

Hausaland Divided

Colonialism and Independence in Nigeria and Niger

WILLIAM F. S. MILES

Miles focuses on the Hausa-speaking people of West Africa whose land is still split by an arbitrary boundary established by Britain and France at the turn of the century.

"Hausaland Divided represents the highest standards of scholarship—a fabulous contribution to African studies."

—David Laitin, University of Chicago. "The perspective of Miles's book is one of an 'insider.' . . . His policy-oriented analysis makes his work more manifestly relevant to current discussions of topical issues of regional integration."—A. I. Asiwaju, University of Lagos, Nigeria. $49.95

Dismantling Apartheid

A South African Town in Transition

WALTON R. JOHNSON

As a result of Pretoria's 1976 imposition of independence on the "black homeland" of Transkei, its capital city, Umtata, became one of the first communities in South Africa to experience fundamental change in apartheid. This timely book discusses those relationships that remained unchanged, as well as the important race and class realignments that accompanied apartheid's dismantling. $39.95 cloth, $16.95 paper

Adjusting to Policy Failure in African Economies

EDITED BY
DAVID E. SAHN

Sixteen specialists examine the external and domestic factors that precipitated Africa's economic crisis and the nature and consequences of the process of reform. Case studies include Ghana, Guinea, Zaire, Cameroon, Niger, Malawi, Mozambique, Tanzania, Gambia, and Madagascar. $49.95 cloth, $19.95 paper

Conor

A Biography of Conor Cruise O'Brien

DONALD
HARMAN AKENSON

For the first biography of this man of letters, diplomat, and scholar, the author had unrestricted access to O'Brien's personal papers. After rising to international prominence during the Belgian Congo crisis, O'Brien wrote To Katanga and Back (1962), a classic in modern African history. He then became Vice Chancellor of the University of Ghana and waged a battle for academic freedom against one of the most amiable of tyrants, Kwame Nkrumah. "A very fine biography, full of wit, verve, candor, and a critical appreciation of its subject."—Kirkus Reviews. $35.00

The African Colonial State in Comparative Perspective

Crawford Young

In this comprehensive and original study, a distinguished specialist and scholar of African affairs traces the history of colonization in Africa. Proposing a new conception of the state, Young considers a wide range of African countries and compares them to other areas of the once-colonized world, and he argues that the current crisis in African development can be traced directly to European colonial rule.

"This is a superb book, likely to be seen as one of the few absolutely essential works on African politics."—William J. Foltz $40.00

Manufacturing Apartheid

State Corporations in South Africa

Nancy L. Clark

In the early decades of the twentieth century, the South African government created state-owned corporations to develop a stable industrial base for white rule. Clark here examines the formation and evolution of these companies and the role they might now play in reshaping the country's battered economy and in better reflecting the changing realities of a new society. 10 illus. $35.00

Reinventing Africa

Museums, Material Culture, and Popular Imagination in Late Victorian and Edwardian England

Annie E. Coombes

Between 1890 and 1918, British colonial expansion in Africa led to the removal of many valuable African artifacts that were subsequently brought to Britain and displayed. This book analyzes the different and sometimes conflicting representations of African peoples and their material culture in Britain at this time. 56 illus. $45.00

Murder and Politics in Colonial Ghana

Richard Rathbone

This fascinating book tells the story of ritual murder in a kingdom of Ghana, the trials and appeals of those accused of the crime, and the radicalization of the black lawyers who confronted the colonial justice system and later began a struggle for self-government that led to Ghanaian independence from Britain in 1957.

"A superb book with an effective analysis of the issues—legal, social, political, and cultural. I recommend it as an example of historical paradox and as a good crime story."—Natalie Zemon Davis 10 illus. $35.00
