Basic Documents

Philip Kunig (Freie University, Berlin, West Germany),
Niels Lau (University of Hamburg, West Germany), and Werner Meng
(Max-Planck-Institute, Heidelberg, West Germany), editors

1989. xvi + 691 pages. ISBN 0-89925-379-2. Cloth $139.00

This collection contains international treaties as well as other substantive regulations of the international economy. The material is arranged in two main sections, the first of which deals with institutions and co-operation, the second contains the most prominent examples of how substantive regulation of the international economy has been achieved. The volume gives an overview of the means of co-operation developed by states in order to find common and appropriate solutions for the increasingly complex and challenging problems of international economic exchange. The focus here is on international organizations which are the core of an international system of economic co-operation. The most conspicuous examples of regional co-operation are included. International trade is represented by GATT and selected agreements and decisions of the Tokyo and Uruguay Rounds. Further Documents relate to transborder activities of corporations, anti-trust law, and international transport.

The collection is oriented towards decision-makers on the international and national levels. The needs of those who are interested in the world economy from an academic point of view are taken into account. The selection takes a universal, not a national or regional, perspective.

TERRORISM AND HOSTAGES IN INTERNATIONAL LAW – A COMMENTARY ON THE HOSTAGES CONVENTION 1979

Joseph J. Lambert

This book provides an in-depth commentary on the Hostages Convention and, to a lesser extent, the seven other agreements dealing with offences related to terrorism.

The first part examines the general background to the Hostages Convention, the growth in the phenomenon of international terrorism and the various efforts of the world community to deal with it.

The second and largest part of the book is an entirely new and comprehensive article-by-article commentary on the Hostages Convention itself. Drawing principally upon the preparatory work of this Convention and the other anti-terrorism conventions, the author analyzes in detail each provision of the Convention as well as its efficacy as a whole in the fight against terrorism.

Among the legal issues examined in relation to international terrorism are extradition, asylum, mutual assistance in criminal matters, State responsibility, international efforts to prevent terrorism, the establishment of extra-territorial jurisdiction, the principle of non-refoulement, the relationship between terrorism and the laws of armed conflict, and the use of force in response to terrorism.

The author:

Dr Lambert is a member of the New York and Massachusetts bars. After graduating from law school in the United States, the author specialized in international law at Cambridge University where he obtained the LL.M. and Ph.D. degrees. He was a Research Scholar of the University of Cambridge Research Centre for International Law, 1985–1988. Dr Lambert is now associated with the New York law firm of Dewey, Ballantine, Bushby, Palmer & Wood.

New for 1990!

INTERNATIONAL LAW AND THE CANADIAN COURTS

by Edward M. Morgan

This publication was prepared for law practitioners with international clients. It provides a clear and deep understanding of how Canadian courts deal with international law matters.

The author explores the often contradictory nature of the case law. He seeks to expose the underlying principles which guide the domestic courts when confronted with questions of international law.

The work covers four distinct fields of Canadian substantive and jurisdictional law:

- Sovereign Immunity
- Criminal Jurisdictions
- Alien's Rights
- Taxation Powers

Plus a detailed analysis of the case law and statutory provisions in each of these four areas.

UNCITRAL ARBITRATION MODEL IN CANADA

edited by Robert K. Paterson & Bonita J. Thompson, Q.C.

World experts analyze the state of international arbitration in this collection of papers presented for the British Columbia International Arbitration Centre.

The variety of contributors, ranging from academic experts to arbitration practitioners from several countries, provides an interesting diversity of perspectives and practical information. American practitioners will find the practical aspects useful in the wake of the Free Trade Agreement with Canada.

The book is divided into three parts:

Part I — Examines the various methods of solving trans-national disputes.

Part II — Describes the arbitration laws and policies of key Pacific Rim countries.

Part III — Focuses on the developing Canadian profile in the field, and in particular, on the landmark British Columbia legislation — its development, implementation, scope and design.

Plus! — 8 appendices providing the text of all the legislation discussed throughout the work.
