

HEFFER'S of CAMBRIDGE

are glad to buy

BOOKS ON HISTORY AND ECONOMICS

for example:

Clapham, Economic History of Modern Britain, 3 vols. Petty, Economic Writings, 2 vols. Edgeworth, Collected Papers, 3 vols. Clapham, Bank of England, 2 vols. Rostovzeff, History of the Ancient World, 2 vols. Felling, English Foreign Policy, 1660-1672. Foxcroft, George Saville, 2 vols. Ballard, The English Borough. Pollard, The Domesday Boroughs. Orwin, The Open Field System. Gray, English Field System. Hammond, The Town Labourer. Hammond, The Village Labourer. Hammond, The Skilled Labourer. Pollard's

Wolsey. Political History of England, 12 vols. Porritt, Unreformed House of Commons. Maitland, Collected Papers, 3 vols. Maitland, Domesday Book and Beyond. Cambridge Ancient, Mediaeval and Modern Histories, sets or odd volumes. Poole's Historical Atlas. Victoria County Histories (any vols.). English Historical Review, set. English Historical Society, 29 vols. Fox-Davies, Art of Heraldry. Rolls Series, complete set. Paetow, Guide to Medieval History.

W. HEFFER & SONS LIMITED
CAMBRIDGE

HISTORY

The Journal of the Historical Association

EDITOR: PROFESSOR R. F. TREHARNE, M.A., PH.D.

Double Number, Nos. 123 and 124. February-June, 1950. New Series. 6s. net

CONTENTS

- |   |                                     |
|---|-------------------------------------|
| Sovereignty in the Present World  | Professor C. H. McIlwain     |
| A Note on the Norse Occupation of Ireland                                       | Jan I. Young                 |
| The Opening Phase of Marlborough's Campaign of 1708 in the Netherlands          | A. J. Veenendaal             |
| Eighteenth Century Scottish Agricultural Writings                               | G. E. Fussell &amp; H. Fyrth |
| The Parlements of France in the Eighteenth Century                              | A. B. Cobban                 |
| The System of Registration and the Development of Party Organisation, 1832-1870 | J. A. Thomas                 |
| Two Experiments in the Teaching of History                                      | Gladys Mitchell              |

Notes and News, Correspondence, Reviews, Short Notices, School Text-Books.

LONDON: GEORGE PHILIP & SON, LIMITED
32 FLEET STREET, E.C. 4

REGINALD POLE
CARDINAL OF ENGLAND
W. SCHENK

'A work of art as well as a competent study of one of the most enigmatic and fascinating English figures of the time with which it deals.'—Oxford Magazine.

'A distinguished and deeply sympathetic study.'—Spectator.
Recommended by the Book Society. 15s. net

QUAKER SOCIAL HISTORY, 1669–1738
ARNOLD LLOYD

With an Introduction by Professor Herbert G. Wood

'We all know, more or less, how the Society of Friends began and survived and grew. Yet the stock explanation for its solidity and persistence is not wholly satisfactory. Dr Lloyd, in a full and careful study of early Quaker organisation, has laid bare the solid architecture of its first foundations.

'As a social history of the Quakers this book is invaluable. Apart from the revision of accepted history that it offers, it is welcome because it emphasises once again those elements in the Quaker struggle against persecution which are of permanent religious and political significance.' C. V. WEDGWOOD in Time and Tide. 21s. net

A WEST-INDIA FORTUNE
RICHARD PARES

The Pinneys were a West country family who started plantations in the West Indies and ran a successful and flourishing business in England and the West Indies for two centuries. In telling their story the author gives a fascinating account of plantation life on the island of Nevis, combined with a study of the growth of a great general merchant house in Bristol during the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries. Ready October; 21s. net

LONGMANS
6 & 7 CLIFFORD STREET, LONDON, W.1