The Social and Educational Thought of Harold Rugg

PETER F. CARBONE, JR.

The first full-length study of the influential and controversial social reconstructionist. Carbone discusses Rugg's work from a philosophical perspective and evaluates the usefulness of Rugg's ideas for present-day education. $10.75

The Creativity Question

ALBERT ROTHENBERG and
CARL R. HAUSMAN, editors

"With better scholarship and a wider purview than any other book on the subject, this book of readings deserves unreserved critical acclaim. The editors have marshalled about thirty uniquely interdisciplinary contributions. Nothing is missed, and the reader cannot escape being as edified as the reviewer. The book is a tour-de-force." John Curtis Gowan, The Gifted Child Quarterly paper, $7.95; cloth, $14.75

The Rise of American Philosophy

Cambridge, Massachusetts, 1860–1930

Bruce Kuklick

“Writing with jargon-free clarity and humanizing his subject by noting the role of individual ‘temperament’ in the five great American philosophers who flourished at Harvard from the late 19th century to around 1930, Kuklick devotes his 720-page book to the story of Harvard’s emergence, especially under the rejuvenating rule of Charles William Eliot in the 1880s, as the ‘home’ of Peirce, James, Royce, Santayana and Whitehead, to name only the ‘classical’ five. On one level this is a lucid tracing of the birth of idealistic pragmatism as a distinctly American response to the challenge of Darwinism, and on another level it is a superbly told chronicle of a great university’s historic contribution to the world’s body of thought.”—Publishers Weekly Illus. $17.95

Caught in the Web of Words

James A. H. Murray and the “Oxford English Dictionary”

K. M. Elisabeth Murray

with a preface by R. W. Burchfield

The fascinating biography of the first editor of the Oxford English Dictionary. Based on a wealth of original documents, it is a unique account of how the Dictionary was compiled, the problems the editor had to solve, and the endless difficulties that nearly led to the whole enterprise being abandoned. Illus. $15.00
