

A LEGACY OF LEARNING
A History of Western Education
Edward J. Power

A Legacy of Learning examines the principal periods in the history of European and American education, beginning in ancient Greece and ending in twentieth-century America. It is a superior textbook for courses in the history of western education, tightly organized to cover the territory while developing a strong central theme addressing the continuities of western educational experience. Special attention is given to philosophies of knowledge, the content of instruction, cultural evolution, and educational policy.

The history of education can be construed so broadly as to be unmanageable. Power's thoughtful organization and clear storytelling prose delineates and brings to life the watershed epochs in educational history.

The Idea of the University—A Reexamination

Jaroslav Pelikan

In this eloquent and deeply personal book, an eminent scholar reflects on the character and aims of the university, reexamining it in light of the thoughts expressed in John Henry Cardinal Newman's 150-year old classic The Idea of a University.

"Wisdom...expounded with the grace that flows from a cultivated as well as a learned mind."—Noel Annan, The New York Times Book Review

What Johnny Shouldn't Read

Textbook Censorship in America

Joan DelFattore

Joan DelFattore shows that political and economic forces of the right and left have heavy and often pernicious influence on American textbook publishers.

"A monumental contribution to education in an alarming period of attempts nationwide to remove all kinds of materials from the public schools through intimidation or litigation."—Edward B. Jenkinson

Politics by Other Means

Higher Education and Group Thinking

David Bromwich

This book is an impassioned critique of recent efforts by ideologues of the left and right to educate students through indoctrination—and an eloquent plea for a return to the teaching of independent thinking.

"A powerful and revelatory book, continuously stimulating, resourceful, and written in a style that is at once noble and accessible."—George Kateb $30.00

Tsuda Umeko and Women's Education in Japan

Barbara Rose

This compelling biography tells the story of Tsuda Umeko, an American-educated Japanese woman who founded the first institution of higher education for women in Japan.

"It has something new to say to readers in Japanese studies, women's studies, and education."—Joseph Tobin Illus. $25.00

CALL FOR PAPERS

Special Issue

The History of Women and Education

Editorial Board for this Issue:

Joan Burstyn, Lynn Gordon, Linda Perkins, Sally Schwager

In 1993 the History of Education Quarterly will publish a special issue on the history of women and education. We seek manuscripts addressing all aspects of this topic. We are particularly interested in work with a comparative perspective (e.g., American and European), with a focus on minority women and/or women of color, focusing on teachers, dealing with women and educational leadership, and looking at women and education outside of such traditional settings as schools and colleges. Please submit manuscripts by December 1992 to the Editor, History of Education Quarterly, School of Education, Room 4274, Indiana University, Bloomington, IN 47405.

Please note: Manuscripts should be prepared according to Style A of The Chicago Manual of Style (13th ed.), double spaced, limited to twenty-five pages exclusive of notes, and submitted in duplicate. Notes should be double spaced and placed at the end of the article.

To Our Contributors

Format for submissions:

1. All copy should be typed double-spaced, including between and within footnotes. Allow approximately a one-inch margin on all four sides of the page.
2. Preferred article length is 25 pages, exclusive of footnotes.
3. Authors should use a type size that is no smaller than elite type.
4. Two copies of the manuscript should be submitted on white paper, addressed to the History of Education Quarterly, School of Education, Indiana University, Bloomington, IN 47405. Manuscripts are not returned unless article is accompanied by self-addressed envelope with sufficient postage.
5. Footnotes should be listed in a separate section at the end of the articles. The following format should be used for references:
