ANNOUNCEMENT

The Western Tax Association, together with Washington State University, announces its new refereed journal, the Western Tax Review. The Review will deal with all aspects of public finance, but especially with major questions of public policy. Initially, it will appear once a year. To submit a paper, send three copies (not the original) to:

Professor Reed R. Hansen, Editor
Western Tax Review
College of Economics and Business
Washington State University
Pullman, Washington 99163
(509) 335-4471/6651

To permit anonymous refereeing, authors' names and affiliations should appear only on the cover sheet. The submission fee is $30 for nonmembers and $20 for members of the association, half of which will be refunded for papers not accepted. Rejected papers will not be returned, but reasons for rejections will be sent to authors. Although draft typescripts will be considered in any form, papers accepted for publication must be typed "camera ready," according to detailed instructions available from the editor.

Copies of the Review's first (June 1979) issue are available to new Western Tax Association members for an additional $10, and to nonmembers and libraries for $15, from the editor.

The Association's Third Annual Conference on Public Finance will be held on Thursday, June 19, 1980, at the San Diego Hilton on Mission Bay, in San Diego, California. For information contact:

R. Bruce Billings, President
Western Tax Association
Department of Economics
Building 23
University of Arizona
Tucson, Arizona 85721
(602) 626-4436/1675

Abstracts of papers proposed for presentation at the conference should be sent in two copies as soon as possible (March 15 deadline) to the program chairman:

Professor Wm. Craig Stubblebine, Vice-President
Western Tax Association
Department of Economics
Bauer Center
Claremont Men's College
Claremont, California 91711
(714) 621-8012

Western Tax Association membership for calendar 1980 costs $20, which includes a subscription to the Review, and registration at the Annual Conference. The conference luncheon is $6.25 in addition to the registration - membership fee. Membership applications may be sent along with paper or abstract submissions or sent to:

Roger Nils Folsom, Secretary-Treasurer
Western Tax Association
Department of Economics
San Jose State University
San Jose, California 95192
(408) 277-2684/2758

Forthcoming issues of the Western Tax Review will include many papers presented at the Association's Second Annual Conference held June 16, 1979, in Reno, Nevada. The Review's first issue (June 1979) includes papers from the Association's First Annual Conference, held June 17, 1978, in San Francisco, California. These conferences discussed budget deficits and public debt burdens; tax burdens and tax incidence; natural resource taxation; tax administration; federal excise, corporate, and personal income taxation; state and local taxation of multi-state firms; intergovernmental fiscal relationships and grants-in-aid; land value taxation and other property tax issues; school finance reforms; and--of course--"taxpayer revolts" and California's Proposition Thirteen.
