good reasoning matters!

This innovative text on critical thinking not only examines the structure of logical argument, it also guides readers in the construction of good arguments. In developing this new approach, the authors

- focus the readers' attention on creating their own arguments rather than simply critiquing those of others;
- stress the importance of knowing the audience;
- specify criteria for good arguments of the kinds most frequently encountered in everyday discourse, enabling the reader to see what is wrong in bad arguments;
- show that some argument forms, usually written off as fallacious - such as two-wrongs reasoning, slippery slope arguments, and ad hominem - can be quite legitimate.

MANUSCRIPT LECTURES

WILLIAM JAMES

INTRODUCTION BY IGNAS K. SKRUPSKELIS

This final volume of The Works of William James provides a full record of James's teaching career at Harvard from 1872 to 1907. It includes extensive working notes for lectures in more than twenty courses. Some of the notes contain summary statements of James's views that have never been published before; others reflect contemporary controversies in philosophy; still others illuminate early stages of James's thinking on crucial problems in what was to become his philosophy of radical empiricism.

Ethics

Since 1890, a resource of contemporary, interdisciplinary perspectives

Ethics is devoted to the study of the ideas and principles that form the basis for individual and collective action. Contributors examine and debate the full scope of ethical issues in moral philosophy, political theory, public policy, jurisprudence, and the social sciences.

Publishing about 1,000 pages each volume, Ethics presents about 30% more material than many other philosophical journals, and has the largest circulation of scholarly journals in social philosophy.

Ethics' international editorial board consists of scholars from all relevant disciplines: psychology, theology, anthropology, social choice theory, philosophy, political science, and law. Together they provide you with the interdisciplinary exposure and synthesis of knowledge so necessary to your work.

Ethics frequently publishes symposia and special issues, which bring concentrated attention to subjects of particular interest. Count on Ethics to engage you in today's significant intellectual controversies.

Ethics reviews more books than any other journal in the field, bringing you incisive coverage of about 200 new publications in each volume. Choose the next additions to your collection from Ethics' complete source.

Feminist Perspectives

PHILOSOPHICAL ESSAYS
ON METHOD AND MORALS

Lorraine Code, Sheila Mullett,

The essays in this collection demonstrate that feminist enquiry gives rise to questions about the most fundamental methodological assumptions of philosophy, and requires a recasting of most of the terms and issues central to moral philosophy.

THE AGE OF THEATRE IN FRANCE

L'AGE DU THEATRE EN FRANCE

Edited by David Trott and Nicole Boursier, with an afterword by Anne Ubersfeld

A bi-lingual collection of original essays, by an international group of scholars, on dramatic literature and performance from Corneille to Beaumarchais. This volume is centred on the concept of "theatre" in its totality. Emphasis on a theatricality beyond the written text has made relevant neighbour arts to literature - scenic decoration, theatre architecture, dance, music and mime.

POWER, GENDER, VALUES

Edited with an Introduction by Judith Genova

A volume of original essays. In its own way, each essay attacks the myth of 'raw power.' Power is sexed; power in the history of the West has been harnessed male. The essays in this volume challenge values that tell women how to speak and write, how to conceive of women's power. Their sub-text is the question, What if power were sexed female? Authors discussed include modern French feminists as well as Shakespeare and the Romantic poets.

WITTGENSTEIN ELEGIES

Jan Zwicky

These meditations on texts of Wittgenstein and Trakl undermine the idea that poetry is merely emotive, and thus has no part to play in philosophical debate. The poems ask us to approach Wittgenstein's work from a new perspective; to read his writings in the right spirit, in the spirit in which they were written, they suggest, is to read his writings as poetry.

The book has four sections: Practical Philosophy, Social-Political Critique, Moral Reflection and Legal Deliberation.

LEGAL THEORY MEETS LEGAL PRACTICE

Edited by Anne F. Bayefsky, with an Introduction by Allen M. Linden

ETHICS AND JUSTIFICATION

Edited with an Introduction by Douglas Odegard

Theories of justification for ethical decisions abound, each rejecting the others' claims and promoting their own. It is even controversial whether such theories are possible, or indeed whether they are necessary. The contributors to this volume explore these issues in the attempt to find common, and therefore reliable, ground.

JUSTICE, LAW AND METHOD IN PLATO AND ARISTOTLE

Edited with an Introduction by Spiro Panagiotou

A volume of essays, treating ancient views sympathetically but critically from modern points of view. All are of interest to legal and moral philosophers as well as to classical specialists: they discuss obedience to law in Plato's Crilo, the arguments of Glaucon and Adeimantus in the Republic, justice and method in the Statesman, and the topics of Corrective Justice and of Equity in Aristotle.

Edited with an Introduction by Judith Genova

A volume of original essays. In its own way, each essay attacks the myth of 'raw power.' Power is sexed; power in the history of the West has been harnessed male. The essays in this volume challenge values that tell women how to speak and write, how to conceive of women's power. Their sub-text is the question, What if power were sexed female? Authors discussed include modern French feminists as well as Shakespeare and the Romantic poets.
