BABETTE MAY LEVY

PREACHING IN THE FIRST HALF CENTURY
OF NEW ENGLAND HISTORY

The author undertakes an exhaustive investigation of the preaching of the leading New England divines of the first half of the seventeenth century—men like John Cotton, Thomas Hooker, Charles Chauncy, Richard Mather, Thomas Shepard, and many others—and arrives at a judicious estimate of the prevailing opinion expressed in this literature. The topics treated comprise the background and preparation of the preachers, the doctrine expounded, the practical concerns dealt with, and the form and style of the sermons. She achieves a fresh and original treatment of the theme in a style which makes her study as delightful as it is informative and instructive.

Bound in buckram, 6½ x 9¾, vii-214 pages. Regular retail price $3.00; if ordered directly from the publishers, $2.00.
